TELL DETAILS OF COAL DEAL BY ARCHBALD

Commerce Judge Accused of Using Influence with Erie Road.

HITCH IN CULM SALE

Laurel Line Official Says Jurist Did Nothing Which Was Illegal.

CONGRESS MAY TAKE ACTION

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Scranton, Pa., April 22.—[Special.]—How Judge Robert W. Archbald of the United States Court of Commerce negotiated personally an extremely profitable coal deal with railroads subject to the jurisdiction of his court was told today in a series of statements made by persons involved in the transaction.

Judge Archbald is described in one statement as using his influence with George F. Brownell, vice president and general manager of the Erie railroad company, to induce that company to sell its interest in the culm banks of the Katydid colliery at Moosic, Pa.

In the proposed purchase of these refuse banks of coal Judge Archbald was associated with Edward J. Williams, a coal broker and promoter. They were to have paid the Erie railroad company about $3,600 for its interest.

According to Williams, there was a hitch in the negotiations for the purchase of culm banks from the Erie, Capt. W. A. May, general manager of the Erie railroad coal properties, refusing to sell on the terms named by Williams. Then Williams told Archbald of the obstacle he had encountered.

According to Williams, Judge Archbald replied: "I'll see Brownell." After Archbald had seen Brownell, the Erie railroad agreed to sell the culm banks and the deal was concluded.

Alleges Deal with Conn.

In another statement Judge Archbald is represented as negotiating personally with Charles F. Conn for the sale of these culm banks to the Lackawanna and Wyoming Valley railroad company, of which Mr. Conn is the vice president and general manager.

Mr. Conn says these negotiations were conducted between himself and Judge Archbald both orally and in writing, and that the correspondence is still in existence and in the possession of the Lackawanna and Wyoming Valley railroad, commonly known as the "Laurel line."

Vice President Conn finally agreed to pay 27½ cents a ton for the coal, a price which Williams figured would have been equal to a total of $35,000 for the property. He says that he and Archbald were to have divided the profits of about $30,000 equally.

Hitch in the Negotiations.

The deal has not been put through because the attorneys for the "Laurel lines" were not satisfied that Archbald and Williams were in a position to give a clear title to the culm.

Williams insists he has a clear title and that the purchase and sale will be made eventually. Mr. Conn is still willing to pay the price agreed upon if Archbald and Williams can establish a clear title to the property.

In the midst of all these allegations Judge Archbald is preserving absolute silence. He neither affirms nor denies the truth of the charges that he used his official influence in negotiating the deal.

Judge Shows No Surprise.

The judge was at work in his office in the federal building here when THE TRIBUNE correspondent called. He glanced up from the correction of a voluminous Commerce court opinion to meet this visitor. Mr. Archbald said he had heard nothing of the publication of the culm bank story, although a part of THE TRIBUNE'S account appeared in a Philadelphia newspaper this morning.

He evinced no surprise or curiosity at mention of the matter, but when offered a copy of the Philadelphia paper he took it and hurriedly scanned the article.

"No, I have nothing to say about this," he remarked as he returned the paper. "I shall say absolutely nothing about it."

"Were you aware that an investigation of the matter was being conducted by the department of justice?" he was asked.

"I would not care to say anything about that," was his reply.

Knew Williams Many Years.

"Who is Mr. Williams, who is named as your representative and associate in the purchase and sale of the culm banks?"

"I suppose Mr. Edward J. Williams is meant," he replied. "I have known him for about twenty-five years. He used to be a mine foreman."

"Is it true that you had some negotiations for these culm banks with General Counsel Brownell of the Erie and that you drew up an agreement on the Court of Commerce stationery in which you and Williams were named as parties to the deal?"

"Really, I must decline to discuss the matter in any way," the judge reiterated.

Attorney General Wickersham personally examined Mr. Williams in regard to the negotiations. Mr. Williams was summoned to Washington and questioned in great detail by Mr. Wickersham.

"The attorney general wanted to know all about the deal," said Mr. Williams today. "At one time he stopped his questioning and

GIRL OF 17 YEARS MISSING; WORE VALUABLE JEWELRY.

Police Asked to Search for Miss Catherine Schilling, Who Disappeared Sunday Night.

Adolph Schilling, 3142 North Kimball avenue, a butcher, asked the police last night to aid him search for his daughter, Catherine Schilling, 17 years old, who disappeared Sunday night after visiting a girl friend. She wore valuable jewelry.

Schilling, who has a place of business at 3124 North California avenue, told the police he fears that some harm has befallen his daughter. She was last seen boarding a north bound Halsted street car at Center avenue.

Her mother, an invalid, is in a serious condition at her home through worry. Following is a description of the girl:

Seventeen years old, 5 feet 3 inches tall, light brown hair and eyes; wore a white straw "basket" hat trimmed with blue flowers and blue ribbons; a white chiffon dress with a blue slip, a long black coat and black shoes.

Miss Schilling also had a gold watch, three rings, and a heavy gold bracelet.

FLOWERS ON SEA TO HONOR HEROES

Oriental Consistory of Chicago Sends Floral Tribute to Mark Titanic's Dead.

SHIPLOAD OF BLOSSOMS.

Fifteen hundred members of Oriental consistory were assembled at Medinah temple, Walton place and Dearborn avenue, last night when a peculiar proposition was put before the order by Charles D. Warner of Oak Park.

"It is proposed," said Mr. Warner, "that the members of this consistory unite in procuring the most beautiful floral tribute that Chicago might furnish in memory of the dead on the steamship Titanic."

Would Drop Flowers in Sea.

"Arrangements have been made, if this idea be concurred in, to ship this floral offering to New York. It will then be given into the hands of the officers of the White Star line to be taken on ship and dropped in the sea as near as possible to the place where the heroes of the Titanic have found a grave."

The question was put.

Each one of the 1,500 members of the consistory arose to his feet and acquiesced with bowed head.

The wreath will be forwarded today. It is believed all Masonic consistories in the United States—in fact, in the world—will unite in this tribute, literally transporting a shipload of flowers to be cast into the sea.

Many Masons Lost.

"How many members of the Masonic order were lost in the Titanic disaster?" Mr. Warner was asked last night.

"I do not know," he said. "No definite number has been compiled. There is little doubt, however, that there were a large number of them. However, this act is not done by Masons for brother Masons. It is simply a tribute of Oriental consistory to manhood.

"The wreath is gigantic—at least forty-eight inches in diameter. It bears the inscription, "At Rest—Titanic."

Oriental consistory has 14,000 members in Chicago. Mr. Warner is master of Lodge of Perfection.

FUGITIVE SINCE 1908 SEIZED; SKIPPED BAIL AT MEMPHIS.

Archibald K. Purdy, Bookkeeper for Insurance Company, Arrested—Fled After Alleged Shortage in Accounts.

Archibald K. Purdy, a bookkeeper employed by the Federal Union Insurance company, 175 West Jackson boulevard, was arrested yesterday for bond forfeiture at Memphis, Tenn., in 1908. Purdy was bookkeeper and cashier of a Memphis paint company. A shortage of $500 was found in his accounts and he was arrested. He was released on bonds, which he forfeited.

Soon after leaving Memphis he was joined by his wife. They have a daughter 7 years old. During the four years that he has been a fugitive Purdy has not remained in one city longer than six months.

"Money obtained by means of forged checks is like getting it from home, but when the police catch you it makes a fellow wish he had been on the square."

Thus soliloquized Robert H. Milstead in a cell at the South Clark street police station last night. He was arrested for passing bogus checks. Hotels, department stores, confectioners, florists, jewelers, photographers, cigar dealers, and taxicab companies are among his victims.

The prisoner is 28 years old. He claims to be a son of Theodore Milstead, who, he says, is a director of the Mutual Life Insurance company of New York, with an income of $50,000 a year.

NEW RAIL STRIKE THREAT AS CRISIS IN EAST IS HALTED

Western and Southern Trainmen's Federation Wires Taft; Engineers Pause.

KNAPP AND NEILL INTERCEDE

Point Out Grave Situation Exists and Offer "Friendly Offices" for Settlement of Trouble.

MAGNATES TO CONSIDER PROPOSAL

BULLETIN.

Kansas City, Mo., April 23, 2 a. m.—Declaring that unless the trouble of the railway carmen, who have been on a strike on western railroads [mainly the Illinois Central] for several months, is mediated, a strike of more than 300,000 men employed on all western railroads will be called, the officers of the Federation of Railway Men's Unions late last night sent a telegram to President Taft advising him of their intentions. The message was signed by the presidents of twelve railway men's unions.

The strike, if called, would affect forty-seven railroads west and south of Chicago. The message says that the federation has made preparations to extend the strike, which has not been successful, on the Harriman lines and the Illinois Central railway to all other western lines, and points out that this will cause much delay in moving traffic and the mails.

Unless a favorable reply is received from the president, action will be taken at once, the officials of the federation say.

U. S. OFFICIALS TO MEDIATE?

New York, April 23.—The tender of the "friendly offices" of representatives of the federal government called at least a temporary halt tonight to a strike of railroad engineers in all the territory east of Chicago and north of the Potomac river, in which it is estimated 52 per cent of the railway traffic of the entire country is handled.

The mediation of federal officials came immediately after the refusal of the managers of fifty railroads concerned to concede the engineers' demands for an 18 per cent increase in wages, when Chief Warren S. Stone of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers had announced that in view of this refusal a strike of engineers would go into effect within thirty-six hours.

Knowing the situation had reached a critical stage, Martin A. Knapp, presiding justice of the United States Commerce court, and Charles P. Neill, United States commissioner of labor, hurried here from Washington. As soon as the decisive break occurred they addressed a letter to both Chief Stone and to J. C. Stuart, chairman of the conference committee of railroad managers.

Offer "Friendly Offices."

Following is the text of the letter:

Dear Sir: We understand that negotiations between the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and the managers' committee of the eastern railroads have been definitely broken off, and that the engineers are likely to withdraw forthwith from the service.

If this is unfortunately the fact it is evident that a grave situation has arisen which threatens most serious consequences to the public. In this emergency we are impelled by the sense of duty to tender our friendly offices to the contending parties, in the hope that some means may be found to adjust the matters in dispute without the calamity of a general strike.

We are sending an identical letter to Mr. J. C. Stuart, chairman of the committee of railroad managers.

MARTIN A. KNAPP,
CHARLES P. NEILL,

Stone Listens to Reason.

Although Chief Stone had a few minutes before declared that his fifty associates on the engineers' committee would proceed tonight to their headquarters to prepare for a strike within thirty-six hours, he was impressed with the letter to the extent that he amended the order, declaring the committee would remain intact here tonight to consider the situation.

He said: "No organization is so strong it can fail to harken to an appeal from representatives of the federal government," and declared he would place the proposition before the engineers' committee with the recommendation that it be accepted."

Chairman Stuart of the railroad committee received an identical letter from Messrs. Knapp and Neill, but would not comment on what position the railroads would take. He immediately ordered a meeting of the committee for tomorrow to consider the proposal.

In this manner the crisis rested tonight, still regarded by many observers as critical, but by others as promising some sort of adjustment.

EIGHT ROADS HERE INVOLVED.

Eight railroads involved in a possible strike of the engineers enter Chicago from the east. They are:

Erie.	Pere Marquette.
Wabash.	Michigan Central.
Nickel Plate.	New York Central.
Pennsylvania.	Baltimore and Ohio.

"How would the strike affect Chicago in the event one is called?" was asked of

MOORS IN MUTINY MURDER AND BURN

Crazed Mob Parades Streets of Fez with Heads of Jew and French Victims on Pikes.

MANY WOMEN IN CROWD.

Push Unprotected from Housetops to Ground and Turbaned Men Slash Regardless of Age or Sex.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

TANGIER, April 22.—The record of events since April 17 when the mutiny of native troops at Fez began is now fairly complete.

The total French losses were sixty-eight, including officers and men killed in suppressing the uprising. Nine were massacred in cold blood. Four of the wireless operators maintained a four hours' fight against overwhelming numbers until they were overpowered and killed. Their bodies were mutilated and burned. The Jewish victims numbered fifty to one hundred.

After the first French officer was killed the mutineers ran through the streets carrying his head on a pike. The murder of other officers and non-coms followed.

Heads Borne on Pikes.

Their heads were borne on pikes and followed by a fanatical mob of civilians, who began searching the French houses for other victims. It was in the course of this raid that the wireless operators were attacked and killed.

Another Frenchman and his wife and son kept the mob at bay for five hours. They then escaped to a neighboring house, whence a friendly chief escorted them through a secret garden of the mosque to a place of safety.

A French engineer while walking in the street was stealthily overtaken by a native who sliced off his head with a single stroke. Others were killed in their houses.

Women Conspicuous in Mob.

Moorish women were conspicuous in inciting the mob, which behaved with the customary Arab ferocity.

After killing as many French as they could find the mob went to the Jewish quarter. Here the savagery reached its climax. The mutineers ravaged, sacked and burned everything in sight. The nonresistance of the victims made this work easy.

Women were everywhere prominent in the orgy of blood and fire. They chased the Jews from the housetops and pushed them into the streets where the mob captured them and treated them with the utmost brutality regardless of age or sex. They were stabbed, kicked, beaten, slashed with swords, and beheaded. Three-quarters of the Hebrew quarter was burned. Fifty-seven corpses were found in the ruins.

Over 300 Wounded.

The total number of victims is uncertain, but the wounded numbered over 300 and several thousands were left destitute. These are being succored in the palace of the sultan.

Meanwhile the French troops were concentrated to protect the consulate quarter, and they prevented an invasion of this section.

It was not until six hours after the outbreak that French reinforcements arrived and fought their way into the town and partly suppressed the mutiny. They sent escorts everywhere to bring Europeans to the consulates.

Gen. Monier arrived Sunday morning with fresh troops and a renewal of the trouble is unlikely at Fez, but there is a report of an insurrection at Marrakesh. There also has been fighting between the French and Moors between Alcazar and Fez.

Preferred Death to Capture.

Another story of the death of the wireless operators says when their ammunition was almost exhausted one of the men shot his colleagues and then blew out his own brains rather than fall into the hands of the fanatics.

They killed fifteen Moroccans before they fell. The bank was pillaged and the palace burned.

DIZZY DROP AT BRIDEWELL; 2 FREE; THIRD BREAKS LEGS.

Prisoners Escape Down Wall of Unused Watch Tower by Making Use of Iron Hook and Braces.

By making use of an iron hook and braces supporting an unused watch tower on the west wall of the bridewell, three prisoners escaped after a dizzy drop, shortly before noon yesterday.

One of them fell from the top of the wall, breaking both his legs below the knees. He was found by a mail carrier, and at the same time James Odenbach, a guard, saw the other men running west in West Twenty-sixth street and gave the alarm.

The fugitives were pursued by the guards, but they escaped. The two who got away and the one recaptured are:

Frank McGuire, living in West Monroe street, serving a six months' sentence for larceny.

Carl Bruche of Danville, Ill., serving a six months' sentence for larceny.

Walter Burke, living on the west side, sent to the institution in March to serve out a fine of $100 for disorderly conduct.

Burke, who was unconscious when found, was taken to the house of correction hospital, where physicians said the bone in the left leg was splintered so badly that amputation may be necessary.

At the time of the escape it was rumored that several of the guards were in a nearby saloon, but this could not be verified.

JOKE ON FIRE STOPS PANIC.

"Blooming Reel Is Burning," Says Theater Operator, "Please Walk Out," and They Did.

"This blooming film is smoking people. Will you plase walk out slowly. There is no danger."

This admonition from Carl Shayer, real operator at the Glenwood nickel theater, 3330 North Clark street, about 11 o'clock was given in such an apologetic voice that an audience of 150 rose jokingly and filed out. A woman pianist played.

Fire Battalion Marshal Conway arrived at the fire before all of the audience had left. Three reels were burned and a portion of the theater damaged. The operator was not burned.

SHIP IN SIGHT OF THE TITANIC IGNORED CALL?

Officer Says Unknown Vessel Was Nearby When Crash Came.

ROCKETS SEEN BY IT

Franklin Shows Ismay Tried to Stop Cedric to Take Crew Back.

SOUGHT TO HIDE LIFEBOATS

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., April 22.—[Special.]—Witnesses before the senate committee which is investigating the wreck of the Titanic today revealed the following facts:

That there was a steamer, unidentified as yet, within five miles of the Titanic when it struck the iceberg and that the unknown vessel apparently saw the distress signals but did not come to the rescue.

That J. Bruce Ismay sent repeated wireless messages to the White Star office in New York asking that the liner Cedric be held to take the survivors of the Titanic's crew off the Carpathia and back to England.

That Ismay also asked that the White Star offices send "reliable men" to take the Titanic lifeboats off the Carpathia when that vessel reached quarantine.

That the White Star offices do not know the identity of the person who sent the message that all the passengers on the Titanic were safe and the vessel was being towed into Halifax.

That the White Star offices knew there were not enough lifeboats aboard the Titanic to care for the ship's company at one time.

Fourth Officer on Stand.

The information in regard to the vessel which was near the Titanic but failed to give aid was brought out when J. G. Boxhall, fourth officer of the Titanic, told of his unsuccessful attempts to attract the stranger's attention.

This ship, according to Boxhall, could not have been more than five miles away and was steaming toward the Titanic. So close was it, that from the bridge Boxhall plainly saw its masthead lights and side light. Both with rockets and with the Morse electric signal did the young officer hail the stranger.

Capt. Smith and several others in the vicinity of the bridge declared at the time their belief that the vessel had seen them and was signaling in reply. Boxhall failed to see the replies, however, and in any case the steamer kept on its course obliquely past the Titanic without extending aid.

Mr. Boxhall also told of the scenes on the Titanic after it struck the iceberg and of his escape.

Tells of Ismay Messages.

P. A. S. Franklin, vice president of the White Star lines, was the witness who revealed the many messages from Mr. Ismay. In his messages urging that the Cedric be held until the Carpathia arrived, Mr. Ismay said he believed it most desirable that the survivors of the Titanic's crew be rushed out of the country as quickly as possible.

He also, one message said, would sail on the Cedric, and asked that clothing be ready at the pier for him when the Carpathia docked. The senate's subpœnas blocked the plan.

Mr. Franklin also told of the manner in which he learned of the accident, denied the White Star had news that the vessel had sunk before that news was given to the public and declared the report that the reports from the Carpathia were censored was untrue. He admitted the wireless had been "fearfully delayed."

Testimony Given by Boxhall.

When Fourth Officer Boxhall was called to the stand, he described the journey of the Titanic from Belfast to Southampton. Senator Smith entered into a lengthy fire of questions dealing with the duties of the various officers. Gradually he worked up to his leading questions.

"Were there any drills or any inspection before the Titanic sailed?" he asked.

"Both," said the witness. "The men were mustered and the lifeboats lowered in the presence of the inspectors from the board of trade."

"How many boats were lowered?"

"Just two, sir."

"One on each side of the ship?"

"No, sir. They were both on the same side, sir. We were lying in dock."

Lifeboats in Good Condition.

"Were there any lifeboats on the Titanic not sufficiently fastened and in a position to be lowered?"

"All of them were, fourteen lifeboats, two sea boats, and four collapsible boats," said Boxhall.

Boxhall said that under the weather conditions experienced at the time of the collision the lifeboats were supposed to carry sixty-five persons. Under the regulations of the British board of trade, in addition to the oars, there were in the boat water breakers, water dippers, bread, bailer, mast and sail, and lights, and a supply of oil. All of these supplies, said Boxhall, were in the boats when the Titanic left Belfast. He could not say whether they were in when the vessel left Southampton.

Lauds Habits of Officers.

Boxhall testified to the sobriety and good habits of his superior and brother officers.

"You were on watch Sunday night from 8 o'clock till midnight?"

"Yes."

"Spend all that time at your post?"

"Yes."

"Do you know whether the officers were at their customary posts at the forward end during that watch?"

"Yes, Lightoller was on the bridge when I came on at 8 o'clock. He was relieved at 10 o'clock by Mr. Murdock, who remained until the accident happened."

"Who else was on deck?"

"Moody, the sixth officer."

"Who occupied the crow's nest during your watch?"

"Fleland Leigh."

"Who else was on the lookout?"

"The bridge officer, Mr. Murdock."

Senator Smith asked if there had been any one on lookout on the eye of the ship.

"I don't know," said the witness.

Admits Knowledge of Bergs.

"Did you know of the proximity of icebergs?" asked Senator Smith.

"No, sir."

Under questioning, however, Boxhall said Capt. Smith had told him of the positions of certain icebergs which he marked on the chart.

Senator Smith then asked the witness:

"Do you know whether the temperature of the water taken from the sea was tested?"

"Yes, sir, I saw the quartermaster doing it. He reported to the junior officer, Mr. Moody."

"Any other officer?"

"No, but always a reference for them to see. The log contained the temperature."

"Did you see the captain frequently Sunday night?" asked Senator Smith.

"Yes, sir, sometimes on the upper deck sometimes in the chart room; sometimes on the bridge, and sometimes in the wheelhouse."

"Was the captain on the bridge or at any of the other places when you went on watch at 8 o'clock?"

"No, I first saw the captain about 9 o'clock."

Ismay Not on Bridge.

"Did you see Mr. Ismay with the captain on the bridge or in the wheelhouse?"

"No, sir; not until after the accident."

"Did you know when he dined that night, where he dined, or with whom?"

"No, sir."

Boxhall said he did not believe the captain had been away from the vicinity of the bridge at any time during the watch.

"When did you see the captain last?" asked Senator Smith.

"When he ordered me to go away in the boat."

"Where were you at the time of the collision?"

"Just approaching the bridge."

"Did you see what occurred?"

"No, I could not see."

"Did you hear?"

"Yes; the senior officer said 'We have struck an iceberg.'"

"Was there any ice on the deck?"

"Just a little on the lower deck. I heard the report of the crash."

"Did you see the iceberg?"

"No, sir."

First Officer Tells Accident.

Boxhall then went to the bridge, where he found the first officer, Mr. Murdock; the sixth officer, Mr. Moody, and Capt. Smith.

Boxhall said the captain asked what was the trouble, and the first officer replied they had struck an iceberg, and added that he had borne to starboard and reversed his engines full speed after ordering the closing of the water tight doors.

"Did you see the iceberg then?"

"Yes, sir. I could see it dimly. It lay low in the water and was about as high as the lower rail of the ship, or about thirty feet out of the water."

Boxhall said he went down to the steerage, inspected all the decks in the vicinity of where the ship had struck, found no traces of any damage, and went directly to the bridge and so reported.

"The captain ordered me to send a carpenter to sound the ship," he said, "but I found a carpenter coming up with the announcement that the ship was taking water. In the mail room I found mail sacks floating about while the clerks were at work. I went to the bridge and reported, and the captain ordered the lifeboats to be made ready.

Another Boat Nearby.

Boxhall testified that at Capt. Smith's orders he took word of the ship's position to the wireless operators.

"What position was that?"

"41:46 north, 50:14 west."

"Was that the last position taken?"

"Yes, the Titanic stood not far from there when it sank."

After that Boxhall went back to the lifeboats, where there were many men and women. He said they had life belts.

"After that I was on the bridge most of the time, sending out distress signals, trying to attract the attention of boats ahead," he said. "I sent up distress rockets until I left the ship, to try to attract the attention of a ship directly ahead. I had seen its lights. It seemed to meeting us, and was not far away. It got close enough, it seemed to me, to read our electric Morse signals. I told the captain. He stood with me much of the time trying to signal this vessel. He told me to tell it in Morse rocket signals, 'Come at once—we are sinking.'"

Saw No Answering Signal.

"Did any answer come?" asked the senator.

"I did not see them, but two men say they saw signals from that ship."

"How far away do you think that ship was?"

"Approximately five miles."

Boxhall said he did not know what ship it was.

"Have you learned anything about that ship since?"

"No, some people say it replied to our rockets and our signals, but I did not see it."

"By 'some people' whom do you mean?"

"Not passengers, but stewards and the captain all said they saw them."

"What did you see on the ship?"

"First we saw its mast head lights, and a few minutes later its red side lights. It was standing closer."

"Suppose you had had a powerful searchlight on the Titanic, could you not have thrown a beam on the vessel and have compelled its attention?"

"We might."

Rowed About After Wreck.

Boxhall said he had rowed in the seaboat three-quarters of a mile when the Titanic went down. Before that he had rowed around the ship's stern to see if he could not take off three more persons for whom there was room. He abandoned that attempt, however, because he had with him only one man who knew how to handle an oar and he feared an accident. His boat, he said, was the first picked up by the Carpathia. That was about 4:10 in the morning.

"Did you have any conversation with Mr. Ismay that night?"

"Yes, sir, before I left the ship. On the bridge just before the captain ordered me below to take an emergency boat."

"When you boarded the Carpathia, did you see any lights on any other lifeboats?"

"No. It was nearly daylight. It was daylight by the time I got my passengers aboard the Carpathia."

"Could you say any other lifeboats had lights besides yours?"

"I saw several with lanterns. These lanterns were beside the helmsmen in each case and on the bottom of the boats. I would not say all the boats had lights."

Saw Ismay in Lifeboat.

Boxhall said he knew none of the American passengers personally, but he knew the identity of Col. John Jacob Astor.

"Did you see Ismay when you got into the lifeboat?"

"No."

"When did you next see Ismay after you left the ship?"

"I saw him in a collapsible boat afterward."

"Who else was on it?"

"Mr. Carter."

"Any other men?"

"Yes, I saw some men that looked like Filipinos, three or four of them."

"Any women in it?"

"Yes, it was full of them—well, not exactly full, but there were many women—most of them foreigners."

"How long after you reached the Carpathia did Ismay's boat arrive?"

"I cannot say exactly, but it was before daylight."

The Carpathia, he said, was steering by the green lights on his lifeboat. He said he saw other lights.

Saw None Refused Rescue.

"Did you hear of any persons refusing to enter the lifeboats?"

"I heard persons on the Titanic say some people refused."

"Did you see any one refuse to enter the lifeboats?"

"No, sir."

"Did you see any man, woman, or child prevented from entering a lifeboat?"

"No, sir."

"Did you see any one ejected?"

"No, sir."

"Did you see any who got in from the water or see any in the water?"

"No, sir," said Boxhall. "If I had seen any in the water I should have taken them in the boat."

Boxhall said the sea was calm and that in his opinion each of the lifeboats could have taken its full capacity. How many he had in his small seaboat he never knew.

Senator Newlands returned to the subject of the icebergs.

"You say you could not see these great icebergs when in the seaboat, but you could hear the water lapping against them?"

"Yes, sir. It was an oily calm and we could see nothing in the small boats."

"If the sea is smooth, then it is difficult to discern these icebergs?"

"Yes, sir. I believe if there had been a little ripple on the water the Titanic would have seen it in time to avoid it."

Testimony of Franklin.

P. A. S. Franklin was the first witness called today. Mr. Franklin described the business operations and extent of the International Mercantile Marine.

"What is its capitalization?" asked Senator Smith.

"One hundred million in common and preferred shares, $52,000,000 in 4½ per cent bonds, $19,000,000 in 5 per cent bonds and about $7,000,000 of underlying bonds."

After Mr. Franklin had read a list of the officials and directors of the International, Senator Smith said:

"You are the real representative in this country of the White Star line?"

"Yes, sir."

"Does any one share the responsibility with you?"

"I am mainly responsible," answered Franklin. "There are directors in this country and meetings are held frequently."

"Did you know Capt. Smith of the Titanic?"

"Ever since 1898," said the witness, adding that Capt. Smith had commanded the Majestic, Adriatic, Baltic, Olympic and the Titanic.

No Messages from Smith.

"So far as you know, did you or any of your subordinate officers have any communication with Capt. Smith on his last voyage?"

"None at all."

Mr. Franklin said he had received no communication from Mr. Ismay except one by cable from Southampton. This, he said, was merely a cablegram announcing the complete success of the Titanic's trial trip and the favorable propsect for a successful voyage.

Senator Smith then showed Mr. Franklin the telegram received by Congressman Hughes of West Virginia from the White Star line, dated New York, April 15, and adressed to J. A. Hughes, Huntington, W. Va., as follows:

"Titanic proceeding to Halifax. Passengers probably land on Wednesday. All safe.

"THE WHITE STAR LINE."

"I ask you," continued the senator, "whether you know about the sending of that telegram, by whom it was authorized and from whom it was sent?"

"I do not, sir," said Franklin. "Since it was mentioned on Saturday we have had the entire passenger staff examined and we cannot find out."

Tells of First Warning.

Asked when he first knew the Titanic had sunk, Franklin said he first knew it at 6:27 p. m. Monday. He then produced a thick package of telegrams which he had received Sunday in relation to the disaster.

"How did you ascertain the location of the Olympic, Baltic, and others?" asked the senator.

"We worked them out on our charts. We had no direct communication from any of the ships. Our first endeavor to communicate with our big ships was a message sent April 15 at 3 o'clock a. m. This message read as follows:

"'Haddock, Olympic: Make every endeavor to communicate Titanic and advise position and time. Reply within the hour.'

The reassuring statements sent out by the line in the early hours of the disaster were made the subject of inquiry.

"Had you head from the Carpathia at that time?" Mr. Franklin was asked.

"No, sir," he said.

Message Sent to Olympic.

Franklin said the Olympic was dispatched this message:

"Haddock, Olympic: Rumored here Titanic sunk. Cannot confirm here. Expect Virginian alongside. Franklin."

"At 2:40 p. m. we wirelessed Haddock to endeavor by all means to ascertain the whereabouts of Mr. Ismay and to advise us as soon as possible," continued Franklin. "We followed this dispatch with another to Haddock in which we urged: 'Do your utmost to ascertain condition of Titanic; advise us fully disposition Titanic's passengers and where they will be landed.'"

"At 6:20 or 6:30 Monday evening," Mr. Franklin continued, "a message was received telling the fateful news that the Carpathia reached the Titanic and found nothing but boats and wreckage; that the Titanic had foundered at 2:20 a. m. in 41.16 north, 50.14 west; that the Carpathia picked up all the boats and had on board about 675 of the Titanic's survivors, passengers and crew. This message was from Haddock also.

"After that we got another message from Haddock stating that 'Yamal,' meaning Ismay, was on the Carpathia."

Tells Ending of Hope.

One by one Mr. Franklin read telegrams that had been hurled through the air from shore to the ships and from them back to the shore. All hope that some other vessel besides the Carpathia had picked up some of the Titanic's survivors was dissipated when the Olympic flashed word that neither the Baltic nor the Tunisian had any of the Titanic's people aboard.

Senator Smith sought to discover who had been "tampering with the wireless operators or had been responsible for the failure of the wireless to get the news to shore earlier." Mr. Smith repeatedly asked the witness whether he had not had a conference Monday morning with Mr. Marconi or Mr. Sammis, chief engineer for the Marconi company.

"No, most emphatically," said the witness. "In no way did I attempt or cause to be attempted any censorship of the wireless."

"Did you receive at any time from any one or any officer of your company a request that the steamship Cedric be held at New York until the arrival of the Carpathia?" Senator Smith asked.

"Yes, sir," said the witness, and began to read a telegram from the Carpathia.

"What time was it received?"

"At 5:19," said the witness, who said the telegram asked that the Cedric be held because the sender considered it "most desirable" that the members of the crew be sent back on the Cedric and declaring his intention of sailing on that ship himself. The sender also asked that clothing and shoes be brought to the dock for him when the Carpathia got in.

Ismay Signed in Cipher.

"By whom was that signed?" asked Senator Smith.

"Yamsi."

"Do you know who Yamsi is?"

"Yes, sir. It is cipher for Mr. Ismay's signature. I sent in reply the following:

"'Yamsi, Carpathia: Have arranged forward crew Lapland, sailing Saturday, calling at Plymouth. We all consider most unwise to delay Cedric considering circumstances.'"

Senator Smith then had Franklin read all the messages that passed between himself and Ismay on the Carpathia April 18. At 5:30 a. m. of that day Franklin received from Ismay this message: "Send responsible White Star ship officer and fourteen men in two boats to take charge of thirteen Titanic life boats at quarantine."

Franklin testified that he received a message from Ismay on the Carpathia a little later on the morning of the 18th to join the Carpathia at quarantine and that several other messages came from him urging that the Cedric be held. After all these had come in Franklin cabled Ismay:

"Think it most unwise to retain Cedric in New York." This was followed by a reply from Ismay which included: "Unless you have good and sufficient reason to hold the Cedric, kindly do so."

Learned of Senate Inquiry.

In an effort to connect the attempted departure of Mr. Ismay and the Titanic's crew with the senate's investigation, Senator Smith asked the witness when he had learned the senate had decided to investigate the disaster.

"I think about 2 o'clock Thursday."

"Did you communicate the information to your company?"

"I did, that night, by cable, I think."

"When did you advise Mr. Ismay?"

"I told him of it when I got aboard the Carpathia," said the witness.

Senator Perkins took Mr. Franklin in hand and questioned him at some length as to the safety equipment of the Titanic.

"The Titanic's equipment was in excess of the law," said the witness. "It carried its clearance in the shape of a certificate from the British board of trade."

Safeguards on Other Ships.

Senator Bourne took up the same line of questioning.

"Has anything been done with the equipment of other ships as a result of the disaster?" he asked.

"Most emphatically," answered Mr. Franklin. "On last Friday Mr. Ismay ordered that all our vessels be equipped with boats and rafts sufficient to take off every passengar and every member of the crew in case of accident."

"Do you know of any one, any officer or man, or any official who you deem could be held responsible for the accident and its attendant loss of life?"

"Positively not. No one thought such an accident could happen. It was undreamed of."

Mr. Franklin volunteered a statement relating to criticisms of the White Star company for attempting to return the crew of the Titanic to Europe immediately.

"I think there has been an awful mistake made about that matter," said Franklin. "I would like to clear it up. The criticisms have been made that we were trying to keep those men from testifying. That is not so. It was not the reason at all. As far as the crew are concerned it was our duty to return them to their homes. We assured you that we would hold any officers or men that you wanted for this committee."

Senator Newlands brought out that the speed of the Titanic at the time of the accident was about four miles an hour below that of the Mauretania and Lusitania.

"Do you have rules governing the running of a ship in fog or when ice is in a ship's vicinity?"

"We have stringent rules. None of the commanders that I have ever had communication with ever got the idea from me that our company wanted records broken."

PLANS FOR BUTT MEMORIAL.

Association Formed at Augusta to Erect Monument to Hero of the Titanic Disaster.

Augusta, Ga., April 22.—The Archibald Butt Memorial association was formed here at a meeting this morning and subscriptions will be received for the erection of a monument to the president's military aid who went down with the Titanic.

Wireless Names "George W. Widen" Among Titanic Victims Picked Up.

SHIP MINIA TO SCENE.

Ordered to Aid Mackay-Bennett; Services for Corpses Again Consigned to Sea.

New York, April 22.—The first list of names of bodies recovered from the Titanic disaster by the cable steamer Mackay-Bennett was received here tonight through wireless messages to the White Star line offices.

The list of twenty-five names contains none of several of the most prominent men who perished, unless it be that "George W. Widen," as sent by wireless, refers, as is believed probable, to George D. Widener of Philadelphia, son of P. A. B. Widener, director of the White Star line.

List of Bodies Identified.

The list, as received at the White Star line offices, is as follows:

R. B. Att,	George Rosenshire,
L. M. Hoffman,	N. Marriott,
Mrs. Robbins,	John H. Chapman,
Leslie Gilinski,	W. Colbine,
W. H. Harbeck,	H. Greenberg,
Malcolm Johnson,	Simon Bother,
A. J. Halverson,	N. Colas Rasher,
H. W. Ashe,	—. Shea,
Leslie Williams,	George W. Widen,
A. H. Hayter,	Ramon Artagaveytia,
Jerry Monroe,	Nihil Schedig,
Frederick Sutton,	Steward No. 76,
J. S. Gill,	Yosite Drazenoul.
Ernest B. Tomlin,

A number of the twenty-seven names in the list do not check up with the Titanic's passenger list, which leads to the belief that a number of the bodies received are members of the Titanic's crew.

The White Star line announced it had received the following wireless message from the cable ship Mackay-Bennett, which is searching for bodies of Titanic victims:

Heavy southwest squall has interfered with operations. Fifty bodies recovered. All not embalmed will be buried at sea at 8 o'clock tonight with divine services. Can only bring embalmed bodies to port.

Bush New Ship to Aid.

Halifax, N. S., April 22.—Rush orders were received to prepare another steamer to go in search of the dead. The cable ship Minia was chartered and local undertakers placed 15 coffins on board while 10 tons of ice were stored in the holds. To the Rev. K. C. Hind of the Church of England fell the duty of conducting the services for bodies again consigned to the sea.

SOME PAPERS IN ENGLAND DEFEND CONDUCT OF ISMAY.

United States Inquiry Into Titanic Disaster Reported to Be Unfair to Line Official.

LONDON, April 23, 3 a. m.—The British press, which severely criticises the board of trade and demands the most searching inquiry into the Titanic disaster, declines to judge the case until the British inquiry is held and displays feeling at the manner in which the American inquiry is being conducted and at what is regarded as the unfair treatment of J. Bruce Ismay.

The Morning Post, in an editorial, protests against American and German papers branding Ismay as a coward and says it was clearly his duty to live and help his company retrieve the disaster by facing the music.

The Daily Express describes the senatorial inquiry as a parody of a judicial inquiry, which, it says, is rather calculated to swing public safety heavily to the side of Mr. Ismay and the White Star company.

The Daily News says:

"We have no intention of prejudging the case or inviting the hasty, and often savage, verdicts pronounced in the United States."

Last night's session of the house of commons was devoted to a debate of the Titanic catastrophe and, incidental to this, the board of trade's antiquated regulations are to be brought into discussion.

Will Crooks, the Labor member, initiated the necessary motion, and scores of members of the house rose to support him.

Mr. Buxton, in reply, announced he already had summoned a meeting of the leading British ship owners for an immediate exchange of views. He also had taken steps to confer with the lord chancellor in regard to the appointment of a high legal authority as wreck commissioner to preside over the Titanic inquiry.

INSURANCE LOSS $15,000,000

Marine Companies Suffer Most from Wreck of Titanic.

HEAVY BLOW TO TRAVELERS'

Liable for $1,000,000 for Accident Policies of Passengers.

New York, April 22.—[Special.]—Insurance men are generally agreed that the losses on the Titanic will aggregate $15,000,000. This includes life, accident, and marine insurance. Two-thirds of the loss will fall upon the marine insurance companies. Several American companies, which do all classes of business, have been hit hard.

It seems likely from the returns that the Travelers' of Hartford will have the greatest individual loss, not excepting Lloyds, because in accident risks alone the Travelers is liable for $1,000,000 on account of accident policies held by Titanic passengers and $85,000 on account of straight life policies.

All the marine insurance is carried abroad, the insurance underwriters say, but the risk is distributed largely in this country by means of what the insurance men call "reinsurance."

On private information the Insurance Field places the losses in marine insurance at $10,000,000. The paper adds:

"Nowhere in the annals of insurance is there a parallel for the loss of insured life and property occasioned by the sinking of the ocean liner Titanic."

It gives the following totals:

Life insurance	$ 2,193,000
Accident insurance	2,213,000
Marine insurance	10,000,000
Total	$14,406,000

United States Casualty	75,000
United States Fidelity and Guaranty	30,000
Unreported losses	250,000
Total possible losses	$2,218,000

"The capitalized value of a life of average age," the Insurance Field says, "is placed at $50 a week, so that the world loses on the life of each victim, assuming that all taken together would make up the average age $1,500,000, and on them all $2,496,000,000."

MORE TITANIC SURVIVORS HERE.

Mrs. Warren Tells of Escape with Her Daughter—Husband Turned Back, Although Boat Was Not Full.

Two more survivors of the Titanic arrived in Chicago yesterday. They were Mrs. F. M. Warren of Portland, Ore., and her daughter. Mr. Warren went down with the ship. Mrs. Warren and her daughter are at the Blackstone, the guests of F. B. Stone, 2131 Washington boulevard, a family friend.

Mrs. Warren said she and her daughter were placed in a boat which could have accommodated twice as many people. Nevertheless, Mr. Warren was not allowed to accompany them.

The Titanic fund being collected through the mayor's office was increased to $572 yesterday. The largest contribution was $150 from the Cathedral SS. Peter and Paul.

COUNCIL ASKS U. S. FOR BOAT REFORM

City Officials Condemn Lack of Life Saving Facilities on Lake Steamers.

DEMANDS AN INQUIRY.

Says Some Vessels Fail to Carry Searchlights and Wireless; Too Few Small Boats.

The city council last night passed a resolution drafted by the mayor and demanding of the government an improvement of life saving devices on great lakes steamers.

The resolution said that "passenger boats are constantly moving in and out of the port of Chicago overcrowded with passengers and have an inadequate number of life boats, life preservers, and other safety appliances, some of them being without searchlights and wireless telegraph equipment."

In sending the resolution to the council the mayor said:

"The appalling loss of life in the wreck of the Titanic has resulted in an inquiry as to whether or not the rules and regulations for the protection of the lives of passengers on lake boats leaving the Chicago harbor are sufficiently stringent, and if so, whether or not they are properly complied with."

The mayor said the law department had informed him the limit of the city's power over shipping from Chicago harbor is to control and regulate anchorage, docks, wharves and public landing places.

"It does not, however, include the management and control of boats, which is exclusively within the jurisdiction of the federal government," said the mayor's communication, "and it is doubtful whether the city can even legislate against overcrowding.

"In view of this limited power in the city I have prepared a resolution asking the general government to adopt more stringent rules and regulations for the protection of the lives of passengers on steam vessels navigating the great lakes, and particularly that provision should be made for a sufficient number of lifeboats, life preservers, and other safety appliances."

50 DEAD, 200 HURT IN WIND STORM

Over $1,000,000 Damage Done by "Twister" in Illinois and Indiana.

MANY FREAKS IN STORM

Town of Bush Practically Wiped Out; People Take Refuge in Cistern.

At least fifty people were killed and more than 200 seriously injured in the wind storm which on Sunday swept parts of the states of Illinois, Indiana, and Wisconsin and wrought approximately $1,000,000 worth of property damage. The terrific storm nearly wiped out the village of Bush in Williamson county, where the death roll reached eighteen and fifty people were hurt, some of them fatally. Parts of the villages of Grant Park, Illinois, Morocco, Ind., and Willisville, Ind., were destroyed.

The path of the storm was marked by such complete destruction that all telegraph and telephone communication was shut off, and little was known of the actual conditions until yesterday, when communication was restored by automobiles and railroad trains.

Summary of the Dead.

Storm Has Many Freaks.

Then for the first time was the extent of destruction realized. It was found scores of lives had been wiped out, scores more injured, hundreds of head of live stock killed, buildings demolished, and other property wrecked.

Amid the desolation were found numberless evidences of the freak antics of the fierce phenomena.

The storm did its most fatal work in Johnson and Williamson counties in the southwestern part of the state, and in Kankakee and Iroquois counties in the northwestern section, less than 100 miles south of Chicago. The tornado took another kangaroo leap into Indiana, where nearly a dozen persons were lost and nearly $100,000 worth of damage was done.

It swept with a lesser force the whole central and southern part of Illinois and northwestern Indiana. Miles of telegraph and telephone wires were demolished and wrecked, complete communication is restored with all sections of the storm swept territory, and probable the death list will be increased.

18 Killed in Bush.

At Bush, a mining village of 600 inhabitants, in Williamson county, there was the greatest loss of life, eighteen persons having been killed. It is reported that several have a slight chance of recovery. Nearly every dwelling in the village was either blown away or damaged. Most of the dead were foreigners who worked in the nearby coal mines.

The storm skirted Murphysboro, which is in Jackson county, killing three men. When the news of the destruction at Bush reached Murphysboro a special train was started from the latter city to bring the injured to the Murphysboro hospital.

Yesterday Jerome Childs, president of the village council of Bush, telegraphed Governor Dunne asking for 100 tents and 300 cots for the people made homeless by the cyclone. Adjutant Gen. Dickson sent the tents and other shelter provisions at once.

According to report from Murphysboro there were two storms, which met at Bush, producing a "twister" which nearly annihilated the town. One came from the southwest and the other from the northwest. In a few minutes the town was in ruins. The property of the Western Coal and Mining company, the postoffice, one general department store, two hotels, restaurants, and 150 dwellings being demolished. Thirty-two other dwelling houses were wrecked.

Take Refuge in Cistern.

Thirteen persons, a family of eight and five boarders, sought refuge in a cistern. The house was blown over and tossed over the cistern, the occupants of which were not found till late yesterday.

At Willisville, a city of 3,000, five persons are known to be dead and twenty-one injured. Nineteen persons are reported dead at Marion.

In the district twelve miles east of Freeman the storm did its most fatal work in Johnson and Williamson counties in the southwestern part of the state, and in Kankakee and Iroquois counties in the northeastern section, less than 100 miles south of Chicago. 50 DEAD, 200 HURT IN WIND STORM

Over $1,000,000 Damage Done by "Twister" in Illinois and Indiana.

MANY FREAKS IN STORM.

Town of Bush Practically Wiped Out; People Take Refuge in Cistern.

At least fifty people were killed and more than 200 seriously injured in the wind storm which on Sunday swept parts of the states of Illinois, Indiana, and Wisconsin and wrecked approximately $1,000,000 worth of property.

The terrific storm nearly wiped out the village of Bush in Williamson county, where the death roll reached eighteen and forty people were hurt, some of them fatally. Parts of the villages of Grant Park, Ill.; Morocco, Ind., and Williamsville, Ind., were destroyed.

The path of the storm was marked with such complete destruction that all telegraph and telephone communication was shut off and little was known of the actual conditions until yesterday, when communication was restored by automobiles and railroad trains.

Summary of the Dead.

This is the death roll:

In a few minutes the town was in ruins, the property of the Western Coal and Mining company, the postoffice, one general department store, two hotels, restaurants, and forty dwellings being demolished. Thirty-five other dwelling houses were wrecked.

Take Refuge in Cistern.

Thirteen persons, a family of eight and five boarders, sought refuge in a cistern. The house was blown over and tossed over the cistern, the occupants of which were not rescued till late yesterday.

At Williamsville, a city of 3,000, five persons are known to be dead and twenty-one injured. The town suffered heavy property damage. Seventeen persons are reported dead in Marion.

In the district twelve miles east of Bush eight are known to have been killed. In describing the storm in the vicinity of Murphysboro, Sheriff C. T. Edwards of Jackson county said:

"The storm swept down in one spot, taking everything before it, then ascended into the air, then swept down again, repeating this performances throughout its course."

Carried 100 Feet in Air.

In the village of Freeman in Williamson county, William Gambill and his two daughters were killed, and Gambill's son and a farm hand are believed to be injured fatally. Gambill was crushed to death by a falling barn and his two daughters were carried more than 100 feet into the air and killed by striking the earth.

In Hamilton county, Illinois, the child of Thomas Taylor was killed and many were hurt. Fourteen houses are said to have been demolished.

West Frankfort, in Franklin county, is said to have been caught by the storm in its most destructive power. It is reported that eight people were killed and many injured.

In the eastern and northeastern parts of the state the fury of the storm apparently was not so great as in the southwestern section of Illinois, although many people were killed and great damage done. Grant Park, which was in the center of the storm, suffered heavily, but no lives were lost. The list of injured in Grant Park and the vicinity reached forty-one. The property damage is estimated at $50,000. More than forty buildings were either wrecked or badly damaged.

Brain Pierced by Splinter.

The storm, which swept the southeastern part of the town, demolished the building of the Curtis Brick company, the German Evangelical church, and the Ehler building in the business section.

The most serious injury was sustained by Georgia Blank, 15 years old, whose brain was pierced by a splinter from the wreckage which flew through the air. The boy was sent to Chicago for a surgical operation.

A dispatch from Sheldon, Ill., states that a man and a baby were killed and heavy damage was done. Mrs. David Jay was returning from Kankakee to her farm, eight miles west of the city, with several friends. They took refuge in a deserted stone house about five miles from Kankakee. The wind tore the roof off the house and Mrs. Jay was killed by a heavy beam which fell down on her, crushing her skull. All the members of the party were injured. Mrs. Robert Hawkins, mother of Mrs. Jay, was buried under the débris and several of her ribs were broken, one fractured rib puncturing her lungs. She may die. A young boy, the son of George Asher, also in the party, suffered a severe scalp wound.

Mrs. Frank Bracken, wife of a farmer in Limestone township, was seriously injured when their home was wrecked. A swath of destruction 200 feet in width was cut through Lowell, Ind., a city of 2,000. Many people were injured, but none fatally.

The storm reached its full fury in a two mile stretch about ten miles north of Rensselaer, Ind., where one person was killed and many injured.

August Kruger and his wife were upstairs in their farmhouse when the storm carried the upper part of their residence away and carried it several hundred feet. Mr. and Mrs. Kruger were carried along. When the wreckage came down the roof collapsed on its occupants, injuring them severely.

The German Lutheran church of the district was wrecked and the bell of the church was found the next morning suspended from a limb in a stout oak tree, just out of the storm path.

Finds Family Dead.

In Morocco, Ind., nine persons were killed outright and many injured. Seven members of the family of Charles Rice were killed, leaving Mr. Rice the sole survivor. Mrs. Rice and her two children were picked up dead near the wreck of the house, and Mrs. Edgar Rice, a daughter-in-law, the wife of a professional ball player with the Galesburg club, and her two children were found dead in another part of the ruins. A hired man, whose name is unknown was also killed.

Immediately after the storm had swept over Rice managed to stumble to the home of Charles Johnson, a neighbor, to summon help. When he and Mr. Johnson returned they found all the members of the household dead with exception of a young girl, Genevieve Rice, who was still breathing. The two men started to carry her to the Johnson home, but she died on the way.

The story of how two members of the family of Charles Smart met their death was told yesterday. The father had just ordered his three children down into the cellar where he and his wife had taken refuge. His two daughters, Cassie and Elaine, were about to descend when the house moved and they were crushed to death between the house and its foundation. The third child, John, had tarried behind, and was uninjured.

IRATE WIFE TRAPS 2 DOCTORS

Mrs. H. T. Cummings Said to Have Hurled Acid at Spouse.

RAID ON FLAT FOR FOUR.

Her Husband, Girls, and Dr. C. W. Cleveland Escape.

A visit by two physicians to a flat at 3002 South Park avenue is responsible for the summoning of a patrol wagon to that number and for a variety of other incidents centering about that spot.

Dr. Henry T. Cummings, 3555 Grand boulevard, and Dr. C. W. Cleveland, 459 East Thirty-fifth street, are the physicians concerned, and Dr. Cummings has two uncomfortable acid scars on his face, an interesting knife wound in the left hand, and a ripped overcoat as mementos of the occasion. He lays these misfortunes to his wife.

Rent Flat in February.

Miss Rose Wilson and Miss Margaret Cassavaw, said to be office girls, were the occupants of the flat, and Dr. Cummings and Dr. Cleveland called Saturday night. The trouble followed.

It seems that on Feb. 1 last, according to the owner of the building at 3002 South Park avenue, Dr. Cummings and Dr. Cleveland looked at a three room flat in the rear. Cleveland said he was bringing his "sister and another lady from Michigan" and desired a home for them.

In a day or so a brand new lot of furniture arrived. So did the "sister and lady friend," in the persons of Miss Wilson and Miss Cassavaw.

Neighbors Get Suspicious.

Suspicion of the neighbors was aroused by the frequency with which the Cleveland automobile used to stay in the alley abutting on the cozy little flat.

On Saturday night Mrs. Cummings, desiring to see her husband, arrived at the flat at 9:20 p. m. All the neighbors heard was a lot of shrieking. Men in the front flats hastened out to see the little Mrs. Cummings dart south in South Park avenue. A message was telephoned to the Cottage Grove avenue police station and in due time the patrol wagon arrived.

The policemen rapped repeatedly and then forced the door. They smelled carbolic acid and they smelled whisky, and found some broken glass strewn over the combination kitchen and dining room. But there were no occupants, for all had fled just about the time Mrs. Cummings took her hasty departure—after the enumerated minor injuries had been inflicted on her spouse.

Now Mrs. Cummings is in seclusion in the apartments of her mother, Mrs. John Dowling, at the Grand boulevard address, and her mother denies that anything unusual has happened. The wife found time yesterday to carry her 3 year old daughter to the house of Mrs. Andrew Cummings, mother of the physician, 3336 Calumet avenue. A council of war was held, and the elder Mrs. Cummings promised to take her son to task. When this will occur, however, is a matter of conjecture, as the physician is keeping away from both women.

Doctor Tells His Story.

"I had been summoned to attend Miss Cassavaw, who suddenly became ill, when my jealous wife broke in on us," explained Dr. Cummings. "Both girls belong to respectable families of Fort Dodge, Ia. My wife called Miss Cassavaw a name, and then tried to stab her with a hatpin. Then she pulled two more hatpins. When I interfered my wife broke a bottle of carbolic acid over my nose and came near putting my eye out. Then she stabbed me with a pair of scissors and broke the whisky decanter over Miss Wilson's head. See how she sliced my coat. She then ran, and we made our escape just before the police arrived. There have been no arrests."

AUTO BUS LINE FOR EVANSTON.

Business Men Will Give Suburb a Cross Town Service Which Now Is Lacking.

Evanston, which is without cross town car service of any kind, will have an automobile bus service beginning next Monday. The route of the auto cars for the first few weeks will be west from Fountain square at Davis street and Sherman avenue to the city limits, then south to the northern limits of Chicago. The auto buses are to be put in service by the business men along Davis street.

CHURCHMEN BEAT A MAYOR

Zion City Band Drags Smokers Around; Executive Interferes.

SAY WORKMEN ARE FLIRTS.

Voliva Faction Assert They Will Oust Factory Men from Town.

Zion City, Ill., April 22.—[Special.]—Acting Mayor S. Miller has been beaten and several other residents of Zion City have incurred minor injuries as the result of continued rioting and factional disturbances here since Saturday morning. Fifty special policemen have been sworn in and a call for state militia is being talked of today among both church and municipal authorities.

About 500 "crusaders," specially chosen by Overseer Voliva, and led by Elder Royal, voice the protest of the church against 150 employés of the Cook Electrical company, which last week located its plant in Dowie's old printing office here. According to the church leaders, the employés smoke in public, drink, and try to flirt with the women and girls in the streets, all contrary to local ordinances.

The churchmen say they advised the factory manager to abandon his location in Zion City, but that their delegation was ousted from his office.

A band of 300 Voliva "crusaders" marched to the depot on Saturday night and attacked two employés of the Marshall Field lace works who had alighted from a Northwestern train and refused to cease smoking. These men were dragged through the business streets despite determined resistance, while the "crusaders" sang, "We're Marching Onward to Zion." The procession halted in front of the police station, where Voliva's men called on the police to come out and place the men in arrest for smoking in Zion.

Mr. Miller came out armed with a heavy cane and tried to take the man from the crowd. He is said to have hit and seriously injured A. H. Biddle. His cane was wrested from his grasp. He was knocked down and given two bruised eyes. Marshal Hoover and Health Commissioner Hollingsworth came to his aid and finally the two smokers were released.

Mr. Miller's cane was exhibited as a trophy by Overseer Voliva during his Sunday sermon—an attack on the factory men.

YOUTH'S "HARD LUCK" STORY DUPES NUMBER OF PASTORS.

Given Money, Food, Shelter, Entertained at Socials, and Provided with Work, Then Flees.

It was "experience" day yesterday at a meeting of the Chicago Ministers' association. Several pastors told of being duped by a dapper, fluent youth with a hard luck tale.

At least four accepted the stranger's story and gave him food, money, and good cheer. One got him a job downtown. Now the police have been asked to find the youth.

William von Der Wancyk was his name. He posed as the son of a colonel in the German army and said he was a graduate of Heidelberg.

These ministers took him in their homes, fed him, entertained him at church socials, where food was free, and gave him some money:

The Rev. W. S. Plumer Bryan, Church of the Covenant.
The Rev. S. V. Sievington, Belden Avenue Baptist.
The Rev. S. B. Edmondson, Evanston Avenue Methodist church.

Dr. Bryan got him a job, but the young man fled.

CHARGE PLOT TO BEAT VICE CASE

Officers of Vigilance Association Call Arrest of Hotel Investigator 'Frameup.'

WITNESS WANTED IN OHIO

Accused of Robbing Woman; Found Young Girls in Downtown Hostelry.

Detectives yesterday laid siege to the law offices of Clifford G. Roe in the Fort Dearborn building. At night they arrested Hobart J. Halcro, an investigator for the Chicago committee of the American Vigilance association, as he emerged from the building. They held him on information from Toledo, O., where he is wanted for alleged robbery by force of a woman.

Attorney Roe, who is counsel for the association, had refused all day to surrender Halcro, on the grounds that an Ohio warrant did not hold in Chicago. He thought the detectives had withdrawn at 9 p. m. and ventured out, but a new pair waited outside and nabbed Halcro. Carl A. Waldron, attorney for the Chicago committee, followed to the detective bureau. He denounced the charges against Halcro as a "frameup."

Police Turn Down Pleas.

Waldron pleaded for two hours with the lieutenant, but to no avail. The lieutenant argued that legal information was at hand from Toledo and that the Chicago police were forced to make the arrest.

"Halcro spent two weeks investigating the Exchange hotel," said Waldron. "When he signed the complaint and we were beginning to get grounds upon which to bring about the revoking of the café license private detectives were put on the complainant's record. They went to Toledo. They found a woman who, at one time, sought to use Halcro as an agent in closing a deal for a saloon to her advantage. That was more than a year ago. The woman spent a lot of money on Halcro, but the deal fell through. Now—one year later—private detectives induced this woman to file a charge against Halcro accusing him of forcibly taking $175 from her."

Get Bonds at Midnight.

At midnight Halcro was released on $500 bail approved by Judge Fry at his residence. This morning Attorneys Waldron and Roe will resist the issuance of a Chicago warrant, and if one is issued they will swear out a writ of habeas corpus for Halcro's release.

One girl of 16 years and two others are witnesses for the vigilance committee against the Exchange hotel, 18 East Van Buren street. The case is set for tomorrow before Judge Fry.

ROOSEVELT PLANS TO INVADE SOUTH

Colonel Says if Nominated He Will Try to Win Democrats' Stronghold.

RELIES ON PLAIN PEOPLE.

Declares He Will Be Sure Victor Wherever They Are Allowed to Express a Choice.

Greensboro, N. C., April 22.—If Col. Roosevelt gains the nomination for president he will come to the south, he said today, in an effort to win it over. He made a claim to the support of Democrats as well as Republicans, and said he would embark upon a determined campaign to break up the "solid south."

"I have the right to the support of every heir to the Jacksonian democracy," he said in his speech here. "I am fighting for the principles in which the great bulk of the people of the south believe, and they are kept away from me only by a name. I am going to see to it that they are not kept away by a mere name. I shall fight so that they will vote the way they feel—and when I fight I fight."

In another part of his speech he said: "When I am nominated I'll do my best to get the old 'Tar Heel' state."

Relies on Plain People.

Col. Roosevelt said he was replying for his support upon the plain people.

"That's the only chance I have," he continued. "I have nobody with me but the people. Wherever the people are allowed to express their preference by voting we will win, nine times out of ten. In Pennsylvania and Illinois the people had such an opportunity and they haven't got through counting the majorities yet."

After his speech Col. Roosevelt was taken to the State Normal college, an institution for young women. His audience consisted of 700 girls and one man. The colonel said he didn't want to make a conventional speech about the duties of the young women because they probably knew more about that than he did.

Shy on Girl Talk.

"I don't feel so much at home in talking to girls as I would be if you were boys," he said. "You know I was once a son myself."

He explained his conception of the proper education for young women, saying he believed with the purely cultural courses there should be combined more of the work which would result in an increase in efficiency.

"Hereafter it won't be said," he added, "that a girl isn't much good around the house, because she has been to college."

Harvard Men for Roosevelt.

Cambridge, Mass., April 22.—[Special.]—Many members of the Harvard faculty are in favor of the nomination of ex-President Roosevelt for the presidency. Foremost among these is Albert Bushnell Hart, professor of history.

"I am for Roosevelt heart and soul, because I think he is the man of the hour," he said.

Prof. Charles T. Copeland, professor of English, is another Roosevelt admirer.

"If Roosevelt fails to obtain a renomination I will bolt the ticket," stated Mr. Copeland.

COLONEL THROWS DELEGATES.

Releases Supporters in Iowa Who, It Is Expected, Will Vote for Cummins.

Cedar Rapids, Ia., April 22.—Col. Theodore Roosevelt today released delegations from Page, Mills, and Washington counties pledged to vote for national convention delegates favorable to his candidacy in the Republican state convention here on Wednesday, according to announcements tonight from both the Taft and Cummins managers.

John H. Brier, Cummins' manager, said these delegations would be for the Iowa senator.

Gov. B. F. Carroll, a Taft adherent, admitted this would be the result, and characterized the action of Roosevelt as an indication of the bitterness of his attitude towards President Taft.

Cummins Leaves for Iowa.

Washington, D. C., April 22.—[Special.]—Senator Cummins left Washington today for Des Moines, convinced that the state convention will instruct the four delegates at large from Iowa to vote for his nomination at Chicago.

The Taft headquarters still is claiming control of the state convention, but McKinley realizes he has no chance of getting instructions for Mr. Taft. Probably an attempt will be made by the Taft managers to obtain an uninstructed delegation with resolutions approving the Taft administration.

The Cummins men, on the other hand, will insist upon ironclad instructions for the senator.

The New Hampshire voting will occur tomorrow, and it is predicted by the Roosevelt followers that he will capture the state. The president's candidacy was confided to Senator Gallinger, but from all accounts he has not been able to make much headway against the campaign conducted by Gov. Bass and the progressives behind him.

It is expected that the results in New Hampshire will indicate the sentiment in Massachusetts, which will have its primary on Tuesday of next week.

The president has completed the speeches he proposes to deliver, and they are expected to be tart in character. It is said that he will show that he did everything in his power to force Mr. Lorimer out of the senate, and that it is unjust of Col. Roosevelt to connect him with the Illinoisan in view of his knowledge of the attitude he adopted.

JONES TO START CAMPAIGN FOR ILLINOIS SHORT BALLOT.

State Senator Proposes That Governor Appoint Attorney General and Others in Eliminating Many Elective Offices.

State Senator Walter Clyde Jones, defeated candidate of the progressives for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, will launch during the special session of the legislature a campaign for the short ballot in Illinois.

Senator Jones proposes that only the governor, lieutenant governor, and state treasurer be elective. He would have the secretary of state, attorney general, auditor, and superintendent of public instruction appointed by the governor with the consent of the senate.

He would abolish the board of equalization and replace it by a tax commission appointed by the governor; have the board of assessors and board of review appointed by county commissioners and placed under civil service.

He advocates the reduction of county commissioners to three, and would have them elected by the people, together with the state's attorney and county treasurer. He believes sheriffs, county clerks, recorders, coroners, surveyors, etc., should be appointed by county commissioners.

Judges should have the right, he thinks, to appoint the clerks of the Circuit, Superior, Criminal, and Municipal courts; also the bailiffs. He would have the various judges nominated by petition, as in Ohio, and elected at separate judicial elections.

THIRTEEN FIRES IN A DAY; TROOPS PATROL WATERBURY.

City Hall Last Building Which Is Destroyed by Incendiary in Connecticut City.

Waterbury, Conn., April 22.—Thirteen fires believed to have been of incendiary origin between 2 and 8:30 p. m. today, culminating with the destruction of the city hall, caused great excitement in this city.

Company A of the national guard was ordered out to patrol the streets and drove the crowds home tonight. A number of false alarms added to the excitement.

One man arrested on suspicion early in the evening was released.

WON'T SLEEP; AFRAID OF TEETH

Woman Prisoner Says, "Sleep and I'll Choke; Take 'Em Out and They Won't Go Back."

Mary Donley, arrested on a charge of disorderly conduct, refused to go to sleep in a police station cell last night because of a fear that her false teeth would become loosened and fall down her throat. Also she wouldn't remove them.

"If I take them out I am afraid I won't be able to put them back the right way," she said. "I wouldn't go into court in the morning without my teeth being in right. I am going to stay awake. If I fall asleep they will surely come out, and then I will choke to death."

The woman refused to give the police her address.

CAMPBELL SAILS INTO ROOSEVELT

Kansas Congressman in Address Attacks Colonel's Campaign Methods.

COMPARES HIM TO BULLY.

Declares He Calls Every Man a Scoundrel Who Opposes His Political Views.

Washington, D. C., April 22.—In the house today Representative Philip P. Campbell of Kansas, Republican, made a spirited personal attack upon Col. Roosevelt. He declared Roosevelt had been going about the country for three weeks flaying him [Campbell] before the American public, because he had likened Col. Roosevelt's recall of judicial decisions to "an appeal to the bleachers from the decision of the umpire."

"Col. Roosevelt has been holding himself up to the people as the paragon of political virtue," said Mr. Campbell. "He has assailed every man who ventured to disagree with him on any question. He brands every man as an infamous scoundrel whom he cannot lash into agreeing with him.

"I have been told I was taking my political life in my own hands this morning in assuming to take the colonel on after he had viciously attacked me in my own state. If I did not do so I would despise myself; my political friends would despise me, and my political foes would despise me."

Demands Made of Roosevelt.

Mr. Campbell demanded of Col. Roosevelt whether or not the latter had sent a note to the department of justice asking that steps toward the prosecution of the Harvester trust be suspended; and whether or not he had "in the night time, in private conference with the heads of the steel corporation and the Tennessee Coal and Iron company, agreed that they should be united into one corporation."

The Democratic side of the house applauded Mr. Campbell, but the Republicans listened without demonstration, except when he said that President Taft had "made good."

"Why all this fury?" asked Mr. Campbell, referring to Col. Roosevelt's addresses. "Why is this receptive candidate for the presidency for a third term nomination fanning the passions of the people into a fury throughout the length and breadth of the land? What is wrong? What has happened in the last four years? Only one thing—the colonel is not president of the United States."

Says Colonel Lacks Ability.

Mr. Campbell said Mr. Roosevelt had convinced the country four years ago that Mr. Taft was the "best fitted man for the presidency," and he added that "President Taft has verified the promises made for him by Col. Roosevelt."

"Has it offended the colonel that some of his particular friends have been haled into the court by order of the president? Did it offend the colonel that suits were instituted against the steel corporation and the Harvester trust?

"What is the trouble? It is ambition, thirst for power, by the greatest politician since Julius Cæsar. Col. Roosevelt has all of the ambition of Cæsar, of Cromwell, and of Napoleon without the statesmanship ability of any one of them.

"He tyrannizes over everybody today who does not agree with him. He would wipe any man off the political map who disagrees with him. Because I presumed, without mentioning his name, to disagree with the astounding proposition that he made, he has not ceased assailing me for three or four weeks."

COST SHERMAN $9,077 TO RUN.

Man Who Beat Cullom for Senatorial Nomination Files Final Account with U. S. Senate.

Washington, D. C., April 22.—[Special.]—Lawrence Y. Sherman spent $9,077.25 in his preliminary campaign for United States senator, which resulted in his defeat of Senator Cullom at the primaries on April 9. The amount disbursed by him was $1.50 more than he accounted for in his receipts. The final expense account of Mr. Sherman under date of April 20 was received by the secretary of the senate today.

FIGHT OVER DONAHUE'S BILL

Woodmen's Controversy Must Be Faced in State Legislature.

COMES UP IN HOUSE TODAY.

Senate Likely to Finish Its Work at a "Midnight Session."

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Springfield, Ill., April 22.—[Special.]—The Illinois senate proposed to rush into action tomorrow morning, advance all bills which were asked for under the governor's call for the special session, hold one of its celebrated "midnight sessions" and quit business after passing those advanced during the morning hours.

The house of representatives, balked in its original program to outdo the senate in haste, by the failure of a quorum to appear on the first day of the extra session, is confronted with a fight precipitated by rival factions of the Modern Woodmen of America.

In the call for the extra session, Gov. Deneen provided for legislation to "amend the insurance laws." This was for the purpose of remedying the general insurance act by an amendment which would be complementary to the workingmen's compensation law and permit it to become effective on May 1.

Row of Modern Woodmen.

Representative Donahue of Bloomington introduced a bill on the first day, which stipulates that new schedules of rates of fraternal insurance companies adopted since Jan. 1, 1912, shall not become effective until Jan. 1, 1915. This bill will be called up for passage tomorrow if a two-thirds vote is in sight.

It develops that the bill is directed against the action of the late "Chicago head camp" of the Modern Woodmen, which adopted a new schedule of rates after a fight. There has been a big row since that head camp action. An "insurgent" movement has been inaugurated, and the Woodmen organization, numbering 200,000 in Illinois, has been turned upside down by the difficulty.

The present head camp officials assert that the Illinois legislature has no right to meddle at this juncture in the affairs of the organization, and they assert that the Donahue bill is unconstitutional. The bill's backers, supported by a meeting held here tonight of its friends from all over the state, are claiming that legislative action is an imperative necessity.

Between the two fires are the members of the legislature, most of them confronted with campaigns for reelection, and with the Modern Woodmen notably strong politically in the downstate districts.

Senate to Rush Matters.

The senate program is to advance the necessary appropriation bills, including reënactment of the big omnibus appropriation act attacked in the Supreme court in the "University case." The amendment to the insurance law, covering the workingmen's compensation law, is also to be pushed along and it is probable all of the administration legislation now on the second reading calendar will be put through final passage tomorrow after midnight. The senate will then "pass the buck" to the members of the lower house.

The general impression is that sine die adjournment can be had next week if no real obstacles meanwhile intervene.

Still Another Extra Session.

As a side proposition Gov. Deneen proposes to issue a call tomorrow for another special session of the legislature for the purpose of passing a bill to validate certain legal technicalities in the East St. Louis drainage and levee district law. This is emergency legislation no included in the call for the present extra session, which cannot be amplified under the constitution. The attorney general holds that another extra session can be summoned at any time and for any purpose, regardless of whether the legislature is in session or otherwise.

It is pretty well understood among the arriving members that the new call will not carry with it a means of raiding the treasury for another batch of mileage and stationery account which is permitted by the constitution and laws and the general realization appears to be that the business will be conducted just as if there were but one extra session in progress.

SAY JUDGE OWENS GOT "COLD FEET"

Sullivan Men See Insecure Feeling of H.-H. Faction in County Jurist's Act.

REFUSES TO BE DELEGATE

Asserts He Will Not Be Member of Contesting Illinoisans at Baltimore.

"He needn't have worried; he had no chance to be a delegate."

Thus did Roger C. Sullivan dispose of County Judge John E. Owens' announcement yesterday that he would not permit his name to remain on the Hearst-Harrison list of contesting delegates at large to the Baltimore convention.

"While I appreciate the honor, I decline to accept and will not serve," said the judge. "I was selected without my permission and without consultation. I consider it would be extremely improper for me to act in such a capacity in view of my position. I do not know why I was chosen."

Say Judge Has "Cold Feet."

The Sullivanites were quick to charge that Judge Owens had "got cold feet." Mayor Harrison asserted Judge Owens had acted wisely, inasmuch as his decisions in the Cook county contests would have to be considered by the national committee and the credentials committee of the national convention.

Judge Owens indefinitely postponed the contempt case against Coroner Hoffman, who was delegated by Superior Judge McKinley to serve the injunction granted by the latter against officials authorized by Judge Owens to take charge of the Democratic county convention.

Hear Judge Owens on Saturday.

Counter contempt proceedings pending in Judge McKinley's court against Judge Owens and others are set for hearing on Saturday.

Judge Owens and Sheriff Michael Zimmer were made defendants in a suit filed during the day in the Superior court for $25,000 damages by Capt. John J. Bolger of the Seventh Illinois regiment. This is the second suit against the judge and sheriff growing out of the onslaught on the armory. Capt. Thomas Octigan is the complainant in the suit filed a week ago.

JOIN TO REFORM BENCH ELECTIONS

Civic Bodies in Joint Meeting Draft Bill for Nonpartisan Voting.

AID SENT TO SPRINGFIELD

Action Sought on Municipal Court Bill in Time for November Contests.

Political clubs of the dominant parties and various civic organizations joined yesterday in the movement to take the Chicago judiciary out of politics. The first step was taken at a conference at the Grand Pacific hotel, where a bill was drafted providing for the nonpartisan election of judges of the Municipal court.

Copies of the measure were sent to Springfield at night, and an effort will be made to have them introduced in the house and senate today in the hope of enactment during the special session of the legislature.

Hope for Quick Passage.

The wish was expressed at the conference, of which Charles J. Holden was chairman and Douglas Sutherland secretary, that this legislation might be secured before July 1, so that it may be in force at the November election.

Otherwise, according to fears expressed by those interested in the movement, one-third of the Municipal court will be selected next fall, "not by force of individual merit, but by force of the prevailing 'straight ticket' vote in Chicago."

The conference originally was called by the Civic federation. These organizations were represented: Chicago Bar association, City club, Citizens' association, Civil Service Reform association, Cook County Real Estate board, Industrial club, Iroquois club, Hamilton club, Legislative Voters' league, and Union League club.

Sutherland Off to Springfield.

Secretary Sutherland was sent to Springfield on a night train with the bill drafted at the conference. It provides that the names of all nominees for Municipal court judgeships shall be placed on a separate ballot in a single column without any party designation.

A further provision is that the names shall be listed in alphabetical order on the first series of ballots and thereafter shall rotate in order so that the name of each candidate shall be at the top on an equal number of ballots in each precinct.

DENEEN SEEKS TO CONTROL G. O. P. STATE ORGANIZATION.

Governor Aims to Have Loyal Supporters Backing His Campaign—Means New War on Lorimer.

Gov. Deneen is laying plans to gain absolute control of the Republican organization in the state, so that his campaign for reelection may be conducted by loyal supporters, according to Chicago friends. The program includes the enforced retirement of Senator Lorimer from the party management.

The governor made known his wishes to members of the new state committee during the Springfield convention. At an informal meeting Roy O. West was indorsed for reflection as chairman. State Fire Marshal C. J. Doyle was picked for secretary of the organization.

The committee, it was announced yesterday, will meet for formal organization at the governor's office on May 2. Chairman West may then retire as head of the state organization and accept instead the national committeemanship now held by Frank O. Lowden. Garret De F. Kinney of Peoria is mentioned as Mr. West's probable successor.

The Cook county Republican committee will be reorganized on May 7. Senator Lorimer is booked for a fight to retain membership on the executive committee from the Thirty-fourth ward. Otto J. Pellikan, a Deneen supporter, is hot after the senator's organization scalp.

A like contest is on the cards from the Thirty-fifth ward, where Thomas F. Gainty, a Deneen supporter, has crossed swords with Charles J. Peters of the Lorimer faction. Predictions were made at the committee headquarters that the two Deneen men would win.

Mrs. Claude de Brito

SONS OF STILSON HUTCHINS BARRED FROM HIS DEATH BED.

Young Widow of Millionaire Publisher and Financier Accused of Keeping His Children Out of House.

Washington, D. C., April 22.—[Special.]—Walter Stilson Hutchins, son of Stilson Hutchins, former publisher and financier, charges that he was barred from the bedside of his father, who died early this morning at his residence in Massachusetts avenue. The disposition of Hutchins' extensive property has been the cause of the trouble, which recently led to court proceedings.

Not since Nov. 14 last year had the two sons, Walter and Lee, been permitted by their young stepmother to see their father.

In spite of interdiction by Mrs. Hutchins, Walter Stilson Hutchins was called on the telephone at 11:40 o'clock last night and informed that his father was rapidly sinking. He hurried to his father's house and rang the bell. A man's voice told him he could not come in. Mr. Hutchins replied that his father was dying upstairs and that he must get in.

"Nobody can come in," the voice answered.

Mr. Hutchins gave his name and insisted upon admittance. The refusal was repeated again. Mr. Hutchins says he waited on the steps until 12:05 o'clock, when a man came out and told him his father had died at midnight.

VETERAN CHICAGO BROKER DIES

F. A. Small, Member of Board of Trade for Many Years, Succumbs at Home.

Frederick A. Small, for twenty-five years a member of the Chicago board of trade, died suddenly of an attack of apoplexy at his home at 342 Maple avenue, Blue Island, yesterday afternoon. He came to Chicago in 1887 from Des Moines, Ia., and purchased a seat on the local board of trade. Surviving him are the widow and one son, Kenneth L. Small of Brooklyn. Mr. Small was 66 years old. Funeral services will be today at the late residence. Interment will be at Mount Hope.

BRAZILIAN WINS A 'TRIBUNE' BRIDE

Claude de Brito, in Rio Janeiro, Saw Picture of Winner of Irish Beauty Contest.

COMES TO CHICAGO; WOOES

She Had Said She'd Marry Only an American; He Says: "I'm One, Only South."

The picture of a winsome Irish colleen in a copy of THE TRIBUNE which found its way into the far off capital of Brazil has won a wealthy and distinguished husband for a Chicago girl. Claude de Brito, scion of a Castilian family, saw the picture while reading THE TRIBUNE in Rio Janeiro. He decided to marry the original. That was two years ago. Yesterday he became the husband of the beauty—Miss Mary U. Forhan, 1532 Ainsley avenue, Chicago.

Two years ago this month Miss Forhan, then 16 years old, was awarded a prize as being the most beautiful Irish girl in Chicago. This distinction and the lovable disposition that accompanied the beauty brought her many suitors, but to all she made the same answer. She would marry an American, but the right man had not yet come.

Young Brazilian Reads Story.

A picture of the young woman, with a story of the contest and of her determination to marry no one but an American, appeared in THE TRIBUNE shortly after the prize was awarded. In some way a copy of the Chicago paper reached South America and met the gaze of young De Brito.

A year ago he came to Chicago and spent weeks hunting acquaintances until he could effect an introduction to Miss Forhan. He immediately began a campaign in an effort to make her change her mind about marrying an American. He pleaded that although of Spanish descent he lived in South America and consequently ought to be classed as an American.

Makes Two Trips to Chicago.

Two trips from his home in Rio Janeiro to Chicago proved necessary before the young man won success in pleading his cause.

BUILDERS FORESEE BUSY YEAR

Settlement of Labor Disputes Clears Atmosphere.

$40,000,000 UNDER CONTRACT

Operations Heaviest Since 1893, World's Fair Year.

With contracts let for more than $40,000,000 of building construction work and the industrial atmosphere practically cleared of labor agitation, Chicago contractors predicted yesterday the present year will be the most prosperous since 1893, the year of the world's fair.

Twelve of the most powerful building trades organizations have signed ironclad agreements with the Building Construction Employers' association not to permit cessation of work because of any dispute. Sympathetic and jurisdictional strikes are forbidden by the contracts.

Building laborers and hodcarriers yesterday were granted an increase of 2½ cents an hour. Beginning June 1 they are to receive 40 cents an hour. The caisson diggers were included in the agreement. Their wage scale was advanced from 46⅔ to 50 cents an hour.

Police Search for Driver of Machine Which Injured Lad and Sped Away.

The police are searching for the owner of an automobile who drove away last evening after striking and seriously injuring William Larkin, an 11 year old boy living at 6322 Drexel avenue, at Cottage Grove avenue and Sixty-fifth street. The boy was taken to St. Bernard's hospital, where, it is said, he was suffering from a fracture of the skull and probably internal injuries.

Brains Required For Treating Wrinkles and Double Chin
Your reason will tell you that astringents only temporarily aid in lessening the bad effect of wrinkles. It doesn't pay to employ makeshifts, and those who have gone deeply into the subject of wrinkles—their cause and cure—know that the "root of these evils" begins in the fibrous tissues beneath the outer layers of the skin. They also know that an ounce and a half of thermodized jelly is worth a whole shelfful of astringent lotions and massage creams. In fact, thermodized jelly is the only specific which can restore the fibrous tissue to its normal firmness and contour. Briefly, thermodized jelly is heating nourishment. The heat causes the food to penetrate and both together work wonders for the face afflicted with ugly pores, wrinkles and double chin. The druggist has it put up in ugly tin boxes, but it is worth its weight in gold nevertheless.—Advt.

TELL DETAILS OF ARCHBALD DEALS

Men Who Were Interested in Culm Affair Describe Plans in Full.

EXPECT CONGRESS TO ACT.

Progressives Urge That Taft Be Called On for All Data Involved.

said: 'Mr. Williams, you are not telling all you know. You are concealing something. You are trying to shield some one.'

"Well, of course, I was trying to shield Judge Archbald. I have known Archbald for many years and we have been close friends. I am sorry for him in this trouble and I would spare him all I could. I used to tell him that his decisions were mighty unpopular with the people, but he would not pay any attention to me. In this deal I told him that he ought not to put his name on paper or anywhere that would be evidence, but he wouldn't take my advice.

"Mr. Wickersham seemed to be angry about Judge Archbald. He said that Archbald seemed to have used his official position as a judge of the Commerce court to put through a profitable deal with railroads.

"Mr. Wickersham got all he could from me and then he sent an investigator here to see all who were concerned. I finally made an affidavit telling all I knew of the affair, but I told the investigator I did not think they would dare do anything and they haven't."

Culm Once Thought Worthless.

The culm banks which Judge Archbald ought to buy and sell are old refuse heaps almost mountain high, accumulated from the operation of the Katydid collier. Formerly the coal in these banks was regarded as worthless, but now with improved processes of treatment the fuel in them has become immensely valuable. Fortunes have been made in many parts of Pennsylvania through speculation in culm banks.

The Katydid culm is owned by the Erie Railroad company and by John M. Robertson and William Law. It is a tangled relation of ownership between the railroad and the Robertson and Law interests that aroused the doubt in the minds of the "Laurel line" lawyers of the validity of the title acquired by Archbald and Williams.

About a year ago Williams began negotiations with Capt. May for the purchase of the Katydid culm. The matter dragged along, Williams says, because Capt. May appeared unwilling to sell.

Interests Archbald in Deal.

"I finally got to the point where May refused to dicker any longer," said Williams. "Then I went to Judge Archbald. I told him all about these culm banks and how rich they were, and how they could be got cheap, in my opinion, and a lot of money made on the deal. Then I told him how Capt. May had refused to sell on the terms I had offered, and finally refused to sell at all.

"'I'll see Brownell,' Judge Archbald said to me when I told him about May. I agreed with Archbald that if he would help the deal along, we would divide the profits half and half. Archbald agreed to do this.

"Then Archbald saw Brownell and afterwards Capt. May, and I struck a bargain for the purchase of culm. I had already arranged to buy the Robertson and Law interest. With that and the Erie culm we had a fine option.

"We began looking about for a buyer and first offered it to the 'Laurel line,' which runs near the banks. Judge Archbald took the matter up with Mr. Conn, the vice president of the road. Then one day I took Mr. Conn and showed him the banks. I told him I thought the banks were far richer than the Erie people claimed and he said he thought so too.

Contract on Court Paper.

"Judge Archbald did all the negotiating with Conn. They had some correspondence about it and several talks. Finally Conn agreed to give 27½ cents a ton. That would have made the whole price $35,000. When we had reached that agreement, Judge Archbald drew up a contract between Conn and himself and myself for the sale of the culm to the 'Laurel line.'

"The judge wrote out the contract on Commerce court stationery and sent it to Mr. Conn to sign. Arhbald wrote his own name into that contract and that was what I thought he ought not have done.

"Well, Conn never signed the contract, so far as I know. He says his lawyers thought our title was not good. But it is perfectly good, and I think the deal will go through yet. I called Capt. May up today and told him I was ready to carry out the agreement, but he would not talk about it. I do not know what became of the contract. Mr. Boland has a photograph of it, though, and turned it over to the department of justice. Maybe the department has the contract itself, too."

Conn Sees Nothing Wrong.

Vice President Conn of the Laurel line said he had heard a few days ago that the story of the culm bank deal had leaked out.

"Yes, we are the people who were going to buy the culm bank from Judge Archbald," he said. "Judge Archbald offered to sell us the Katydid culm and we entered into negotiations for the purchase. He came to see me about the transaction, and I think we had some correspondence.

"I did not see anything wrong with the affair. I do not know the circumstances under which Judge Archbald and Mr. Williams purchased the culm from the Erie, but I know that Judge Archbald did not use his official position to further the deal with us or to obtain any unusually high price. He had something to sell which we wanted to buy and it was I who finally offered 27½ cents a ton for the culm. We thought we were getting a bargain at that figure.

"But when Archbald and Williams closed with our offer, they could not show a clear title to the culm. At least our lawyers thought there was a cloud on it. So I withdrew the offer, but am willing to renew it to them or any one else who can give clear title."

"Have you the contract which Judge Archbald is said to have written on commerce court stationery and sent to you?" Mr. Conn was asked.

"I don't remember that the judge sent me any contract," replied Conn. "He may have, and if he did it probably is among the papers relating to the matter. I knew I didn't sign it anyway, for the lawyers found the flaw in the title and notified me."

CONGRESS EXPECTED TO ACT.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., April 22.—[Special.]—Congress is likely to take action with respect to the charges made by William P. Boland, president of the Marian Coal company of Scranton against Judge Robert W. Archbald of the United States Commerce court.

The first step will be in the nature of a resolution calling upon the president for all the information in his possession in reference to the Boland charges. This resolution will require the president to transmit not only the original charges but the report of Wrisley Brown, the special assistant attorney who, by direction of the attorney general, made an investigation and presented a report to Mr. Wickersham, which is said to sustain the charges.

The president's response will be referred to the house judiciary committee, which will consider whether the facts are such as to justify a recommendation that the house request the senate to try Judge Archbald on articles of impeachment. If the house adopts the articles of impeachment, then the senate must act.

Case Bears on Campaign.

The publication in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE of the facts in reference to the charges against Judge Archbald created a sensation in Washington. This sensation was the greater because of the attack the progressive Republicans have made upon the commerce court, of which Judge Archbald is a member, and because of the realization that the case will have an important political effect in the pending nomination campaign.

It is known by members of congress that the president was apprised of the charges more than two months ago and that he learned several weeks ago of the report of the special assistant attorney. Judge Archbald is believed to have been called upon for an explanation, but if he has submitted anything it was kept secret.

The president's advisers were apprehensive that if he should lay the facts before congress during the nomination campaign, when an important issue is the integrity of the judiciary, his candidacy would be affected injuriously. It is said, however, the president has not considered this phase of the matter, but has desired to get all of the facts before determining upon the action to take.

Progressives Urge Haste.

The progressive Republicans, however, hold that in view of the serious character of the allegations against Judge Archbald, the matter should be disposed of with the utmost promptness, since the commerce court is sitting almost daily and is considering railroad questions on appeal from the interstate commerce commission.

Judge Archbald has attended the sessions of the court and has participated in the decisions handed down. His colleagues assert he has not manifested any bias either for or against the railroads, including the Erie, from a subsidiary commercial company of which arrangements were made for the purchase of the culm banks, but has been fair and just.

However this may be, the progressives hold that it was manifestly improper for a judge to sit on the Commerce court after the agent of the department of justice found substance in the charges, as is said here. These senators believe the house should be apprised of all the facts without delay.

Limit on President's Power.

The president has no jurisdiction over federal judges. His power ends when he sends their nominations to the senate and after confirmation by that body issues their commissions. If any charges are made against a judge it is the duty of the house of representatives to consider them, though the president has the right to transmit them to that body if he decides such action warranted by the facts.

In the speech on the judiciary which the president delivered at Toledo on March 8 last in answer to the Columbus speech of Col. Roosevelt, he opposed the recall of judges, saying that no better system could be devised to deprive the judiciary of their independence.

"But it is said we may have corrupt judges," he added. "How are we going to get rid of them? They can be impeached under our present system. But that is said to be too cumbersome. Well, amend the procedure of impeachment. Create a tribunal for removal of judges for cause. Give them an opportunity to be heard and by an impartial tribunal; but do not create a system by which, in the heat of disappointment over a lost cause, the defeated litigants are to decide without further hearing or knowledge whether the judge who decides against them is to continue in office."

Senate Sits as Court.

If the president's plan were in force there would be a tribunal before which Judge Archbald could appear. But it is pointed out that the senate, sitting as a court of impeachment, is such a tribunal.

If the Boland charges are true, Judge Archbald is guilty of no statutory offense. There is no law which forbids a judge to make a business transaction,

FINES FIRMS FOR HIRING CHILDREN

Judge Blake Imposes Penalties on Four Employers, One a Hymn Book Concern.

PREACHER-PARTNER MAD.

Says Girl Worker Got School Permit to Comply with Factory Inspector's Order.

Four fines of $5 each and costs were imposed by Municipal Judge Blake yesterday for violations of the child labor law, the prosecutions being brought by Attorney C. J. Herman at the instance of State Factory Inspector Edgar T. Davies.

Among those fined were the following.

Maurice Lazar, manager of the Coöperative Home Supply company, 154 West Randolph street.

Bilhorn Bros., sacred song publishers and manufacturers of missionary organs, 136 West Lake street.

John Mors, manager of John Mors & Co., 626 Federal street.

David McCurrach, president of McCurrach & Smith, necktie manufacturers, 535 South Franklin street.

At Bilhorn Bros.' all of the young women were grown with the exception of Ella Melzer, 3019 Roscoe street, who was the cause of the court proceeding. She will be 16 years old next June.

Says Girl Got Permit.

"A factory deputy called here some time ago and inquired the ages of the girls," said the Rev. John C. Bilhorn, one of the proprietors. "He said Ella would have to leave unless she got a permit. I told her, and a few days later she said her mother had obtained the permit. We produced the permit at the trial—an age certificate signed by Mrs. Ella Flagg Young, superintendent of schools. But the judge said I had been warned twice and so he fined us. I paid the court and still have the girl at work, and hope that they will leave her alone."

Ella had the permit with her. Mr. Bilhorn said he was given no chance for a statement at the trial, excepting a declaration that he believed he had been violating no law.

Employers Violate Ten Hour Law.

The following employers were fined $25 and costs by Judge Blake for the violation of the ten hour law for women: P. J. Mortell, manager of Mortell & Co., binders, 626 Federal street; Fred H. Smith, manager of the Geneva Optical company, 37 South Wabash avenue; John H. Hardin, president of F. A. Hardy company, 10 South Wabash avenue.

OTHERS TO ACT AGAINST EWEN.

Big Stockholders in Alcohol Company Join in Suit to Recover Securities.

Another step has been taken in the litigation started by stockholders of the Standard Alcohol Company of Delaware against John M. Ewen, in which it was alleged that Ewen had defrauded stockholders in the alcohol making company.

The original complainant in the case was Dr. Wagner, chief chemist of the Corn Products company. This morning the list of complainants will be increased materially, for James D. Lacey, the big lumberman; John Cudahy, the packer; Frank R. Fuller, the wholesale druggist; W. H. Isom, Robert Dunlap, and Earl J. Walker will file intervening petitions against Ewen.

It is the intention of these and other stockholders to push to the limit the efforts to recover from Ewen the stock he is charged with improperly converting to his own use.

ENGINEERS AGREE TO DELAY STRIKE

passenger and operating men who represent affected roads in Chicago.

The answers differed. Some thought it would hardly be felt, others that there would be a general tieup on account of the strength of the engineers' organization.

"I believe the engineers will go out almost to a man if a strike is called," said a passenger official who wanted his name kept secret.

Hope for any kind of service, it was generally agreed, lies in the fact that most of the fast passenger trains between Chicago and New York carry mail and the strikers, it is argued, would not dare to interfere with these trains.

It was admitted, however, that with green men at the throttle the Twentieth Century Limited of the New York Central lines and the Pennsylvania special of the Pennsylvania system, both eighteen hour trains, would not be able to maintain anywhere near their schedule.

Think Some Men Would Stick.

"I do not believe all the engineers would go out on strike if one is called," said an operating official of the New York Central, "and enough men would stay in the service to keep the trains going with the help of firemen and others who might be expected to help out in such a contingency."

Officials of the local divisions of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers last night said all traffic, including passenger, freight, and yard, within the strike zone would be stopped simultaneously.

"The men are 'sore' because of the inequality of wages," he said. "Some of the lines in the east run side by side for miles. The engineers of one line will be receiving 4 cents a mile and those of the other line 4½ cents a mile."

There are about 1,500 engineers living in Chicago who are employed by the railroads involved in the agitation. There are about 70,000 members in the brotherhood. It was said last night that 10 per cent of them are out of work.

PLAN TO SIFT MONEY TRUST.

Lawyers Engaged to Assist House Committee on Banking and Currency in Investigation.

Washington, D. C., April 22.—Samuel Untermyer of New York and Edward H. Farrer of Chicago, former president of the American Bar association, have been employed by the house committee on banking and currency to conduct the investigation into the so-called money trust. They will direct an inquiry into the private affairs of the leading financial institutions of the country before the committee begins any cross examination of witnesses at public hearings.

DEATHS.

[For other death notices see page 17.]

A Straw-Vote

IF you were hiring a salesman, you would consider chiefly his strength or his probable strength with "the trade."

If you were to wager on an election, you would study the strength of the party and of its candidate with the voters. And if you are to advertise, you must study the strength of your media with those you wish to influence.

For advertisers the strength of a magazine with the consumer is of primary importance. With a "general publicity" appeal to the consumer the greatest available "influence on the dealers" should be considered of almost equal importance.

Create "consumer demand," but be sure that the dealers know that that demand is being created.

The opinion of the dealers on the productivity of a certain salesman would be valuable to you if you thought of hiring him. The opinion of the dealers on the preponderous strength of The Ladies' Home Journal is worth getting. Ask your dealers their opinion of The Ladies' Home Journal as a "producer." Take a careful, thorough "straw-vote."

Ask your dealers!

SAYS 'WASH SALES' EVADE GRAIN LAW

Lichtstern in Injunction Suit Adduces Testimony Against Elevator Men.

CAN'T STORE OWN GRAIN.

So They Sell It "Cash" and Buy Back Same Amount "Future" to Hold Grain.

The taking of oral testimony in the injunction proceeding wherein Adolph J. Lichtstern, millionaire board of trade member, is seeking to prevent public warehouse owners from owning and storing grain in private elevators was begun yesterday in the Circuit court before Judge Frederick A. Smith. Virtually all the prominent board of trade members and commission brokers of Chicago, with their attorneys, were present, and apparently took a deep interest in the proceedings.

Attorneys for Mr. Lichtstern attempted to show by the testimony of William S. Jackson former president of the board of trade, that sales of wheat by the J. Rosenbaum Grain company, the defendant in the action, to Jackson Bros. & Co., commission brokers, were not bona fide sales but were made for the purpose of evading certain rules established by the board of trade. Particular attention was paid to the testimony of Mr. Jackson relative to a transaction involving the transfer of 20,000 bushels of wheat on May 31, 1911, where it was shown that within a few hours' time the J. Rosenbaum Grain company sold cash wheat to Jackson Bros. & Co. to the extent of 20,000 bushels, and the same day bought back from the same company an equivalent amount of grain.

Seeks to Show "Wash Sales."

Henry S. Robbins, counsel for Lichtstern, in questioning Mr. Jackson relative to this transaction, said:

"Look and see whether on the 31st of May, 1911, you bought for cash the 20,000 bushels of grain covered by these warehouse receipts."

A.—From all the information I have here, I should say we did.

Q.—Now, is it true, then, that you bought this grain for present delivery on May 31 and you sold it for future delivery at the same time?

A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—And the difference between the price for present delivery and the price for future delivery or May delivery was one-eighth of a cent a bushel?

A.—Yes.

Q.—So that you made an eighth of a cent on it?

A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—And it was all done in ten minutes, was it not?

A.—Very quickly.

Q.—Now, explain what was the occasion for the transaction. Why did Rosenbaum come to you and sell at 2⅛ and buy back from you at 3, and have it delivered back to them in ten minutes?

A.—I suppose it was done to comply with the regulations of the board of trade.

Q.—That is all the motive there was in the transaction?

A.—I don't understand their motives, excepting that they wanted to separate themselves from the ownership of that grain.

Q.—You didn't buy the wheat with the intention of keeping it or making anything out of it, or carrying it, did you?

A.—We bought it to make one-eighth of a cent a bushel out of it.

Brokers and Warehousemen "Hedge."

Details of the buying and selling of grain on the Chicago board of trade, as disclosed by the testimony, brought to light the method of hedging resorted to by commission brokers and elevator owners. It also showed that grain is stored in private elevators, where it is cleaned and the grade improved. Thereupon, the elevator owner, unable to store the grain in his own warehouse, places it in cars on track and sells it for present delivery, with the understanding that it is to be stored in his elevator. He then buys back an equal quantity in futures, the cash price being always fixed by the price of the next future. The testimony indicated that this practice is general among elevator owners and commission brokers on the Chicago exchange.

Lichtstern, who is seeking to do away with this practice, was an interested spectator of the proceedings, and constantly suggested questions which were asked by his counsel.

Attempts to Show "Corner."

Attorney Levy Mayer, counsel for the defense, attempted on cross examination to show that Lichtstern had attempted a corner in wheat, and that the present action was instituted in an attempt to exculpate himself from the hole he [illegible] into by reason of the large quantity of wheat which had poured into Chicago.

"If Lichtstern [illegible] to bar wheat from the private elevators from becoming regular is successful," one commission broker said yesterday, "it would mean that virtually all the wheat in Chicago would become irregular, and Lichtstern, who has accumulated millions of bushels of wheat, would completely control the situation."

Mr. Jackson was still on the witness stand when the case was adjourned to tomorrow morning.

WITNESSES EVADE FIRE QUIZ.

Officials of Standard Gillet Light Company Not Found by Subpœna Servers for Marshal.

The inquiry into the explosion and fire in the building at 9-11 West Michigan street, occupied by the Standard Gillett Light company, which resulted in the death of an office boy and serious injury to three other employés, yesterday was delayed. Officials of the company, it is said, evaded detectives from Fire Attorney Sullivan's office who tried to subpœna them to appear before Deputy State Fire Marshal A. A. Bach. The examination of Oscar J. Seehausen and Gustave F. Schmidt, president and secretary of the company, and W. A. Cole, foreman, will be conducted as soon as they can be served with subpœnas.

RIOT GRAND JURY ACCUSES THREE

Prominent Citizens Indicted as Result of Trouble in Rock Island.

CHARGES DEATH INTENT.

Republican Nominee for State's Attorney, Editor, and Peace Justice Under Fire.

Rock Island, Ill., April 22.—Indictments charging assault with intent to murder were returned in the Circuit court today against Harry M. McCaskrin, Republican nominee for state's attorney; E. H. Gardner, a Socialist editor, and Phil H. Wells, a justice of the peace, who are alleged to have contributed to the incitement of the mob that three weeks ago attacked the city hall, causing a clash with the police which resulted in the killing of two persons and the wounding of nine others.

Wells and McCaskrin arranged to furnish bonds of $7,500 each, but Gardner, whose bail was fixed at the same amount, went to the county jail.

Heads Recall Movement.

Gardner is at the head of the movement to recall Mayor H. M. Schriver and Police Commissioner Archie Hart, and he made the claim in a speech in the street that enough signatures already had been secured to the recall petitions.

A statement given out by the special grand jury that investigated the recent riot, disclosed an angle followed by that body that was not looked for. The statement, addressed to the Circuit court, reads:

"Your grand jury has returned a number of indictments against persons who are renting property for immoral purposes, and has directed the state's attorney to file information against all others who, it is known, are guilty of the same offense, also against those who are permitting gambling on their premises, either as tenants or owners of the real estate."

The indictments referred to have not yet been made public, but it is known that the names of several prominent citizens are involved.

Court's Attention Called.

The jury's statement says further:

"Another matter to which we beg leave to call special attention of the court is a practice which we wish to publicly condemn as virtually licensing prostitution, through a system of periodically fining females engaged in the practice; then, upon payment of the fines assessed, permitting them to return to the same houses or apartments."

FIRST CANAL IN EVERGLADES OFFICIALLY DECLARED OPEN.

Governor of Florida and Visitors Make Trip in Channel to the Atlantic Ocean.

Tallahassee, Fla., April 22.—Official opening of the Everglades drainage canals, constructed for the purpose of reclaiming the everglades of Florida, began today. The program for the celebration includes a trip through the newly completed canal from the gulf to the Atlantic by a large party of visitors from various parts of the country, led by Gov. Gilchrist.

This canal is the first of a system of five great channels begun two years ago to reclaim 4,000,000 acres of everglades land. The drained territory is 160 miles long by 60 miles wide. It contains lake Okeechobee, the second largest body of fresh water situated wholly within the confines of the United States.

The contracts provide that the channels shall be completed before July 1, 1913. Cost of draining the everglades will not exceed $1 an acre. Title to the land is held by the state.

GIRL TRAMP IN TROUSERS

Sarah Wilson of Missouri Halted on Flight to Kansas Sisters.

HAILED HERE BY FAKE 'BOES'

Detectives See Small Shoes and Take "Boy" to Police Station.

With feet a-spraddle after the fashion of bold men, a 15 year old "bum"—diffident, freckled, with cheeks tinted apple red—surveyed Canal street's full grown "bos" yesterday near the Union station. The "bum" wore voluminous brown trousers rolled up at the bottom and a corncob pipe exposed in a coat pocket.

Across the street two other roughly dressed men seemed to be watching interestedly. Then the strangers walked cordially across the street.

"Hitting the Road, Kiddo?"

"Hitting the road, kiddo?" asked one quizzically.

"Yes, sir," was the reply, with eyes downcast.

"Bound west?"

"Uh-huh. Speed, Kaa."

"Where from?"

"St. Joe, Mo."

"What'd you sashay up this far for?"

"Thought the joggerfy said Kansas was west of Chicago, so I came here first."

Sharp glances that had been directed at the little "bum's" face traveled over the incongruous attire down to small shoes of high instep and rather high heels. Then the men's eyes met twinklingly. They were girl's shoes.

"Come along, little girl," they said kindly and cheerily. "We'll do the big brother act and help you along."

Small feet and high insteps weren't the only betrayers of Sarah Wilson, for that was her name. The offer of brotherly aid made the innocent "fresh air" face melt in tears and she had to have a good cry right on the street corner before she could accompany the new found friends.

"I'm ready to go n-n-now," she said, with the old bravado shining through the film over her eyes.

Take Her to Police Station.

So they led her up Madison street to the central station, where she was booked as a runaway and then to the South Clark sereet station, where the matron is waiting to hear from her father, George Wilson, a retired farmer of 605 Gordon street, St. Joseph, Mo. The accommodating strangers were Detectives O'Brien and McCarthy.

On the way she chatted gayly of experiences in a Union station barber chair before the detectives accosted her.

"My little sister Lillian trimmed my hair a little when I was dressing in our hayloft to runaway," she said. "But she didn't cut it even. Say, doesn't it tickle when the barber shaves your around the ears!"

Sarah said she was on her way to visit her two married sisters, Mrs. Ella Gerbits and Mrs. Mamie Kratch, in Speed. She said she wore trousers to surprise them. Her father abused her, she asserted, so she took about $50 from the family attic savings bank. She had smoked the pipe to sustain her masquerade, although the tobacco made her sick

SWEEPING RULING BY COURT ON LIABILITY OF EMPLOYERS.

Supreme Bench Holds Lack of Notification to Protect Workers Is No Defense for Violating Law.

Springfield, Ill., April 22.—[Special.]—Industrial concerns in Illinois which have not installed every means of reasonable protection of employés from machinery and practically without a legal defense at court in damage suits.

This discovery has been made by Edgar T. Davies, chief factory inspector in an opinion announced on Friday by the Illinois Supreme court.

The opinion holds that under the 1909 health, safety, and comfort act it is mandatory upon employers to provide safeguards against dangers and hazards in all industrial plants: that notification by the state factory inspection department of the need of installing safety devices is not necessary; that in case of violation of this act an employer is liable not only for damages in the sum fixed by a jury but also for the penalty prescribed for violation of the law.

Chief Factory Inspector Davies, who was responsible for the enactment of the law, but who is surprised at the sweeping construction of the court, predicts employers generally will comply with the new workingmen's compensation act now.

How Long did your last Pair of Shoes Wear?

THE average "life" of good Automobile Tires is about 4,000 miles. The average life of $4.00 to $5.00 Shoes is about 1280 hours of Continuous Wear. This, before the Upper leather breaks, or the Outsole wears through.

—Representing about 3 Months' everyday Wear, of about 14 hours per day.

So, — to arrive at the true Cost of average Fine Shoes just divide 1280 Hours (or 3 Months) Continuous Wear into their price.

If you paid $4.00 you will thus find a (pre-repair) Cost to you of about $16 per YEAR.

If you paid less than $4.00, they probably would not deliver three months' continuous wear, on average.

SO—the question every Consumer should ask himself, before buying Fine Shoes, is this:—

—"How much per year will they Cost me for (pre-repair) Wear?"

And, when he has arrived at that correct viewpoint, of Shoe value, he is invited to read the "Indemnity Bond" on a new range of 1912 Regal Shoes.

That "Bond" secures to him, beyond question, a minimum of Six Months Continuous Wear of Outsoles and Upper Leather, without break, — for $4.50 per pair.

This means high-grade Shoe Wear at about half its usual cost, — viz. at 75 cents per Month, maximum, instead of at $1.50 per Month average.

Now if you, Reader, have had enough "Lottery" in shoe buying—

Carnegie Married 25 Years.

New York, April 22.—[Special.]—Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Carnegie celebrated today the twenty-fifth anniversary of their wedding. They received telegrams from all parts of the world. In the evening they entertained at dinner about thirty of those who attended their wedding. The rooms were deluged with flowers sent by friends in the city. Mr. Carnegie married Miss Louise Whitfield, daughter of John W. Whitfield, on April 22, 1887, at the residence of her mother, Frances D. Whitfield, at 35 West Forty-eighth street. She was 28 years old and Mr. Carnegie was 53.

Just before the wedding Mr. Carnegie settled upon his wife $20,000 a year and gave her the house at 5 West Fifty-first street formerly owned by Collis P. Huntington.

Mr. and Mrs. Carnegie have only one child, a daughter, Margaret, who is about 16 years old.

Potomac Society Memorializes Grant.

"He stood unflinchingly for the right, upheld principles of purity and of good government, and was steadfastly patriotic," was the tribute paid the memory of the late Gen. Frederick Dent Grant in resolutions adopted by the Western society, Army of the Potomac, at its annual dinner and meeting in the Palmer house last night. The resolutions were presented by Col. Jasper T. Darling. D. E. Wiley Taylor was elected president of the organization and G. K. Schoenberger secretary.

Miss M. Josephine Ryan.

Miss M. Josephine Ryan is president of the Alumnæ association of St. Patrick's academy, an organization which has arranged the second annual assembly to be given Monday evening, April 29, in the twin ballrooms of the Hotel La Salle. Miss Ryan, with a group of young women, will form the reception committee for the evening.

Raise $2,500 at Ball for Working Boys' Home.

SOCIETY generously attended a benefit ball given in the Gold room of the Congress hotel last night for the Working Boys' home. Nearly $2,500 was realized from the sale of boxes and tickets.

At midnight A. D. Plamondon lead cotillons in which several hundred couples took part. Others sat in the boxes. The ball was under the auspices of the auxiliary of the home, of which Mrs. Joseph G. Murphy is president.

Assisting Mrs. Murphy were the following vice presidents of the auxiliary: North side—Mrs. Edward Hines, Miss Amelia Birk, Mrs. John J. McMahon, and Mrs. Paul Gerhardt. South side—Mrs. William Lydon, Miss Adelia Hopkins, Mrs. John McMahon, and Mrs. A. H. Lamm. West side—Mrs. Roger Sullivan, Mrs. Lawrence Reed, Mrs. Thomas J. O'Gara, and Mrs. A. J. Graham. Other officers who aided Mrs. Murphy were Mrs. Andrew J. O'Connell, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. William J. McCarthy, recording secretary.

Among the boxholders who could not attend were the Most Rev. James E. Quigley, D. D., Harold F. McCormick, and Gov. C. S. Deneen. Among patronesses who were present were the mesdames:

Edward F. Dunne, La Verne W. Noyes, William D. McJunkin, John C. Bryant, Susan O'Connell, John R. Murphy, Thomas Gahan, John Gately, Charles Plamondon, Horace L. Brand, David F. Bremner, William A. Amberg, Edward Hurley, T. Frank O'Connell, Herman E. Brown, George Brandies, Harry Bosworth, John W. Amberg, John Clare, Thomas Smythe, Jacob G. Braun, William A. Doyle, Charles Massay, Michael J. Corboy, William J. Fortune, William H. Lang, Florence McCarthy, Luther P. Freistedt, Thomas W. Brennan, John T. Connery, George Lomax, John C. O'Connell, E. P. Nerney, William C. Foley, Valentine Hofmann, Jennie C. Jacobs.

Both the Rev. C. J. Quille and the Rev. James H. Leddy, who direct the boys' home, attended the ball.

"The proceeds will more than pay off a big note that we have been afraid of for some time," Father Quille said. "The note was an indebtedness that the home incurred when we moved to our present building three years ago."

The Working Boys' home has for its purpose the care and protection of homeless boys of 14 years of age and over and provides them with work and permanent dormitories and facilities for self-improvement.

Meetings and Entertainments.

LAKE SHORE WOMAN'S club will have a program on Saturday at the Congress, at which Mrs. Dickson will read.

NAKOMA CLUB will have a luncheon in the red room of the Hotel La Salle on Thursday, at which Mrs. Clarence Kickson will read a program of monologues.

PLAYERS' CLUB will have a lecture by Clayton Hamilton of Columbia university at the Hebrew institute Thursday evening. The subject will be 'Modern Drama as it Reflects on Every Day Life." A musical program will follow the lecture.

ROUND TABLE of the I Will club will meet on Thursday at the residence of Mrs. J. B. Jones, 1753 Warren avenue. Mrs. E. M. Coney will read "The Lady from the Sea."

Shakspeare Festival in Lincoln Park Today.

FAIRYLAND is to be reënacted on an elaborate scale this afternoon when school children of the city, dressed in costumes of many hues and representing fairies, creatures of the woods, warriors, stately ladies of the court, jesters, kings, and queens, will meet in an outdoor fête in Lincoln park in honor of the three hundred and forty-eighth anniversary of the birth of the poet Shakespeare.

The spectacle is being produced by the Drama League of America in coöperation with the board of education, the Outdoor Art league, the Art institute, the Municipal Art league, the Musical Arts society, the public libraries, affiliated woman's clubs, and the principals of the coöperating schools.

The festival is called by the Drama league "a gift to the city of Chicago." Its educational value is considered equal to its worth as a spectacle of beauty and its purpose is the creating in the children and the public a love for the highest type of drama.

For several years the poet's birthday has been commemorated by some form of ceremony at the statue erected in his memory, but never before has this recognition approached such a scale of popular interest or had so many features that would permanently impress those who took part or were spectators of the scene.

The beginning of the festival will be a processional made up of all the groups representing nine of Shakspeare's dramas. It will start at 2 o'clock from the Francis W. Parker school, 330 Webster avenue, near Clark street. About 3 o'clock the exercises at the Shakspeare statue will take place and the final stage will be concluded, it is expected, from 4 to 5 o'clock, just north of the Fort Dearborn block house at a point in the park between Wisconsin avenue and Lake Michigan.

Spectators will be provided with scenarios which will fully describe the scenes and the characters represented, as well as the line of march and all other features of the pageant. The management is depending on the sale of these attractive but inexpensive booklets and on the post cards depicting each of the nine dramas represented, to meet the necessary expenses other than those already provided for by gifts from the affiliating organizations and from certain generous individuals.

The dramas which will be represented and the theme which typifies each of them are:

"King Henry V.," the Soldier; "Merchant of Venice," the Friend; "Julius Cæsar," Heroes of Old; "As You Like It," Philosophers in Exile; "Hamlet," the Son; "Midsummer Night's Dream," the Fairies; "Twelfth Night," the Jesters; "The Taming of the Shrew," Self-Control; "The Tempest," the Poet's Farewell.

In addition to the representation of the dramas the courts of Queen Elizabeth and of James I., the rules of England in Shakspeare's time, and the players of the Globe theater, contemporary with Shakspeare, will be pictured in costume and in setting. The plays and the other features will be taken by pupils of the various grades and the high schools. Shakspeare will be impersonated by Thomas W. Ross. Joseph Kilgour will be the herald.

The processional is to be enlivened with music. Certain groups are to be preceded by players on the cornet or by trumpeters. A number of Shakspearean songs have been learned by the pupils and will be sung by choruses. At the final scene, which will occupy about an hour, where illustrative dances and pantomimes are to take place, an orchestra concealed in the near by shrubbery is to play an appropriate accompaniment. At the conclusion of the final chorus children and young people in costume will disappear through the trees and over the hills in all directions, giving a dissolving effect that will leave only a pleasant memory.

The exercises at the Shakspeare monument will consist of the presentation of artistic scrolls on which mottoes from the several plays will be inscribed. The orator will recite these quotations and the scrolls will then be placed together with a tribute of flowers at the base of the statue.

Open Drama League Convention.

The second annual convention of the Drama League of America opened last evening with a banquet in the hall on the ninth floor of the Auditorium hotel.

The convention headquarters will be in this hall and all sessions will be held there with the exception of the one on Wednesday evening, which will be in Fullerton hall. The program for the three days is as follows: Tuesday, the Shakspeare festival in Lincoln park; Wednesday, 9:30 a. m., "The League as a National Body"; 2 p. m., "The Cultivation of a National Taste for Drama"; 8 p. m., "Newspaper Criticism"; Thursday, 9:30 a. m., "Play Attending"; 2 p. m., business session and election of officers; 4 p. m., reception to guests, speakers of the convention, and retiring officers.

Develops Mandolin Orchestration.

Five hundred members of the American Guild of Mandolin Teachers heard yesterday at the annual convention in the Hotel Sherman the first signal public demonstration of a new form of orchestration, a seven part "mando orchestra," developed by A. V. Holmes.

Hitherto the prime lack of the mandolin has been the power to present adequately classical music. This failure was due to inability to bring out in mandolin tones some of the finer parts of the composition. Mr. Holmes has developed an orchestra made up of two mandolins, a piccolo mando, tenor mando, cello mando, bass mando, and harp. They possess a uniformity of tone which Mr. Holmes says makes the orchestra suited for a high type of chamber music.

Young Clubwomen to Act.

The Young Women's Dramatic club of St. Alphonsus' church will present on Wednesday a southern romance entitled "Dreamy Lou" at their New Athenæum, Oakdale and Southport avenues. The cast will consist of the following: Dreamy Lou, Genevieve Winkler; Colonel Hampton, Henry J. Huette; Winnie Hampton, Teresa Jung; Marjorie Hampton, Madeline Bell; Jules Preston, P. N. Kandel; Mrs. Stockton, Margaret Peth; Brenda, Clara Hoffman; Mammy Emily, Veronica Kalter; Miss Anna, Marguerite Miller; Rosebud, Florence Krewer; a Confederate soldier, R. J. Sugg; pickaninnies, berry pickers, southern girls in minuet dances and songs.

Urges Low Car Fare for Pupils.

The school committee of the Woman's City club has appealed to the mayor and all members of the city council to use their influence in procuring for the poorer children of Chicago reduced rates of transportation on the surface lines to enable the childen to attend the technical schools. The letters, signed by Mrs. F. J. Scott and Mrs. A. W. Evan of the Woman's City club, point out that there are only a few technical schools in Chicago, and that they draw, or ought to draw, pupils from all sections of the city.

The letter sets forth the Lucy Flower school in Twenty-sixth street is the only girls' technical school in Chicago, but hundreds of girls who really would like to attend it are unable to do so because they cannot afford to pay from 10 to 20 cents a day for transportation. All girls living south of Seventy-ninth street who want to learn a girl's trade have to pay double fare to get to the school. In poor families the school committee contends, an outlay of 20 cents per day for street car fare becomes a hardship, if not an impossibility. The letter states that other cities—Cleveland, Toledo, Seattle, and San Francisco—the street car companies give school children reduced rates.

L. A. Bushby, president of the City railway company, has been appealed to by the club, but has given little encouragement, saying that it would be hard to give reduced rates to school children under the present management of the surface lines, but that in event of a merger of the companies it could be arranged easily. Mrs. Scott said yesterday that some of the teachers of the technical school were paying the car fare of school children out of their own pockets.

Dr. Lyman Abbott at Press Club.

"What we need is more light and less heat," was the plea of Dr. Lyman Abbott of New York, the veteran editor of the Outlook, when he spoke of what he characterized as one of the greatest political campaigns this country has ever known in the presence of 300 members of the Press Club of Chicago yesterday noon. Dr. Abbott was the club's guest at an informal luncheon.

Practically his entire talk was confined to a discussion of the presidential campaign, although Dr. Abbott refrained from the use of names.

"This is a campaign of principles, not of personalities, and I sincerely and strongly urge the press of the country to confine their discussions to that of principles only," said the speaker.

He declared that the greatest possible service can be done by each citizen in refraining from making political capital through attacks on personalities.

Reception to Garrett Institute Head.

Four hundred students, members of the faculty of Northwestern university, and their friends attended a reception given last night in Memorial hall of Garrett Biblical institute of Northwestern university in honor of the Rev. Charles M. Stuart, the president of the institute.

The exercises were part of the annual commencement of Garrett Biblical institute.

In the afternoon five ministers who were graduated from the institute fifty years ago were the guests of the University club at a luncheon at 1704 Hinman avenue. This evening these five men will hold a reunion at the First Methodist church, where a banquet is to be given for the alumni of the institute.

Pupils Act as Delegates.

School children will act as delegates at the next meeting on the evening of May 4 of the Beidler School District Improvement association at the residence of Samuel Shaw Parks, 3244 Fulton street. They will report to their schoolmates on Monday.

The object is to interest the children and other residents of the neighborhood in beautifying the area within the Beidler school district. Efforts will be made to interest the school board in putting up a new building to take the place of the old one now standing. Mr. Parks is the president of the association.

Six hundred members of the club attended. Many of them questioned the detective, especially concerning the arrest of Attorney Clarence Darrow in connection with bribery in the McNamara case.

Agriculture Attracts Girl.

"This letter appeals to you for information quite outside your sphere, but you have such facilities for acquiring knowledge that you may give me some light. My daughter has a fixed determination to follow some line of agriculture for a livelihood. She will be graduated from high school in June. She is fatherless and without means, but she has a good mind, good health, and an unusually sane view of life for a 17 year old girl. She is willing to work for her board on a farm, where she can learn something of agriculture and 'get her bearings.' It is her wish to work where her environment will be educational; that is, where science and brains will enter into the scheme of the farmer. We are both as ignorant of everything outside the city as if we had spent our lives in prison. Do you know of any women who are succeeding in agriculture, floriculture, or any similar line of work? In a large nursery or seed company is there anything for a girl to do?

"MRS. M. H. P."

The importance of the matter here treated of is my explanation of the insertion of this long letter. I wish I had room in which to express my sense of the expediency of women devoting time and strength to horticultural and floricultural pursuits.

Some have succeeded finely in both. Any statistics upon this or information bearing upon the mother's queries will be most welcome to her and will interest hundreds of readers.

Has Old Gold Jewelry.

"Will you tell me the best place in which to dispose of a quantity of old jewelry? It is about seventy years old and solid gold. Is there an assay office open to the general public? Does such an office buy antique jewelry?

"A. S. G."

As you give neither street nor number, I cannot answer except in general terms. Sometimes one can dispose of old jewelry through a woman's exchange. There are excellent exchanges in your city.

Or apply to a respectable dealer in antiques and get directions from him as to the disposition of your jewelry.

"Please tell me of two or three interesting games and how to play them at a children's party? The ages of the children to be present are from 11 to 14 years. A READER."

Send me a stamped and self-addressed envelope for the name of a little book of games that will tell you all you would learn.

I have not room in which to describe games in full. The book I speak of is comprehensive and written in an easy, familiar style.

I have no better manual of the kind.

"Please suggest some name for an embroidery club. BROWN EYES."

Why not "The Penelope?" You recollect the tale of her interminable piece of tapestry? Or "The Queen's Own?" Marie Stuart, the queen of William of Orange, and sundry other queens, including Marie Antoinette, were devotees of the graceful art. Specimens of their work are still extant.

In Quest of Essay.

"Can some one tell me where to find 'An Essay on Character?' Painting a Carpet.

"Can any kind of carpet, such as moquette, be turned and then painted for a kitchen floor? If so, please tell how many coats of paint to apply, etc.? KATHRYN V. B."

One correspondent says that a thick coat of flour should be applied to the carpet and left to dry before the paint goes on. Then there should be two coats of paint, each drying before the next is applied.

This matter was laid before the Big Family last week. Watch for fuller particulars.

Co-operative Kitchens.

"Somewhere some few years ago I read of a coöperative kitchen being tried, I think in a Missouri town. Can you tell me anything about it, whether successful, and where I may obtain details? MRS. J. W."

Coöperative kitchens were established all over the country some years ago, some of which are in active operation now. One which was particularly prominent was in Boston; another was in Chicago.

Information respecting these and any others that are still in operation and the degree of success which has attended the movement will be published as fast as the letters are sent in.

Woman and Her Interests.

Laura Jean Libbey's Comment and Advice.

Protecting Daughters.

BY LAURA JEAN LIBBEY.

[Copyright: 1912: By Laura Jean Libbey.]

WE have always been aware that most marriages have been hedged in with difficulties. Communications, many of them, have said in part: "How may our daughters meet marriageable men?"

Now, as a variation to the query, a letter has been received asking: "How may we safeguard marriageable daughters?"

If one were absolutely sure that a man was on courting intent the first time that he called one might have at hand a written set of queries for him to fill out, being his signed declaration, first and foremost, that he was capable of supporting the young girl as his wife should he win her. Secondly, that he was of good moral character.

These and a score of other questions quite as vital might be included in the true bill. If the guardians of the girl found that he had misstated in any way they could nip the love making in the bud. Unfortunately, few young men are able to decide whether they really have come a-courting on the first visit. They refuse to be pinned down to such an acknowledgment, either written or verbal. So what can one do but to let love take its course and let the hearts do the engineering?

Guardians of young women have no right to put a young man caller through a course of questioning, as to his intentions, binding him down, as it were, whether he would or no. Courtship is like a game of chance. Who is to foretell that two shall meet and recognize in each other his or her ideal at the first sight? This mother, who writes me about safeguarding marriageable daughters, must bear upon her own experience a trifle, and upon the experience of her own friends as well. One never will be able to make hard and fast rules governing the art of falling in love, or to do more than conjecture that marriage may follow. If every man and woman wedded who have ever fallen in love there would be fewer wasted hopes and broken hearts in the world.

Love is as old as the hills, but every case has its own romantic variations. The young man who has a fairly good record we would believe in naturally. We also know that the man with an unsavory past is rarely if ever reformable. If parents interfere before a girl has bestowed her love all would be well. After the mischief has been done it is hardly the time or opportunity to lay down rules. It is neither wise nor best to inquire into a man's financial position until one is sure he is to become one's son-in-law.

He's Been Out of Work.

"Dear Miss Libbey: I have been going with a boy for about a year. We became engaged several months ago. Now this boy has been out of work a great deal this summer, consequently got into debt. He now has obtained work and is trying his best to catch up. Whenever he asks me to go anywhere that I think we can't afford I refuse, telling him that we will go more when he is out of debt. My folks tell me I better go now, while I have the chance; that a boy never thinks as much of a girl who takes an interest in his troubles. This boy does not seem to be losing any love for me, but to be gaining. What shall I do? S. C. P."

I think you are a sensible little girl in trying to save money for the fellow, and I do hope he appreciates it. My observation is, however, that men do not seem to appreciate the company of a woman who tries to help them save their money.

He Has "Dreamy Blue Eyes."

"Dear Miss Libby: I see daily a handsome young man with dreamy blue eyes. He has told me repeatedly how much he loves me and has asked me to go out with him on several occasions. I have always refused because he professes love to a number of other girls, and therefore I do not know if he is in earnest. Will you kindly advise me through your columns if it is all right for me to keep company with him. MAE."

I do not believe you could gain much by going about with a fellow of the type you describe. Better not waste your time with him.

Economical Housekeeping

The Veal Bird.

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

A BIT of game (?) that may be served the year around and be something far different than a dried up skeleton of some small bird with a little bit of very "high" meat on it, is the veal bird. Let us not envy those who can eat the imported grouse, etc., at a good deal per plate but of doubtful age and of assured unwholesomeness. Our made and boneless and skinny little birds are far better, and some of the greatest cooks of the world have exercised their highest skill in such imitations.

The individual portion is becoming increasingly popular. The little veal bird, daintily stuffed and served on toast, will satisfy the most fastidious who favor [illegible] portions. The piece of meat chosen for the veal bird may be a part of a slice from the leg or round or be a chop or a cutlet.

Some cooks make an almost [illegible] small bird from a slice of meat [illegible] large as two inches by three, but two and perhaps a fraction by four inches or four and a fraction constitutes the most common measure, although some cooks choose a piece a little larger or flatten out so that it is larger.

There is great variety in the different forcemeats or stuffings used. The trimmings of the meat, with a bit of salt pork, or sometimes bacon, and bread and cracker crumbs—bread, if good, is best—bound together with egg and moistened with stock or water, make the foundation which may be most variously embroidered with seasonings.

Chopped olives and tomatoes and even celery are sometimes used in addition to salt, pepper, paprika or cayenne pepper, thyme, onion, lemon juice, and chopped parsley. You make your own choice, and if you want put in sage, as some people do in all such preparations, but this seasoning is reasonably objected to by some people.

After the forcemeat is spread on the meat the little bird is made by rolling and tying or sewing or fastening together with skewers or toothpicks, which should always be buttered so they will come out easily before the bird is served. Sometimes a bit of bacon is fastened around the bird to lard it.

The birds may be variously cooked in deep fat or fried in a little butter in the flat pan, but they are always simmered afterwards for a longer or shorter time—depending on their size and thickness—in water, stock, milk, or cream.

The following recipes are representative of different methods of preparing the veal bird:

Veal Birds on Toast.—Take four veal chops, cut out the round part of each and pound it until it is thin and large. Spread on each round so treated the following mixture: Put the meat trimmed off the chop through the meat grinder, or chop it fine, with a little salt pork; season with salt and white pepper and add three tablespoons of bread crumbs and one egg. Mix all thoroughly. After spreading this on each round draw all the edges together and fasten with toothpicks in the center. Roll each in salted flour and fry on all sides in hot lard until a golden brown. Drain, put in saucepan, pour around them one-half cup of milk, and let them cook in this for five minutes. Remove the birds and dip four slices of toast in the liquid which was around them, letting each slice stay just long to moisten it. Arrange toast on a hot platter and place a veal bird on each slice. Pour the remaining liquid around them.

Veal Birds.—Two slices and a half of veal from the round, one small slice of fat salt pork, one egg, cracker crumbs, salt, pepper, lemon juice, paprika, onion juice, and one cup of thin cream. Wipe the veal, remove the fat and skin, and pound each slice until one-fourth of an inch thick. Trim into pieces two and a half by four inches. Chop the trimmings fine with one square inch of fat salt pork for each bird. Add half as much fine cracker crumbs as you have meat, season highly with the seasonings, moisten with a little egg and hot water, and spread on the pieces of veal. Roll these up tightly and tie or fasten with toothpicks. Fry the birds slowly in hot butter or lard till a golden brown. Then put into a small stewpan and half cover with cream. Simmer fifteen minutes. Serve hot, garnished with parsley or thin slices of lemon.

Lillian Russell's Beauty Secrets.

Water or Cold Cream.

BY LILLIAN RUSSELL.

[Copyright: 1912: By Lillian Russell.]

AGAIN I am called upon to tell my friends the value of water to the skin.

Many women write and ask if I approve of water to cleanse the skin and add that they never put anything on the skin but cold cream; that it cleanses the skin and keeps it better and cleaner than water and soap. They then want some little cure for blackheads and something to remove superfluous hair from the face.

I must take the cause, the effect, and then the cure. God has given us everything in abundance wherewith to beautify ourselves. The first law is intelligence, the power to think, brains to reason with. I cannot imagine any one with so little reason that she can figure out that oils or creams will cleanse the human skin better than water.

Water is the greatest blessing the world contains. It is two-thirds of our being. It is given us to use freely, and in that manner it should be used.

The greatest beauty in the world is the cleanest. Water comes before everything. The bath is absolutely necessary to the skin before any other application is used, either an oil or a liquid preparation. The Indian, after his plunge into the water, dries himself in the sun, he then rubs oil into his skin and massages his flesh with it, to make it shine and gleam like marble. Oils are sacred to the wild tribes of all countries.

Take this illustration from the wild people. Never put anything on your skin until it is thoroughly clean.

Civilized people have the means to heat water which the Indian knows nothing of. Hot water should be used for cleansing purposes, baths freely in it, but always end your bath with cold water. The effects of cold water upon the skin are—purity, firmness, and tight pores.

Now, when the pores are closed, you may use almost any good cream or oil and it will not penetrate the cuticle to a dangerous degree, but will polish and refine it.

Soaps are inventions and there are many good soaps; those made from oils are the best. Castile or oil soaps are not injurious to the skin and are cleansing. They may be used and should be used freely, on the face as well as on the body.

Nothing should be used upon the skin which nature does not furnish—no oils except vegetable or floral oils. There are so many fine vegetable oils that feed the skin and beautify it. No lotions excepting floral lotions, extracts of vegetables or flowers should be used. Fresh rain water is purer and softer than distilled water for the skin.

Remember: You must start clean to build any beautiful object.

Lillian Russell's Answers.

MARGARET X. Scrubbing will not do a dark neck any good if the neck is discolored. High collars usually discolor a neck. Probably this is the cause. If you will send me an addressed stamped envelope I shall be happy to send you a bleach for your neck, also a nongreasy hand lotion for chapped hands.

BEATRICE: The electric needle is the only safe and sure remedy for superfluous hair. If the growth is heavy I would advise you to go to a reliable electrolyist and have it removed before it gets any heavier. However, if the growth is light, it can be removed by applying one-third ammonia and two thirds peroxide of hydrogen. The peroxide will bleach the hair so that it will be less noticeable and the ammonia gradually will kill the roots. This is perfectly harmless, but do not expect results too quickly, for it will take time.

PANSY: You evidently forgot to inclose the stamped, addressed envelope, so I cannot send you the formula for the hair tonic. If you will write me again inclosing the envelope I shall be glad to send it to you.

Little Quips and Quirks.

McWeeny's Personal Staff.

BY RICHARD HENRY LITTLE.

CHIEF McWEENY quite alarms us,
For if reports be true,
He has made into policemen,
All the animals in the zoo.
Things inanimate and animate,
Their names are all engraff,
With the thousands now enrolled,
On McWeeny's personal staff.

Now when you go to Lincoln park
Buy peanuts for the bear;
And feed them to him briskly,
Or he'll drag you to his lair.
Do not try to make him angry,
So that you may stand and laugh,
Or you'll find he is a member
Of McWeeny's personal staff.

If a lion from the circus
Leaps at you and bites your leg,
Do not kick him in the plexus,
But fall on your knees and beg.
Do not prod him with hot irons,
Or the keeper's cruel gaff;
For the lion may be a member
Of McWeeny's personal staff.

If a big ungainly camel
Wants to shake you for a drink,
Do not scold the mangy camel,
But just smile at him and wink.
It will take a lot of money
To pay for what he'll quaff;
But be patient with a member
Of McWeeny's personal staff.

If a big mosquito bites you
When the weather gets real hot,
Do not try to kill the skeeter
With a wall directed swat.
If you do you'll just be writing
Out in full your epitaph,
For that skeeter is a member
Of McWeeny's personal staff.

If when waiting for a street car
In a chilling, pelting rain,
Do not lift your voice in anger
And say words harsh and vain,
For that street car, which you call
A blamed old cenotaph,
Is no doubt a charter member
Of McWeeny's personal staff.

If an Illinois Central engine
Blows hot cinders down your neck,
If you upbraid the engine
You'll have trouble by the peck.
Tell the engine that it's cunning,
Hand it out a bunch of chaff,
Before it tells you it belongs
To McWeeny's personal staff.

If a Thomas cat at midnight
Tries to sing an opera air,
You may wish to hurl a bootjack,
But, I beg you, have a care.
Tell the cat the music critics
Should gives him a paragraph,
For I'll wager he's a member
Of McWeeny's personal staff.

O. K. ORGANIZATION OF NEW COUNCIL

Coughlin, Kenna, and Brennan Only Ones to Object to Committees.

BIG CROWD AT MEETING.

76 Places for Republicans, 137 for Democrats; New Men Sworn In.

With only a ripple of opposition, the new city council last night approved of the new form in organization and the new rules intended to compel committee attendance.

Ald. Coughlin, Kenna, and Brennan voted in opposition to the new regulations which will make semi-annual records of committee and council absentees. This trio and Ald. Kunz and Martin registered their protest also against committee assignments recommended by the bipartisan committee.

The meeting cleaned up a lot of odds and ends before the aldermen elected on April 2 were sworn in and the organization process began. The chamber and galleries were comfortably filled with the wives, sisters, and friends of the councilmen. It was the first time in ten years that any of the visitors' seats were vacant. Three absentees, Ald. Fisher, Twigg, and Long, marred a perfect attendance.

Thomson Gets Lipps' Place.

There were several changes made in the committee slate yesterday afternoon. The principal one was the retirement from the chairmanship of the buildings committee of Ald. Lipps. He insited the honor be given to Ald. Thomson, the only alderman in several years elected as an independent who has been assigned to boss any important committee.

All during the day considerable pressure was brought to continue Ald. Twigg as the chairman of the committee on gas, oil, and electric light. It was urged that if he was not given that plum he should be given the consolation of being selected to head the committee on schools, fire, police, and civil service.

The committee on committees refused to make the change. They decided that Geiger should be given first position on the latter committee and Cermak should be the new head of the gas, oil committee.

List of Standing Committees.

The standing committees are as follows:

FINANCE—Richert, chairman; Harding, Emerson, Reading, Cermak, Lawley, Bellfuss, Sitts, Egan, Krumholz, Lipps, Wilson, Twigg, Kearns, Ryan [34]. Dem., 9; Rep. 6.

LOCAL TRANSPORTATION—Block, chairman; Richert, Carr, Long, Schultz, Clancy, Healy, Stewart, Capitain, Lipps, Hyldahl, Twigg, Bergen, Fisher, Donahoe—Dem., 9; Rep. 6.

HARBORS, WHARVES, AND BRIDGES—Lidtke, chairman, Kenna, Ryan [4], Long, Nance, Czekala, Brennan, Geiger, Bauler, Hay, Thomson, Emerson, Holding, Hasen, Ryan [34]—Dem., 9; Rep. 6.

GAS, OIL, AND ELECTRIC LIGHT—Cermak, chairman; Bellfuss, Hay, Ryan [4], Sitts, Haderlein, Long, Walkowiak, Twigg, Block, Stewart, Janovsky, Vavricek, Bowler, Kearns. Democrats, 8; Republicans, 6.

LOCAL INDUSTRIES — Fisher, chairman; Krumholz, Krumholz, Mayer, McDonald, Pretzel, Carr, Lawley, Wilson, Klaus, Sitts, McDermott, Cullerton, Schaeffer, Bergen. Democrats, 11; Republicans, 4.

JUDICIARY, LEGISLATION, ELECTIONS, AND RULES—Donahoe, chairman; Utpatel, Kjellander, Hasen, Mayer, Walkowiak, Capitain, Toman, Helwig, Powers, Hyldahl, Bewersdorf, Pitts, Mulearney, Ahearn, Bauler, Holding. Democrats, 13; Republicans, 5.

STREETS, ALLEYS, TAXATION, STREET NOMENCLATURE—Healy, chairman; McDonald, Pretzel, Kenna, Utpatel, McDermott, Egan, Kunz, Swift, Cross, Hay, Holding, Klaus, Haderlein, Toman. Democrats, 10; Republicans, 5.

LICENSE — Ryan [34], chairman; Cermak, Burns, Norris, Ahern, Krumholz, Tearney, Utpatel, Janovsky, Cross, Bowler, Ryan [4], Vavricek, Pitts, Bradshaw. Democrats, 10; Republicans, 5.

BUILDINGS AND CITY HALL — Thomson, chairman; Klaus, Coughlin, Beweredorf, Kjellander, Tearney, Carr, Clancy, Lippe, Helwig, Walkowiak, Littler, Swift, Powers, Hyldahl. Democrats, 10; Republicans, 5.

SCHOOLS, FIRE, POLICE, CIVIL SERVICE—Martin, chairman; Geiger, Czekala, Toman, Kenna, Helwig, Burns, Harding, Block, Mayer, Vavricek, McInerney, Richert, Bewersdorf, Bradshaw. Democrats, 11; Republicans, 4.

HEALTH—Nance, chairman; Cullerton, Coughlin, Ahearn, Schaeffer, Norris, Lawley, Pretzel, McDermott, Tearney, Kunz, McInerney, Martin, Brennan, Bradshaw. Democrats, 10; Republicans, 5.

WATER — Wilson, chairman; Kunz, Burns, Coughlin, Brennan, Schaeffer, Norris, Powers, Thomson, Kjellander, Egan, Littler, Cross, Stewart, Swift. Democrats, 8; Republicans, 7.

Select Committees Named by Mayor.

The select committees appointed by the mayor are as follows:

SPECIAL PARK COMMISSION—Ald. Bellfuss, chairman; Harding, Schultz, Capitain, Bergen, Hazen, Cullerton, Haderlein, McDonald, Clancy, Martin; Oscar F. Mayer, Peter S. Goodman, Jens Jensen, F. A. Lindstrand, Samuel J. Rosenblatt, Cyril Fiala, George Landau, Paul Drzymalski, the Rev. Julius Rappaport, Charles H. Richter, Charles Bock, Francis T. Simmons, Joseph Donnersberger, William Kolacek, James B. McFatrich, Frank P. Danisch.

BATHING BEACHES—Ald. Long, chairman; Geiger, Pitts, Healy, Bowler.

COMPENSATION—Ald. Reading, chairman; Ryan [34], Bellfuss, Lipps, Harding, Krumholz.

TRACK ELEVATION—Ald. Janovsky, chairman; Fisher, Emerson, Kearns, Reading, Donahoe, Bauler, Nance, Czekala.

Division of Assignments.

In this list of 213 committee assignments the twenty-four Republicans of the council obtained seventy-six and the forty-five Democrats a total of 137. This means that sixty-three members of the council were placed on three committees each, and the remaining six received four committee assignments each. The lucky six are: Ald. W. F. Ryan and Krumholz, Democrats, and Ald. Harding, Long, Bellfuss, and Lipps, Republicans.

The chairmen of the select committees are the same as last year. Of the standing committees only five chairmen of last year continue to hold their places.

Aside from the finance committee, chief interest among the aldermen centered in the members of the new gas-oil committee. Some of them asserted that it will be controlled by the Harrison-Hearst combination, while others were equally positive that this faction of the local Democracy had lost control.

Reinberg on Education Board.

As a compliment to Ald. Peter Reinberg, who was defeated for reelection, Mayor Harrison appointed him a member of the board of education to succeed A. F. Gartz, resigned.

The text of the resolution adopted requiring attendance records of aldermen to be kept by the city clerk was printed in THE TRIBUNE yesterday. In order to make it easy for the aldermen, a fixed day and hour for each committee meeting will be agreed upon at a meeting of the chairmen, which will be called in a day or two.

Kunz objected to the attendance records. He presented a resolution instructing the finance committee to provide "punching clocks" for the chairmen. The resolution was tabled. Coughlin asked that he be relieved of all committee work.

"Then I would have a perfect attendance record," he added.

Asks Lake Obstruction Inquiry.

Ald. Reading called the attention of the council to the endangering of navigation in Lake Calumet by the Illinois Brick company, and upon a suspension of the rules got an order passed instructing Commissioner of Public Works McGann to make an immediate investigation and remove obstructions in the lake bed.

Mayor Harrison's proclamations relating to the subscription of funds for sufferers from the Titanic disaster and for the annual "clean up week" to begin April 29, were read and ordered published and filed.

Mayor Harrison vetoed two ordinances which were passed again after slight changes. The first was the measure granting a franchise for the construction of a freight terminal at Twelfth and Canal streets to the Central Terminal railway. It was vetoed because of improper language. It was reconsidered and passed after several amendments. The other ordinance was one regulating wrestling matches and empowering the mayor to revoke licenses for such entertainments. It was reconsidered and passed with slight amending.

Longenecker Files Contest.

Joel F. Longenecker, Republican candidate for alderman in the Third ward, filed notice of contest against Sl Mayer, Democrat, who was sworn in as alderman. The Republican contestant was defeated on the face of the returns by a majority of eighty-nine votes out of more than 10,000 cast. He declares ballots marked for him in twenty-eight of the forty-eight precincts were not counted or accounted for.

BALLET DANCER OF '70S DEAD.

Mrs. Mercy Rosa, Known Once Throughout Stage World as Mme. Cerito, Succumbs in Michigan.

Mrs. Mercy Rosa, known to the stage world as Mme. Cerito, famous for thirty years in the ballet, is dead in a hospital at Muskegon, Mich. She was born in Birmingham, England, 62 years ago. After an eventful career on the English stage she made her initial appearance in America at the Boston Athenium. In the late 70's Mme. Cerito traveled by stage from Cheyenne, Wyo., to Deadwood, S. D., being the first white woman in that city. Returning east, Mme. Cerito continued in ballets, while her husband managed a theater at Newark, N. J.

Then she left the stage and toured with her daughter, Patti Rosa, who died in 1894. Then Mme. Cerito moved to Spring Lake, Mich., where she continued to reside up to the time of her death.

CITY MAY ORDER ONE FARE ON "LS"

Corporation Counsel Sends Ordinance and Opinion on Issue to Council.

UPHOLDS POWER OF STATE

Holds Municipality Can Force Elevated Roads to Adopt Universal Transfers.

An ordinance providing for universal transfers on the elevated railroad lines was sent to the city council last night. The measure, together with a report from the legal department which holds that such an ordinance is valid and can be enforced by the city, was prepared by Corporation Counsel Sexton.

The measure was referred to the committee on local transportation. It provides that the payment of a single fare shall give a passenger the right to transfer from one "L" road line to any other elevated line at any transfer point, without extra charge.

Mr. Sexton denied that the present merger negotiations between the city and representatives of the elevated properties, looking toward an ordinance unifying all of the city's traction interests had anything to do with the new measure.

"I simply sent in the report and the ordinance because of a request for such information made by the city council some time ago," he said. "It is my opinion that the city has a perfect right to compel the elevated lines to give universal transfers over all connecting elevated lines under the present system of operation."

Valuation for Merger Drags.

The representatives of the city and the traction interests now are engaged in trying to agree on valuation figures for the elevated properties for merger negotiations.

The opinion, which was written by Assistant Corporation Counsel Beckwith, which upholds the city's right to demand universal transfers, says in part:

"As far as the control of the service of the elevated railroads by the city is concerned, the Supreme court would, in our opinion, hold that the city has all the powers over these railroads which it has over commercial railroads within the city, and in addition to these powers, all the powers which the city has over street railways.

"All railroads, whether street railways or commercial railroads, are public or quasi-public enterprises, and over such enterprises or business it is well settled that the state has the fullest measure of control.

Holds Syndicate Holds Companies.

"While there may be a question as to whether any line of elevated railroad running into the loop is owned, leased, or operated by another line of elevated railroad so that one company under this ordinance could be compelled to issue a transfer to a passenger desiring to ride over the lines of the other company, and whether said other company could be compelled to accept such transfer for the transportation of such passenger, yet an ordinance could be framed which would require the roads controlled by the same persons or by a syndicate to furnish and receive transfers.

"The semblance of separate corporate existence would be cut through by a court's decision and the vital question laid open as to whether the syndicate is the real beneficial owner. It seems, in accordance with a sound rule of public policy, that these corporations should not be allowed to defeat a demand for betterment in their service to the public by a subterfuge and a concealment behind a cloud of legal technicalities invented probably for the very purpose of defeating any demand for a universal transfer system."

TOMMY RYAN OFF TO TRAIN FLYNN

Former Champion Leaves for Hot Springs, Ark., to Join Camp of 'White Hope.'

COULON LOSES 3 BOUTS.

BY KNOCKOUT.

Tommy Ryan, erstwhile middleweight champion, who has figured as prominently as any of them in pugilistic history, was in Chicago yesterday. He stopped for one brief hour—just long enough to hike from one railway station to another and continue his journey. His destination is Hot Springs, Ark., where he will take charge of the training of Jim Flynn for the latter's fight with Jack Johnson on July 4 at Las Vegas, N. M.

When Ryan was the high gun in the middleweight regiment more than a decade ago, Syracuse, N. Y., claimed him for its own. Later he became a resident of Benton Harbor, Mich., Chicago, and other places, but now he makes Syracuse his home again, and it was from there that he left Sunday night for Hot Springs.

Helps Jeff Whip Corbett.

Perhaps all the world doesn't know it, but Tommy takes great pride in the part he has played in the making of ring champions. After he had given up the game himself, he "prepped" Jeffries for his fight with Corbett at Coney Island and saw Jeff knock out Corbett in twenty-three rounds. Ryan taught Jeff the crouching attitude. Now Tommy intends to make a champion out of Flynn if that is possible.

Tommy looked like the same old Tommy of years ago, and from appearances Father Time has dealt leniently with him. He is enthusiastic over the coming battle between Flynn and Johnson, and said that if Flynn had the "goods" there would be a new world's champion after July 4. Ryan thinks pretty well of the Pueblo coal passer's chances and hopes to teach him a few tricks Flynn doesn't know—tricks that could not be conceived by any other brain than that possessed by Foxy Tommy.

Coulon Loses Three Bouts.

An ill wind hit Johnny Coulon yesterday. As the result the little Logan Square bantamweight champion will not depart for New York this week as he intended to do. The clout that changed Coulon's plans came in the form of a telegram from Gil Boag, a New York promoter, who stated that three matches which were practically clinched for Johnny were off because of a change of ownership of the Madison Athletic club, which was to have staged the contests.

Boag stated that the new partners had changed all the club's plans for approaching contests, and that his efforts to swing those arranged for Coulon had failed, at least for the present. Coulon was to have met Phil McGovern, "Young" Salisbury, and another bantam.

Another telegram received by the bantam champion yesterday came from Promoter Tom Carey of Los Angeles. McCarey wanted Coulon to meet Danny Webster at the Vernon arena during Shriner's week. The weight named was 118 pounds at 10 o'clock in the morning, the fight to take place in the afternoon. Johnny wired back, "Nothing doing at that weight."

"Why, if I met Webster at those terms, he would come into the ring a featherweight," said Coulon.

JIM FLYNN AT HOT SPRINGS; MEETS J. J. CORBETT ON TRIP.

Former Champion Promises to Go Into Pueblo Man's Corner on July 4 at Las Vegas.

Hot Springs, Ark., April 22.—[Special.]—Jim Flynn, Jack Johnson's next opponent, reached Hot Springs this morning in company with Manager Jack Curley and Art Greiner.

Flynn and Curley met Jim Corbett in St. Louis Sunday night and the former champion rode with them as far as Little Rock, where he is showing this week. It was the first time Corbett had seen Flynn. After being introduced Corbett admitted that originally he did not take the match seriously, but that the Pueblo fireman made a hit with him through his seriousness and confidence.

"Flynn, I was a bigger long shot at New Orleans in 1892 than you will be at Las Vegas on July 4," said Corbett. "Even my father and my three brothers told me I was making a fool of myself in fighting John L. Sullivan. Well, I won, and won in a walk, too."

"Yes," added Flynn, "and this is a bad year for champions. Papke and Attel have been dethroned and Johnson comes next."

Corbett promised Flynn to spend at least three weeks with him at Las Vegas and to be in his corner.

Flynn now weighs 212 pounds and expects to enter the ring weighing at least 185. He will leave here on May 1 for Las Vegas.

ANDREWS BEATS HOMELAND.

Milwaukee Fighter Proves Too Fast for Chicagoan in Windup—Burns Wins from Hart.

Milwaukee, Wis., April 22.—[Special.]—Freddie Andrews of Milwaukee proved a trifle too fast for Joe Homeland of Chicago in the windup of the boxing show staged at the Eagles' club tonight. Although Homeland was the aggressor throughout, Andrews sidestepped all his rushes with ease and landed almost at will. Andrews had a shade in every round, using a left jab with a right cross or uppercut with effect. In the semi-windup Kid Burns, although outweighed, managed to outpoint Bert Hart in eight rounds. Young Krause stopped Battling Katz in four rounds while Jimmy Galvin beat Kid Whitney in the opener.

TEMPLE BESTS MATTY BALDWIN

Milwaukee Boy Has Advantage Over Boston Fighter in Bout Before New Orleans Club.

New Orleans, La., April 22.—[Special.]—Advantages of youth, height, and reach possessed by Ray Temple of Milwaukee were too well employed tonight at the Orleans Athletic club to permit the rushing, rugged veteran Boston lightweight, Matty Baldwin, to win an opportunity for a twenty round match here on May 9 against Joe Mandot. Temple's tantalizing left jabs and right hooks to the face bruised and cut his more experienced, but less shifty opponent.

"Digger" Stanley Defeats Ledoux.

LONDON, April 22.—"Digger" Stanley of London tonight beat Charles Ledoux, champion of France, for the bantam championship. Stanley won on points. The fight went twenty rounds.

PACKEY SURE HE WILL WIN

McFarland Says Britisher Hasn't a Chance to Defeat Him.

CALLS BOUT TITLE AFFAIR.

Chicago Boy Goes Into Training on Arrival in New York.

New York, April 22.—[Special.]—Comparatively few persons at the Pennsylvania station this morning recognized Packey McFarland, America's greatest 135 pound boxer, as he got off a train from Chicago, accompanied by Manager Emil Thiry and Jack McFarland, his brother, who will help him finish his training for the international glove fight with Matt Wells, the British lightweight champion, in Madison Square garden Friday night.

McFarland shook hands with several friends and then headed for a taxicab. On the way he was induced to comment on the coming battle, and this is what he said:

"Ten thousand dollars is a lot of money, and that is why I've come here to box Wells. I was anxious to have the bout decided at the Fairmont Athletic club because of my friendship for Billy Gibson, but when the Garden offered me this money Gibson generously told me to accept it.

Calls Bout Title Match.

"I regard this bout as a championship affair, even though the referee cannot give a decision. Wells is the undisputed holder of the British lightweight title. Although Wolgast is regarded as the world's lightweight champion, I dispute his right to insist upon 133 pounds ringside. Ring precedent shows that 135 pounds seven hours before ring time is the proper limit to cover a lightweight championship battle. McAuliffe, when champion, did not always insist on 133 ringside. Lavinge, who succeeded him, lost the title to Erne at 135, weighing at 3 o'clock. Erne was knocked out by Gans, the weight being 136 at 6 o'clock. Now, why shouldn't I have the right to claim the title at 135 at 3? I was able to make 133 at 3 for Wolgast last fall when the Milwaukee authorities interfered, and I don't believe you could induce him to make another match.

"Under these circumstances I maintain that I am the American lightweight champion at 135 pounds, and as such I intend to give a good account of myself in the bout with Wells. I have been anxious to box this Englishman for some time, but not in London. I would not go to London last year to box Wells, for I did not believe that I'd get a square deal. But in the Garden I am ready to succumb to Wells if he is clever enough to outpoint me. Personally I don't figure that he's got a chance, for I am in first class condition. Wells is a good boxer, I'll admit, and he may be a better one than I think he is. But he's got to show me."

Packey Jumps Into Training.

McFarland didn't lose any time in his training for the battle. Immediately upon his arrival Manager Thiry hustled his charge out to the Fairmont Athletic club, where Billy Gibson has provided training quarters for the clever Chicagoan. Packey didn't trouble himself about sparring partners, as Billy Gibson had attended to all these details. He did a little work on the road after getting off the train, and put in a lively session during the afternoon in a gymnasium.

The battle with Wells is attracting widespread interest. The management expects a packed house, as it must have the crowd to pull out ahead of the venture.

Thiry met Tim Hurst at the garden in the afternoon and signed a new set of articles in behalf of McFarland. Hurst agreed to post Packey's $10,000 guarantee with the stakeholder before the bout, whereupon William Gibson sent McFarland's $1,000 check to the man who is holding the forfeits of Wells and the club. That clinched the match with the exception of the referee question, which will be settled tomorrow. McDonald, Wells' manager, scored Thiry and McFarland after today's meeting for not posting their forfeit last Friday according to agreement.

Jack Johnson Sued for $125.

Jack Johnson, the pugilist, is named as defendant in a suit for $125 filed in the Municipal court yesterday by G. W. Sheldon & Co., custom house brokers. The plaintiffs allege that their London office packed and insured Johnson's motor car for shipment to Chicago in November, 1911. The case is returnable May 6.

This Ty Cobb Not a Hitter.

Cleveland, O., April 22.—[Special.]—In ten rounds of tame fighting Joe Coster tonight got the decision over Ty Cobb. Coster was clever on his feet and kept Cobb swinging with little effect. Cobb was the aggressor in most of the rounds, but landed few blows of consequence. Coster had a left jab that worked beautifully and he landed twice as many blows as his opponent.

Barada to Fight Fred Daniels.

St. Joseph, Mo., April 22.—Jake Barada and Freddie Daniels, lightweights, were matched today for a fifteen round bout before the Robideaux Athletic club for April 30. The boys will weigh 133 pounds at 3 o'clock.

EARLY BOWLERS SET HIGH MARKS

Goldammer Brothers Score 1,212 Pins in Doubles of State Tournament.

EDGREN NO. 2 IN SINGLES.

High marks are now holding down both of the minor events in the Illinois Bowling association tournament, Otto Goldammer and his brother Billy rolling into first place in the doubles after midnight on Sunday with a mark of 1,212, following up the great work done by Bob Ritter earlier in the same day when he shot 669 in the singles. The best effort of the players yesterday resulted in the temporary capture of second position in the singles by V. Edgren, one of the entries from the Bankers' league, his series netting him 641.

Middle Game Is High.

The Goldammers went after the pins in fine style, their middle game giving them 455 pins, of which Billy drew 252, both marks being the records for the present meet. Going into the last game the men had an even 800 pins, and looked sure of a big total. Otto proved a good finisher, while his brother also went well, although he showed the effects of stringing a big bunch of strikes in the middle game. Railroads cropped upon him in the sixth and seventh frames and then he got a five count in the ninth frame on a spare, leaving a single pin sticking when he tried to clean up the flock. Otto's games were 185, 203, and 213, while Billy drew 160, 252, and 199.

Top mark in the five men event is 2,726, landed by the Plymouths on the last shift on the drives on Sunday, the team posting 950 for its middle game for a record for the fifteenth meet. The best work on the early shift last night was done by the Zimmerman No. 2 team's 2,666, a low total in the last attack holding them back from the lead.

DEFEAT FOR ILLINOIS TEAM

Arkansas Gives First Beating in 3 Years to Downstaters.

CONTEST LOOSELY PLAYED.

Razorbacks Slaughter Three Pitchers; Score at Finish 11 to 6.

Urbana, Ill., April 22.—[Special.]—For the first time in three years Illinois was defeated at home today. Arkansas turned the trick by winning a loosely played game, 11 to 6.

Huff's squad dwindled again when Harry Weber, one of the two veterans, was taken sick. This left "Shorty" Thomas the only "I" player. Three pitchers were slaughtered by the Razorbacks, who fattened their batting averages while the Illini youngsters made some fearful bobbles. With Watts or Prindiville pitching tomorrow, a close game is expected. Score:

GOPHER STUDENTS SLAP "BIG 8"

Send Resolution to University of Minnesota Senate Asking Secession and Scholarship Standard.

Minneapolis, Minn., April 22.—Students of the University of Minnesota today signified a favorable attitude toward withdrawing from the "Big Eight" conference in a resolution submitted to the university senate, which has final power in shaping the athletic policy of the university. The vote calling for secession and maintenance of a scholarship standard as a basis for athletic eligibility was practically unanimous.

AIRMAN FLIES OVER IRISH SEA.

Corbett Wilson, English Aviator, Accomplishes Feat for First Time—Pilots in Rain and Fog.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

DUBLIN, April 22.—Corbett Wilson, an English aviator, today made the first aeroplane trip over the Irish sea. He started from Fishguard in a heavy rain and fog, and landed at Enniscorthy, which is just north of Wexford. In landing Wilson smashed the propeller of his machine. It was Wilson's intention of continuing the flight to Dublin but the heavy weather compelled him to descend.

DEFENDS LIMIT ON GOLF ENTRIES

Official Gives Reasons for Excluding "Dubs" from National Tourney.

REPLIES TO CRITICISM.

BY J. G. DAVIS.

Secretary Robert C. Watson of the United States Golf association has taken up his pen against criticism leveled at the national body for proposing to limit the entry list for the amateur championship to players possessing some claim to championship skill.

Every year the national event is burdened with a number of players who would be more useful as scorers or gallery marshals, and, with the ultimate object of making some kind of a dead line, the U. S. G. A. prepared its handicap list.

Handicap to Classy Players.

There are many players who believe the national championship should be open to every one, and this would be the ideal condition if the "dubs" had sense enough to "keep off the grass." Each year produces some irrepressibles who "rush in where angels fear to tread," and these players, who enter merely for the pleasure of competing in the medal play round, have handicapped men of championship quality.

Mr. Watson supports his case by quoting happenings in previous tournaments. Last year at Apawamis one first flight player who made his first nine holes in 38 was paired with a man who took 57 for the out journey and who remarked he had no idea he could play them in such a number. The expert kept track of his partner's play and recorded a total of 128 for the eighteen holes.

Enters Merely for Practice.

Another example given is that of a player 75 years of age who started in the qualifying round and took fourteen strokes to reach the green and four more to hole out. He explained his nerve in entering by stating that he was in a seniors' handicap to be played over the same course later on and he wanted to get a little practice over the course.

Two years ago at Brookline 214 players started, and it was impossible for all of them to finish, making it necessary for the later starters to arise at an unreasonably early hour the following morning and finish.

The Glen Oak Country club will open the season next Saturday with a guest day, to which each member is invited to bring his friends. The regular spring tournament will start May 4. George Fernie of Troon, Scotland, the new professional, has assumed his duties at the club and is assisting in the preparation of the additional nine holes to the course which the ground committee expects to have completed by June 15. Arrangements have been made with the Northwestern railroad to stop the train leaving Chicago at 12:30 at Barnard's crossing on Saturday afternoon, this point being close to the entrance to the grounds.

The Western Interscholastic Golf association will hold a meeting at the Golf shop, East Monroe street, at 3:15 this afternoon to select the courses for the individual championship and to elect new members. Evanston High school has applied for admission.

NICOL SPORT HEAD AT PURDUE.

Directors Vote to Give Coach Full Charge of All Branches of Sport.

Lafayette, Ind., April 22.—[Special.]—The board of directors of the Purdue Athletic association at a meeting tonight adopted resolutions making Athletic Director Hugh Nicol the actual head of all branches of sport at Purdue.

Nicol has been nominal head for some time, but under the new rule will have general charge of all coaching and will engage such technical assistants as he deems best.

This order gives Nicol charge of the coaching of football as well as other sports and Coach Horr will report to him. Another coach will be employed for the back field men. Director Nicol has had general charge of the business end of athletics for the last three years.

Another Cup for Pageant.

Another cup was added to the collection for pageant week events yesterday when Henry B. Clarke, vice president of the Hibernian bank, presented to the Associated Yacht and Power Boat Clubs of America a silver trophy, to be given for any event during the carnival, Aug. 10 to 17, that the committee sees fit. This trophy, the tenth donated in the last few weeks, swells the list to nearly $40,000.

AUTO TRADESMEN PLAN WAGON SHOW

Agree Upon Week Starting Aug. 24 as Tentative Date for Exhibit.

MAY POSTPONE OPENING.

BY REED L. PARKER.

Power wagon dealers will have an opportunity to show the relative merits of their commodities at a late summer show to be held under the auspices of the Chicago Automobile Trade association. This was decided at a meeting of the commercial car section of the Chicago Automobile Trade association.

The tentative date agreed upon is the week beginning Aug. 24. The opening day may be changed, as it interferes with the Elgin road races, which are scheduled to close on the 24th.

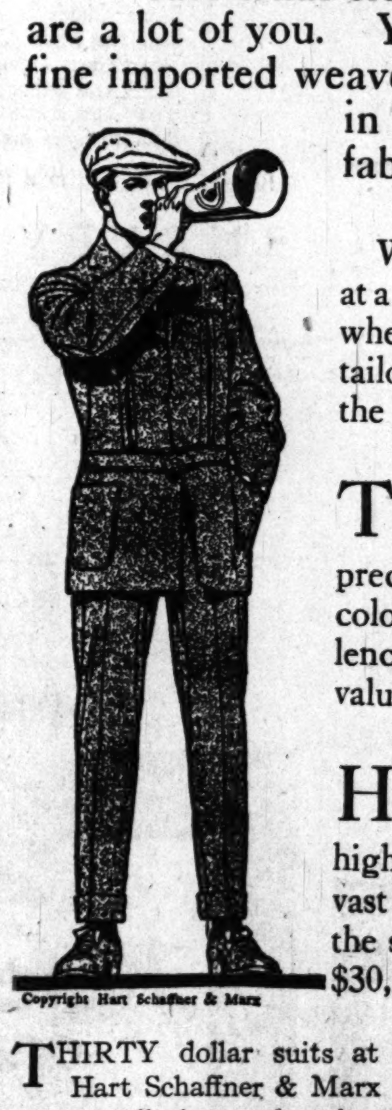
Frank A. Groves, chairman of the committee, is anxious to hold the show in Grant park. It is necessary to get the permission of the south park commissioners to use this site. Formal application for sanction will be made within a few days.

Novelties will feature the show, if plans suggested yesterday are carried out. Walter Wardrop, prominent in motor vehicle circles, suggested that competitive experiments would be more attractive, and his ideas met with approval. It was decided to have climbing stunts on an artificial hill, brake tests, loading competitions, etc.

If manufacturers expect to delay the date for closing entries for the 500 mile sweepstakes at Indianapolis by withholding their entries, they are mistaken. Carl Fisher, president of the speedway, said yesterday that the lists positively would close on May 1. It has been understood that the card would be kept open until May 15. Mr. Fisher, however, insists that he will stand pat on the first date. Twenty cars already have been entered, and Mr. Fisher's statement is expected to bring the full complement of thirty within the week. The race is assured, however, even if no more entries are received, according to the promoters.

Barney Oldfield will pilot a Fiat at Santa Monica, according to word received here. He denies rumors that he will unite with Bob Burman in a "wildcat" tour. Barney also insists that he is too independent in means to risk life or limb in pursuit of speed records.

YOU may be one of the men who don't care what clothes cost, if they're worth it; there are a lot of you. You're the men we get these very fine imported weaves for; the richest fabrics we can find in England and Scotland; perfection in fabrics if there is such a thing.



We'll show you some suits and overcoats here at a special price of $35 that you can't match anywhere else, not even your $60 and $75 custom tailor. 1912 importations, perfectly tailored, in the best styles; wonderful values at $35.

THERE'S no doubt that our 4th floor for young men is a place the young fellows appreciate. The new lively styles, the "fetching" colors and patterns, the general all around excellence of these young clothes are unmistakable. The values are extreme; $15, $18, $20, $25, $30, $35.

HART SCHAFFNER & MARX special M-L-R made suits and overcoats are always highly favored by careful dressers. We have a vast assortment of new and beautiful weaves; the styles are fresh and smart; $15, $18, $20, $25, $30, $35, $40.

THIRTY dollar suits at $20; that's something worth taking notice of. Hart Schaffner & Marx M-L-R made goods; a great array of choice new weaves; all the good styles, and sizes to fit any sort of figure. Out-of-town customers may have samples of goods on request, with style book and measurement sheet. We ship free anywhere in the United States; we get it back at our expense if it isn't right; $30 suits at $20.

CUBS LOSE A DAY, BUT GAIN HURLER

Southpaw Moroney, Late of Detroit, Added to Chance's Large Slab Staff.

TWIRLER RATED A COMER

Defeated Athletics Twice in 1910 Spring Series While Member of Phillies.

BY I. E. SANBORN.

While Cubs and Pirates were kept apart by wet grounds yesterday, President Murphy and Manager Chance signed a left handed pitcher to add to their already congested slab staff. He is James F. Moroney, F. A. (condensation for free agent).

Moroney has just been released by the Detroit club, with which he made the spring training trip, and was under consideration for the Cubs last fall. Charley Carr, who managed the Utica club, with which Moroney finished the season of 1911, recommended Moroney to the Cub magnate as being a better southpaw than Jimmy Nagle, whom the Cubs obtained indirectly from Syracuse, in the same league with Utica. Carr said Moroney had insisted on a nonreserve contract with Utica, consequently was a free agent.

After attempting to do business with Moroney last winter President Murphy passed him up and the Detroit club signed him. As soon as he received notice of his release from Detroit Moroney notified President Murphy and came here yesterday. After a conference, in which Manager Chance was included, the young southpaw signed a Cub contract and will get a tryout.

Another "Tall and Rangy" Specimen.

Moroney is of the tall and rangy species, and first attracted attention in the spring of 1911, when he was on the staff of the Phillies, and pitched a couple of games against the Athletics in the spring series, winning both of them. He was let out, however, by Manager Dooin, and gravitated to Utica. This spring he pitched five innings against the Cincinnati team, while with Detroit, and got away with only one hit against him. Manager Chance thinks if the youngster can repeat that performance over the long route against the Reds he is worthy of a place on the staff, if far that purpose only.

The rain of yesterday morning put the west side grounds out of commission and compelled postponing the second game of the series with the Pirates. It was decided to play it off on Sept. 4, when the Pirates had an open date booked to allow a jump from Knoxetown to St. Louis. They will make the jump by way of Chicago and stop off to dispose of the hangover game. The ball yard was too soft even for practice and the players of the two teams spent the day in citizens' clothes.

More Insurance for O'Toole.

Marty O'Toole, the much advertised dollar win pitcher, was not idle. He signed up for a $10,000 life insurance policy, and plans to increase that figure if he "makes good." Already there is a higher price on O'Toole's life than on that of any other athlete of note. Barney Dreyfuss, his master, took out a $25,000 policy on O'Toole's life last fall to protect himself against loss of the investment made in the young Bostonian's ability. The Pittsburgh club pays those premiums and no benefit accrues to the pitcher from them, so he decided to take out a policy of his own.

Elmer Peirce, the former American association catcher and coach of the University of Wisconsin nine, was the persuasive person who convinced O'Toole that his life was valuable to other people besides Dreyfuss and induced Marty to invest part of his salary checks in a policy. The pitcher promised to add to it on his next visit to Chicago. Peirce caught O'Toole in St. Paul during the season of 1910, when O'Toole was coming in and Peirce was going out.

The May moving fever has caught President Johnson of the American league, and the first of the month will find the league's offices installed in a new suite. The American league executive can not be tempted away from the Fisher building, where the league was born, but plans to rise in the world. Consequently the offices will be moved two stories higher in the building, from suite 1300 to suite 1510.

College of Hawaii Nine to Meet Page's Men Tomorrow—Penn Relay Tryouts Postponed.

Chinese baseball players representing the college of Hawaii at Honolulu, who are touring the United States, will meet Coach Page's charges of the University of Chicago at Marshall field tomorrow. The visitors, who are disappointed with Chicago weather, will be given the courtesy of the Maroon diamond for practice this morning. The Chinese nine will make a tour of the east before returning home.

Coach Stagg decided last night to postpone the tryout for the Penn relay races scheduled for this afternoon and it is possible he will select the same team that represented Chicago at Des Moines last Saturday to go to Philadelphia.

Without disfigurement or loss of shape,
We'll 'gin to think that maybe after all
They're really wonders at this game of ball.
But Cleveland—that's where they are wont to blow
And play like mutts, forgetting all they know.

It may be—well at least we'll dare to hope—
This year of grace will contradict the dope;
That of that tribe they will not be in awe,
Nor stand and take it meekly in the jaw.
We've seen them oft humiliate the Macks
And then from pesky Cleveland get the ax.

If that pons asinorum they can cross,
Or even make the series hoss and hoss,
We will with thier mad worshipers agree
That they've a chance to finish one, two, three;
But if that Cleveland spell they cannot shake
We'll mark the falling spirits in The Wake.

NIK TESLA.

Last summer when both pitchers were pitching in the American association and Barney Dreyfus had not separated himself from that "kink's ransom," Chooey Fullerton prophesied within our hearing that this Lawrence Cheney would prove a more important big league discovery than Marty O'Toole. Chooey really could not see O'Toole ranged alongside of Cheney. We graciously recall this now when Cheney looks like the gig they are paying off on.

It is seldom in the cut throat field of expecting that a prophecy is recalled except to gloatingly refer to it as a bad guess, but here in this corral of conscientiousness we like to add proof to the rule by pointing out the exceptions.

Would YOU prefer to be embalmed in ice
To sticking with the quick at such a price?

Easy Steve has a little 2 to 1 that Nell accepts weight in the Dawson handicap directly the list is announced.

Possibly Hughey Jennings is just conceited enough to suppose that he can do more with Bill Burns than any other manager who has ever tried to keep house with the temperamental southpaw.

Charley Foster of Louisville comes to town with the usual cordial invitation to attend the Kentucky Derby, the greatest "American classic" in point of age and continuous running.

Too Bad, Too Bad.

Did you ask me if I got the season ducat
To the games out at the west side orchard, what?
Well, if 'twas sent, then somebody has took it—
I have nothing to admit me to that lot.
I am still the little mascot, and, believe me,
My loyalty to those Cubs still remains.
To have to pay my way doth sorely grieve me,
For I only get invited when it rains.

JEAN FOREST.

Just as Jack Johnson is beginning to inspire new interest as a prize fighter are we to be disquieted with another outbreak of his sordid domestic affairs?

We don't look for Packey McFarland to get the better of any "hair line decision" even fighting an Englishman—in New York. Covent Garden is sentimentally nearer to Madison Square than Halsted street is, you know.

They are gathering about Jim Flynn an atmosphere that may have the effect of sending him into the ring at a shorter price than was laid against Johnson in the Jeffries mill. The coal passer has in Tommy Ryan a smart a campaign manager as ever has had to do with the shaping of prize fighters. If there's any way a good little 'un can lick a good big 'un Ryan will have discovered it by July 4. It is not likely that Johnson will have anybody about him who knows as much as himself.

WHITE SOX READY TO ATTACK NAPS

First Battle at Cleveland Today Figured Hard Proposition by Callahan.

OHIOANS ALWAYS 'TOUGH'

Walsh and Scott Only Hurlers of Staff Working in Form; Showers Keep Men Indoors.

BY SAM WELLER.

Cleveland, O., April 22.—[Special.]—After conquering the Browns twice and drawing with them once in the three battles at St. Louis the proud White Sox arrived in Cleveland shortly after noon today and prepared to attack the barracks of the swarthy Naps tomorrow. The preparation consisted of repose.

It was a showery afternoon and few of the athletes ventured out of the hotel, most of them preferring to sleep a bit to make up for loss of rest on the long ride from the Mound city. Manager Callahan has nineteen warriors here and expects to need every one of them before this series is over.

It will be remembered that during the latter part of last season the Cleveland club was the hardest one in the league for the Sox to beat. Had it not been for the prowess of the Naps the Sox might have landed in third position. Cleveland has practically the same team this year. George Stovall is gone and a youngster is working on first base, while Harry Davis, formerly of Connie Mack's world champions, is boss of the team.

"Naps Tough Foe."—Callahan.

Manager Davis has started off well, and when the Sox and Naps begin the fight tomorrow they will be tied for third place in the league. On the train coming here Manager Callahan remarked that he thought the present series would have much to do in determining where the White Sox would finish next fall.

"Cleveland was a tough opponent for us last year," Callahan said, "and it looks like a stronger team this spring. I expect it to be up in the fight, and if we are going to be up there we'll have to beat Cleveland. Much depends on the outcome of this first series. If we can give the Naps a beating this time it will have effect all season, and I really believe if we beat them out we'll be up as good as second in October."

On arriving here the first thing the Sox heard was that Joe Jackson had been injured in the Sunday game, would not be able to play in the first game, and might not take part in any of the four. Jackson was hit on the throwing arm by a pitched ball, and, while not seriously injured, he is unable at present to throw. Jackson is going at a terrific pace, and his absence takes away a large portion of the Naps' offense. His place will be filled by Birmingham, the outfielder with the great throwing arm. The latter, however, is not so dangerous with the bat.

Only Two Sox Hurlers in Form.

Callahan is a bit disappointed because more of his pitchers are not going according to form. Only Walsh and Scott seem perfectly fit for duty, and if he had another to take a regular turn it would help greatly. He had expected to have Walsh ready to open the series here and figured that the Sox would grab the first game and get away in front. Then he would take a chance on White or Lange for the second and have Jim Scott ready for the third. If all went over he could take a chance with Peters for the final.

But the hope was upset when Peters failed to stand up in the last St. Louis game. Walsh had to be called to his rescue, pitching the last four innings, and that was enough to spoil him for the opening game here. Cal figures Scott ought to have one more day anyway before working after his tough fifteen inning contest of Saturday, so it looks as if the manager will have to depend on White or Lange for the first game. If lost, it would put the Sox on the defensive for the entire series.

The fault with Peters on Sunday, according to Jimmy Block, was that he was too good. At least that's the way Block put it, and what he meant was that "Pete" couldn't keep the ball out of the groove. Block declares the youngster had a corking break on his "spitter" and also on the fadeaway. Then he had a curve with a sharp hook to it and everything he threw cut the middle of the plate. If he had been able to keep the entire assortment on the edge of the pan, Block thinks the Browns couldn't have made a foul off him all afternoon.

The young pitcher was a bit blue over being dragged out, but Ed Walsh shook hands with him and told him not to worry as long as he had the "stuff" on the ball. Callahan, too, hated to yank Peters from the game, but the Sox had a lead of three runs at the time, and "Pete" had allowed a couple of men go get on the bases and seemed a bit confused. Callahan figured it would be wise to replace him with Walsh and make sure of the game, for a victory over the Browns counts for just as much as one over the world's champions in the end.

Bill Lange has no more trouble with his arm, but he hasn't perfect control of the ball yet, and seems to need more time. Doc White is willing to work at any time, but is not at his best by any means, and Callahan wishes to use him as little as possible in the early games, figuring that then the veteran southpaw will be strong for the last half of the year. Young Mogridge is the only other pitcher with the club and is anxious for a chance to start a game, but so far his duty has been to pitch to the boys before each game for their batting practice.

'TRY-OUTS' FOR OLYMPIC GAMES

American Committee Announces Dates for Trials for Shooters, Wrestlers, Cyclists, and Walkers.

New York, April 22.—The executive committee of the American Olympic committee announced today further dates for tryouts in several contests. General trial for the selection of the American rifle team will be made at the United States marine corps rifle range at Winthrop, Md., May 16, 17, and 18. The twenty-five high men will be given a final trial on May 20.

Wrestling trials, Grasco-Roman style, will be held in Chicago, May 15, and trials for the cycle team at Newark, May 26. Preliminary trials for the latter team will be held in St. Louis, Chicago, Boston, Buffalo, and New York.

Trials for the 10,000 meter walk will be held at the New York A. C. games at Travers Island, N. Y., on June 1. The swimming team, it is stated, will be selected in open water in New York, probably early in June. The committee has decided against entering a team of women swimmers.

Douglass to Coach Michigan.

Detroit, Mich., April 22.—[Special.]—Former Half Back Douglass of the Michigan varsity eleven has been appointed assistant coach in all departments at the university.

CLEAR DECKS FOR 'SEMI-PRO' GAMES

All Local Clubs to Throw Parks Open to Fans Next Sunday.

MANY CONTESTS BOOKED.

Rogers Park to Play West Ends at North Side Grounds; Giants Tackle U. S. Leaguers.

All local semipro baseball parks will be opened next Sunday for the first time this year, according to the schedule of games arranged at last night's meeting of the Intercity Baseball association at 234 North Clark street.

The last park to throw its hat into the ring is Rogers park, where the West Ends will appear as the visiting attraction. President Harry Gibbons and other officers of the north side club will attend the opening.

"Rube" Foster's American Giants will face Bert Kesley's United States leaguers in the last game the local club will play before it starts its league round, while Gunther park will entertain the Gunthers and Welch's Spaldings. Games for Sunday follow:

Spaldings at Gunther park.

HONOR FOR VETERAN ATHLETE.

H. E. Buermeyer of New York to Be Invited to Stockholm by American Olympic Committee.

New York, April 22.—Harry E. Buermeyer, "father of track athletics in America," will be honored by the American Olympic committee with an invitation to go to Stockholm on the Finland as the guest of the committee. The invitation is indorsed by the American officials as "a fitting testimonial to Mr. Buermeyer's position and work for amateur athletics in America."

Title Shoot Set for Sunday.

The Chicago Gun club will hold a registered tournament next Saturday and Sunday at the club's grounds. A championship match will be staged on Sunday, when F. R. Graham and R. W. Cluney, holders of the world's two men team championship, will defend their title against W. A. Davis and A. F. MacLachlan.

REVEAL THE BACKERS.

The insistence that there shall be publicity in political campaigns to show the amount of money raised and expended and the names of the men who contribute to the funds of candidates is based on a desire for two things. One is to prevent the use of money in a fashion which would threaten the purity of elections and the other is to discover what interests want certain men elected.

When a candidate's backing has been discovered a good deal is known about the candidate himself. There are few pieces of information which can be made more valuable to the voter than this. A photograph of the backers is a fair picture of the candidate.

There are publicity laws now. In part they serve their purpose and in part they do not. When these protective devices have been brought to their highest state of utility they will provide for full publicity all along the line for all candidates in all elections. And the laws will be so drawn that to evade them will be to invite severe punishment. Then the people will know just what men and what interests are back of candidates, and they will be equipped to enter the polling places.

NO MOTH BALLS FOR GEORGE.

It is reported that when our distinguished Jeffersonian, Mr. George Brennan, was making his way to the platform to address the exultant Democracy assembled in state convention, some one handed him a number of moth balls, which he took under the misapprehension that they were candy balls. Our distinguished Jeffersonian is reported to have put one in his mouth, no doubt thinking thereby to add sweetness to his words of eloquence as he discussed the questions of the day.

Whatever may have been his hope, it is reported that George found his tongue blockaded by puckers and was not able to talk at all. Passing over the moral aspects of this attempt to extinguish a living tongue of eloquence, we desire merely to say that if it were the intention of the person who handed George this bitterness to suggest that George's political methods should be wrapped up in moth balls and put away he was never more in error in his life.

So long as the Jeffersonians in both factions of the Democratic party have the running of it there will be no moth balls for George. His art and skill are as much in demand today as they were eight years ago when what was done in the Democratic state convention caused William Jennings Bryan to shed tears in the national convention.

Nothing that happened in Peoria Friday leads to the belief that George and what George does when occasion requires are ready for the moth balls.

TWO IMPORTANT INQUIRIES.

Prof. Irving Fisher's timely proposal for an international inquiry into the high cost of living, discussed by THE TRIBUNE when made, was embodied in a bill and introduced by Senator Crawford of South Dakota. This measure was recommended unanimously by the senate committee on foreign relations and passed by the senate.

It is to be hoped the house will act as favorably upon the bill, which is neither partisan nor controversial. It provides for an authoritative investigation and discussion of world wide scope which unquestionably will bring substantial results both to economic science and to international economic relations.

Another commission which should not fail to be authorized, with proper provision, is that upon industrial conditions. This was proposed by Miss Addams, Dr. Devine, and a large committee of influential sociologists, publicists, and social workers, and unquestionably would lay the foundations for more coherent and consistent public opinion upon our closely related industrial and social problems.

The industrial commission bill was introduced in the senate by Senator Borah, No. 5546, and is now in the committee on education and labor. In the house it is No. 21094, introduced by Congressman Hughes, and is in the hands of the committee on labor, Congressman William B. Wilson of Pennsylvania chairman.

Both of these commissions have the approval of the president, and congress, in spite of the distractions of an exceptionally distracting campaign, should give them statesmanly consideration. That would insure the establishment of both commissions.

WITH THE RIGHT HAND FREE.

We are prepared to admit error whenever challenged in the following theories and advance them timidly and merely as suggestions. Thus protected by meekness and humility we hazard the statement that women are coming to be left handed bundle carriers. It is an evolution adjusting woman to her surroundings.

Naturally a woman carried her packages or held her skirts with her right hand. We are reasonably certain of the truth of the first statement and willing to risk the second. With the right hand thus occupied, she used the left in grasping the rail of a street car and alighted backwards from the platform. Whether this act had disastrous consequences or not depended on whether or not the car had come to a full stop.

Continual preaching on the folly of defying momentum in this fashion had some effect in teaching the woman to keep her right hand free and have it for use in getting off cars. Then the short street skirt came and it needed no management. Bundles were shifted to the left hand and women now board cars and alight from them with an agility and security which would be impossible for a man to display or enjoy if he were wrapped in skirts.

The left handed bundle carrier is woman adjusting herself to conditions.

IN MEMORIAM.

But what this unspeakable catastrophe reveals above all is the sublime disinterestedness of a race which has shown to what point its conception of manhood helps it to resist the temptations of self-preservation to which man naturally is addicted.

The Titanic may have represented the embodiment of civilization, but it was feeble and precarious beside the heroism demonstrated before destiny.

This is the tribute of a French writer in the Temps. The same thought has been worded countless times in the last week in English, gratefully and thankfully; gratefully and thankfully because we feel that there was something that arose triumphantly as the Titanic sank.

Sermons have been preached about it, much has been written about it. Men and women have spoken of it with a sense of spiritual exaltation. It was a fine thing, the courage and sacrifice which illuminate nearly every story of the Titanic. It was something given to generations of Americans and English as a heritage.

When a thing braces a nation it has the elements of sublimity. It may be doubted that all was heroism, courage, and self-sacrifice on the sinking ship, but these qualities were conspicuous and the men and women whose acts now are gratefully spoken of deserve to live in the nation's memory.

America would only show its appreciation of high ideals of human conduct if it built a memorial to the people who went down with the Titanic, to the dead of that disaster, to Archibald Butt, to Isidor Straus and his wife, to Benjamin Guggenheim, to John Jacob Astor, to William H. Stead, to Jacques Futrelle, to the conspicuous and the inconspicuous dead, to the passengers and the officers and men of the ship.

A memorial, a shaft with their names on it, should stand at the entrance of New York harbor, where every ship that puts out to sea may receive its inspiring message of courage, discipline, and sacrifice, and every incoming soul may breathe a prayer of gratitude.

Already the conduct of those who went down with the Titanic is a matter of last week's news. The disaster made a terrifying impression on the nation, but not an indelible one. The acts of its passengers and its crew were too fine, too valuable to the nations which furnished the men and women, to be allowed to pass forgotten.

The nation should give its appreciation lasting form for other generations to see and know how such self-discipline and high courage are esteemed.

We do this for men who fall in war. Thermopylæ sent no higher message than the Titanic.

THE SPREADING REVOLT.

From Pennsylvania in the east to Oregon in the west the people are taking charge of the Republican party again. It is a spreading revolt against the Bourbon princes. They were fat and contented, but are now in flight.

It is a healthy revolt of men whose patience has been tried and who have become utterly weary of such leadership as has been given them. They were disgusted with McKinley, Cannon, and Lorimer in Illinois; with Penrose in Pennsylvania. They are overturning the princes in West Virginia, in Nebraska, in Kansas.

The revolt spreads and it will not be checked.

MISS FOLA LA FOLLETTE scored heavily for woman suffrage when she asked her audience if Jane Addams as a senator wouldn't be an improvement on Lorimer.

THERE is some betting, we understand, on the proposition that Dawson, '11, will marry Nell Courtright before Dashleigh Northshore, Esq., catches that Evanston avenue car.

"GOD might have made a better man than Archie Butt," says the Washington Herald, "but He never did." It is worth while to have lived if men can say such things as that about you when you die.

JUDGE OWENS now thinks "it would be unwise" for him to "mix up in factional strife." It was, judge; it was!

APPARENTLY the correspondents continue to hold rigidly to the opinion that "tornado" does not sound so terrifying and destructive as "cyclone."

IT is surprising to see how much rust a lawn mower can accumulate during a six months' vacation.

TO PREVENT INSANITY.

DR. BAYARD HOLMES says one person out of each 400 is insane before he dies; that there are 150,000 insane in hospitals in the United States, and their maintenance costs the different governments $50,000,000 a year.

When a man stands one chance in 400 of getting something he does not want, it is time for him to sit up and take notice. Thanks to the west side branch of the Chicago Medical society and its president, Dr. Mefford, a convention to discuss the causes of insanity has just been held and another has been planned for next year.

A great deal is known about the causes of insanity and how it can be prevented, but those who have this information are off to themselves, and those liable to go insane do not know of the means of prevention. The men having the information are stuck off in corners running asylums to care for the insane. The people who will go crazy unless something can be changed are working in offices, factories, and on farms, caring for children or loafing in red light districts. The state, which spends millions to care for the insane, has much valuable information in the records of its asylums, in the knowledge of the asylum officers. Some of the people of the state are losing their minds because they do not get and do not apply the information which is not "working at its trade."

The object of these conventions is that of a railroad—to get producers and consumers together, to get the information of those who know how to prevent insanity to those who do not want to go insane, to devise means of popularizing information of the causes of insanity.

Because a man is born of an erratic, neurasthenic or hysteric stock is no reason why he should go insane. It is a reason why he should work harder to control himself. Because a woman is goiterous is an additional reason why she should work out a program of mental poise. Because a man has had syphilis, he should not drift helplessly into insanity. It should be the reason for shaping a career to avoid it. If a man who takes whisky, morphine, or cocaine goes "batty," he should find in that a reason for cutting out dopes and not a reason for taking more. Many times keeping on one's mental keel is a matter of knowing how and then "living it"—two separate things.

How can it be made possible for every one interested to "know how?"

CURE OF SCARLET FEVER.

H. M. B. of St. Louis writes us advocating the use of almost continuous hot baths in the treatment of scarlet fever. He illustrated its benefit by relating many severe cases, some in his own family, which rapidly improved and subsequently recovered following the repeated use of hot baths. The baths are given as hot as the hand can bear. He concludes by asking how can a better, surer treatment be devised?

REPLY.

Hot baths in scarlet fever will be of great service. It will remain one of the best agents until the scarlet fever germ is discovered and some form of specific treatment is worked out. That will be a better way—it is not yet in sight.

BROKEN ARCH REMEDY.

Mrs. O. B. wants to know if tight shoes break down the arch. What can be done for a broken arch?

REPLY.

The important arch is the instep arch. In the natural arrangement the heel carries the weight. If the shoe heels are high, the weight pitches forward to the ball of the foot. If the ball can spread out this shifting of the weight is taken care of; if the shoe pinches it is not so easily cared for.

If the toes are pushed, distorted, and pinched around, the arch is endangered; first, because in any arch, if any of the elements, even those at the ends, are displaced or changed, the arch is weakened; second, because good muscles in the foot are necessary for a strong arch, and many of the foot muscles have as their work the moving of the toes. When the toes, perpetually unused, become useless, the muscles which work the toes also go out of business.

The remedy: Build up the general muscle system by exercise. Build up the foot and leg muscles by exercise. Wear shoes which are "easy in the toes" and support the instep.

EPILEPSY RARELY CURABLE.

L. M. wants to know if epilepsy is a curable disease. What can be done with an epileptic? Are epileptics insane?

REPLY.

As a general statement, epilepsy is incurable. There are some exceptions. But many epileptics, by keeping in good physical and mental condition, can cause their attacks to come at long intervals and the progress of the disease to be slow.

On the physical side constipation is to be avoided. On the mental side paroxysms of emotion, such as anger, grief, and melancholy are to be refrained from.

Most epileptics are useful members of society for the first ten years of their disorder, but attacks and the conditions which lead up to them are very wearing on the brain substance. In time the central nervous tissue is worn down and the epileptic becomes of poor judgment from over emotionalism, or insane, or demented, with a brain prematurely old—senile.

Careful living and, particularly, good control of the mind decrease the frequency of attacks and spare the brain some unnecessary wear. Some states have colonies for epileptics. In those epileptics get on best in these colonies. Other states have no provision for them.

AVOIDING TYPHOID GERMS.

Drummer writes: "What am I, a traveling man, to do to be sure of avoiding typhoid? I'm afraid of that disease, but traveling constantly I cannot boil the water I drink or guard against the carelessness of cooks and waitresses in the hotels."

REPLY.

Get vaccinated against it. If you are from Wisconsin, the state board of health will furnish the serum. In any event your physician can get it for you.

CONSULT PHYSICIAN AT ONCE.

E. D. writes: I am a young girl 5 feet, 7 inches tall and weigh 100 pounds. I do not suffer but every morning I have temperature of 100 degrees and every afternoon I have a chill, but have fever 101 or 102 degrees with it. Would it be advisable to consult a physician with just these symptoms when I do not feel sick otherwise?"

REPLY.

By all means, consult a physician at once.

IT WILL be remembered by students of history that Napoleon I., when in Prussia as a conqueror, visited Potsdam, with the intention of removing from the grave of Frederick the Great the sword of that king, and sending to Paris this priceless relic. But there is a legend to the effect that Napoleon never committed the purposed desecration, for the very simple reason that when the emperor went to the tomb the sword was not there, and that the one he sent to Paris to be hung up in the Palace des Invalides, was a weapon removed by him from a "panoply of arms" that ornamented the apartment which had been the bedroom of Frederick the Great in his palace at Potsdam, this room having been religiously preserved, as far as possible, in the state in which he had left it.

As to the sword that had been placed on the grave of Frederick the Great, and had been worn by that king for half a century, the one Napoleon had sought, he, when questioned later, swore he had never touched it, had never seen it, adding grandiloquently that "his own scepter and sword were sufficient for his glory, without his stealing another man's." For years this sword of Frederick the Great was lost sight of, but in 1825 it mysteriously reappeared among the royal regalia of Prussia without any one knowing where it had come from.

Another famous sword which strangely dropped out of sight was that of Suleiman the Magnificent. It was prized as one of the most valuable relics of the Turkish treasury. During the reign of Sultan Abdul Hamid it suddenly vanished, and a story became current to the effect that it had been given by the sultan to his friend and favorite, Tahir Pasha, just before the Young Turks deposed their padishah.

The sword of Suleiman was regarded by the Old Turks with awe and veneration, as a wonder working relic, and the story concerning Tahir Pasha reached the ears of the police, who, after the deposition of the sultan, began an investigation and questioned Tahir. The latter answered with apparent candor that the sword had been by order of Abdul Hamid buried in a subterranean passage of the Yildiz Kiosk, but that he had entirely forgotten the place in that labyrinth where it had been hidden. After a long search had been made by the constitutional government which had supplanted Abdul Hamid to find the missing sword in the underground regions of the palace, the attempt to trace it was abandoned. Recently, however, the minister of war received an anonymous letter declaring that the famous sword was undoubtedly in the possession of Tahir Pasha, and that he had tried to dispose of it to curio dealers in Paris, London and other capitals.

These two vanished swords recall to my mind the curious case of the mysterious disappearance of the dagger of Catherine the Great of Russia. Countess Moritz Potoska valued above all her other wonderful possessions a dagger surmounted by an enormous sapphire, which had once belonged to the great Russian ruler. The countess, who at the age of 73 still retained a marvelous beauty that was so unimpaired by years that young men as well as their elders fell in love with her at a glance, to her great merriment and amusement, was a Russian by birth and a Pole by marriage.

Her husband was one of the greatest sportsmen that that country has ever produced. They lived most of the year in their castle in Austrian Poland, not far from Wadowitz, which is close to the Russian frontier. There they entertained lavishly during seven months out of every twelve, receiving their Austrian and Russian friends, as well as the Polish connections and acquaintances of the count.

In 1876 or 1877—I forget exactly which, though I remember that it was during the hunting season—they gave a fancy dress dinner of about forty covers, every one of the guests being old and valued friends of both the count and countess. She herself was magnificently attired in the style of Catherine the Great, wearing a quantity of superb jewels, and thrust through her belt of diamonds, a little curved dagger, surmounted by the priceless sapphire above mentioned, and which had belonged to the Russian empress, whom she was personating for the evening.

After rising from the table the whole company passed into the central hall, where coffee and liqueurs were awaiting them. Standing in front of one of the huge fireplaces, where whole logs were blazing, as is the custom in great forest lands, the countess, who was very tall, made so glorious a picture in her flashing jewels and gorgeous costume, by the brilliant light of the fire, that one of the gentlemen approached and, bending the knee, kissed her hand, saluting her as the most imperial figure he had ever seen, adding that for her to assume any other character than her own to represent imperial dignity and grandeur was entirely superfluous. In playful rejoinder the countess slipped from her belt the famous dagger and, brandishing it over her head, exclaimed, in a mock heroic tone: "Now I will slay you for your lack of respect for one of the greatest rulers of my own beloved country."

At that instant, as she flourished the exquisite little weapon, it flew from her hand and shot clear across the room, making no sound as it fell against the arras, with which the walls were covered. Instantly the guests, half laughing and half serious, rushed to pick up the precious ornament for their hostess, each man hoping to be the first to reach it and to have the privilege of restoring it to her. But not one of them could find it, although a most diligent search was made. Disappointed and convinced that they could do no more, the major domo and the custodians of the extraordinary art collections—the count was known throughout Europe as possessing some of the finest porcelain and ivory enamels, antiques, etc.—were called in to supplement the efforts of the guests in their hunt. They, too, failed to discover where the missing object had fallen. Even when reinforced by the local military police, when the tapestries, the pictures, and all the furniture of that hall were removed, the dagger could not be found, and to this day it has not been seen again.

Strangely enough, a series of misfortunes overtook the, until then, so perfectly happy and serene couple. Their eldest son, who was an officer of Austrian chausseurs, nearly died from the smallpox caught from his men, and was disfigured for life, while his young wife, after the birth of her baby—it was her first and only one—went violently insane, and had to be put under close restraint for the rest of her life. The count and countess themselves, suddenly losing their amazing appearance of youth, became a broken and despairing couple.

CONSIDERING the Sixth Symphony of Tschaikowsky, the esteemed Post asserts that "the composer undoubtedly intended that it should have a devastating effect upon the blithe spirits of its hearers," and "for many years it did have such an effect." Very well. Our contention is that the devastation was wrought, not by the music, but by the programme notes and a knowledge of the tragical life of the composer.

WHEN the symphony is begun the sentimentalist is prepared to be desolated, and the extent of his desolation depends on the extent of his esthetic education. The only ideas that music can convey are musical ideas. The sentimentalist mistakes harmonic intervals and kettledrums for grief and gloom.

SYMPHONIES are not poured out on paper in a tumult of grief or exaltation. They are put together as deliberately and painstakingly as any other kind of mosaic. All the composer has to work with are sound and motion, and these cannot convey definite ideas.

The Poet.

[James Hart in the Bloomington Bulletin.]

The poet, from all other men apart,
Gives voice to the emotions of the heart;
Yet not in rounded phrases does he deal,
But to true sentiment he makes appeal;
Content to work and dream among the poor,
Life's sordid pursuits have for him no lure;
Secluded from the crowded haunts he lives,
And to the muses his devotion gives.

Though he may be a simple village bard,
A stranger to the outside world's regard,
How happily he spends the golden hours,
In close communion with the birds and flowers;
Guiding a plow, or taking herds to graze,
For homely folk he sings his homely lays;
In his rough hands the lyre he gently takes,
And what exquisite harmonies he wakes!

DIFFERENCE IN VALUES.

Chicago, April 16.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Kindly explain through the columns of your paper why the board of assessors value my property more than the adjoining property, having the same frontage and depth as mine, with improvements greater than mine, at $9,550, while the above mentioned property is valued at $9,250.

When I built my frame house twenty-five years ago, it cost me $3,200, with subsequent improvements of $100. The house on the adjoining property is two storied, with attic, the first story being of stone. It was built one year after my house was built and cost $4,100, with subsequent improvements of about $1,000. I cannot understand why this should be. Both pieces of property are exactly the same size, have the same number of feet frontage, and are both facing in the same direction.

Description of my property is: Egandale subdivision, section 11, T. 38, R. 14, lot 12, block 10. The other property mentioned is in the same subdivision, section 11, T. 38, R. 14, lot 9, block 10.

TAXPAYER.

After carefully investigating this matter I find that this house is 26x48 on lot 12 and is valued as follows: Land, $5,750; building, $3,800, making the full fair cash value, $9,550.

Lot 9: Land, $5,750; building, $3,500, making the full fair cash value, $9,250. This building is only 22x36, hence should be in as we have it at a lower value than the building on lot 12.

As you will note the land in both cases is in at the same value and the difference of $300 is in the buildings, the one on lot 12 being four feet wider and about ten feet longer.

DENIES ALLEGED CONDITION OF STREET.

Chicago, April 19.—[To the Friend of the People.]—As your column seems to be regarded a sort of clearing house for complaints about public affairs, I would like to inquire as to what excuse the bureau of streets has to offer for the deplorable condition of Wilson avenue, from West Ravenswood park to North Robey street. This north shore artery of traffic for two blocks at this point is macadamized, but there are always a few inches of loose sand and lime, which form in great clouds from passing autos.

S. J. NORDORF, 1910 Wilson avenue.

The superintendent of the Twenty-sixth ward reports as follows:

"This street was repaired with 387 cubic yards of crushed limestone, well rolled, on July 14 to 20, 1911, and on Aug. 4, 1911, 2,025 gallons of road oil was put on the 4,400 square yards of street, which was sufficient to lay all dust made by the wear on the street. I drive by or over this street almost daily and have never seen since the street was oiled any dust blowing around as complained of. The street will be cleaned as soon as weather permits and will be oiled as soon as oil arrives, which will be in about ten days. There is and was no lime on street, as complained of. The only dirt on the street was from the wear of the repaired pavement."

F. W. SOLON,
Acting Superintendent of Streets.

VIOLATIONS OF ROLLER TOWEL LAW.

Chicago, April 17.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Respecting the complaint of Mr. Frank Smith, 644 Postal Telegraph building, published under date of April 17, in regard to roller towels, it seems desirable to say that during 1911 two inspectors worked on this investigation for a considerable period making inspections of 788 of the locations in which violations were most likely to occur, including restaurants, hotels, office buildings, saloons, department stores, etc. Violations were found in 329 cases, which serve as the subjects of notices to abolish the use of roller towels. This has been done in all but a very small number of instances, some of which have been forwarded to the prosecuting attorney with a recommendation for suit proceedings.

If the complainant or any other citizen will advise us of a violation in a given case we shall be very glad to take up the matter, but the department is unable, for lack of force, to much such a canvass as would be desirable in the matter.

SHOULD TRANSFER AT TWENTY-SIXTH STREET.

Chicago, April 20.—[To the Friend of the People.]—It has been my custom in going downtown on the Cottage Grove car line to get off at Eighteenth street and Wabash avenue and walk over to State street, there boarding a through route No. 7 car for the West Side. Hitherto transfers from the Cottage Grove line have been accepted without question, as there is no car on Eighteenth street between Wabash and State. This morning Conductor No. 1,338, on car No. 157, refused to honor the transfer. Will you kindly tell me if he was justified in this action?

A. E. WARNER.

A transfer from a Cottage Grove avenue car is not good on a through route No. 7 car, or any other State street car at Eighteenth street, for the reason that the lines do not intersect each other. Would suggest that the passenger on the Cottage Grove avenue car transfer to a Twenty-sixth street car, which would enable him to transfer to State street, in accordance with the transfer regulations of the traction ordinance.

MONUMENT TO ANGLO-SAXON IDEALS.

Chicago, April 19.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Why should not a Chicago paper be the pioneer in starting a fund for a monument to the heroes who gave their lives that the women and children might live? Such a monument might be placed in Washington. It should prove an impressive object lesson in the task of instilling Anglo-Saxon ideals into the many people of many nationalities who reach our shores and who in many cases view things, particularly the relation of man to woman, from such an entirely different point of view from ours. The idea, for instance, that a man who is building a great transcontinental railroad will give his life that some poor emigrant woman may be saved is consistent with our civilization. But do many of the people whom we are annually forced to assimilate understand this point of view?

Why not a monument to our heroes? If you think favorably of this suggestion and start the movement, the writer will contribute $5, but must request for various reasons that his name be not used in any way.

INDIANA NEEDS LIVE NEWSPAPERS.

Lafayette, Ind., April 21.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—I wish we had more newspapers like THE TRIBUNE. It is the only paper we can rely on for truth and fairness. I have read it for years and I know what I am talking about. It is the only paper which does not suppress the Roosevelt sentiment. I wish we had a few papers here in Indiana like THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE. If we had it would have been a different story at the primaries. There are just as many people here in Indiana for Roosevelt as there are in Illinois, but they had no chance to express themselves. For example, look at old Tippecanoe county. The Taft followers couldn't carry their own precincts. Tippecanoe went solid for Roosevelt. The press here in Indiana has suppressed the Roosevelt sentiment to a paper. Those that did say anything for him said it in a lukewarm manner.

I have always been a great admirer of Roosevelt. A WOMAN READER.

SHORTENED PROCEDURE FOR THE COURTS.

Mound City, Ill., April 19.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—THE TRIBUNE is the "W. G. N." No doubt about it. You can do big things. Would it not be a service to the nation on your part if you could get together all the County, Circuit, Appellate, and state Supreme court judges of the United states in some sort of a convention, and have them agree upon a shortened course of procedure in our courts, which would forever remove the stigma of delays, reversals on trifling technicalities, etc., somewhat along the lines of the current issue article of the Saturday Evening Post?

You are big enough to do it. I don't know of any one else—unless it be Roosevelt.

WOMEN AND THE "YOKE."

Chicago, April 19.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Noticing letter dated April 15 to THE TRIBUNE, signed "Mrs. C. S.," leads me to believe that if a woman really wrote it, she has not gone into the matter of woman suffrage sufficiently to justify her remark. "The men are not yet ready to put the political yoke upon us."

When the "yoke of slavery" was lifted through our civil war there were many freed who felt better off under their masters' care; yet time proved the remarkable good caused by this freedom. When our brothers unite to remove the political slavery we are now under, the world's progress will be increased. "A democracy is a form of government where the final power rests in the people." Are not women people? Perhaps some object to being classed as such.

OULD TRANSFER AT TWENTY-SIXTH STREET.

Chicago, April 20.—[To the Friend of People.]—It has been my custom in g downtown on the Cottage Grove line to get off at Eighteenth street and abash avenue and walk over to State et, there boarding a through route 7 car for the West Side. Hitherto nsfers from the Cottage Grove line re been accepted without question, as re is no car on Eighteenth street be-een Wabash and State. This morning nductor No. 1,338, on car No. 157, re-ed to honor the transfer. Will you dly tell me if he was justified in this ion?
A. E. WEBSTER.

transfer from a Cottage Grove avenue car is good on a through route No. 7 car, or any er State street car at Eighteenth street, for reason that the lines do not intercept each er. Would suggest that the passenger on the tage Grove avenue car transfer to a Twenty-th street car, which would enable him to trans-to State street, in accordance with the trans-regulations of the traction ordinances.

PLAN FUTURE OF U.S. TRADE BOARD

Delegates in Washington Start Organization of National Body.

TAFT IN BRIEF SPEECH.

Declares Assistance Is Needed and Asked; Nagel Calls Movement Real Necessity.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., April 22.—[Special.]—Seven hundred delegates representing boards of trade, chambers of commerce, municipalities, etc., from all parts of the United States gathered in Washington today to discuss the formation of a national board of trade or commerce.

Harry A. Wheeler, ex-president of the Chicago chamber of commerce, was designated as temporary chairman and delivered an address outlining his views and those of the president on the subject of organization of a national body.

After President Taft had been introduced Secretary Nagel, who called the conference, spoke briefly. He outlined the organization which in his opinion and that of President Taft was needed to meet present industrial and commercial conditions.

Begins Organization Work.

The conference then began the work of appointing committees looking to a permanent organization, President Taft and Secretary Nagel both suggesting that such an organization be formed before a consideration of discussion of "problems" began.

"We want your assistance in carrying on the government in reference to those matters that affect the business and the business welfare of the country, and we do not wish to limit your discretion in that matter," said President Taft in the course of his brief speech. "We wish that your advice should be as free and unrestrained as possible, but we need your assistance and we ask for it."

President Taft said that he was gratified at the response to the call for the conference issued by Secretary Nagel.

National Board Necessary.

Secretary Nagel in the course of his address said the relations between government and business had undergone a tremendous change, and an organization such as the one contemplated seemed necessary.

"Besides developing and extending commerce and manufacture, such an association would do much to promote harmonious relations between capital and labor," said Mr. Wheeler, in discussing the possibilities of the commercial congress.

"Labor has its American federation, but it is no authoritative representative of the manufacturers. Comprehensive and accurate information on labor questions for the guidance of legislators would thus be available from both sides. Not only this, but a recognized authority of national scope would undoubtedly do much to settle any disputes or differences which might arise between capital and labor."

View of E. U. Kimbark.

That the tariff and other matters of national commercial importance will no longer be political issues, but will be regulated for the best good of the country at large, if the commercial congress becomes a permanent organization, was the opinion of E. U. Kimbark, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce, who is in Washington to attend the conference.

"Congress will be left free to improve the government of the United States and to spend its time on questions fundamentally political," asserts Mr. Kimbark. "The proposed association would relieve congress of the responsibility of deciding commercial questions that cannot be equitably settled without consideration by the interests concerned."

Insurance Men Meet Today.

Casualty insurance and workmen's compensation reserves will be the principal questions of discussion at meetings of the executive committees of the International Association of Casualty and Surety Underwriters and of the National Insurance Commissioners' association, at the Hotel La Salle this morning.

TELLS CLARA BARTON'S WOE

Letter Reveals Chagrin of Founder of American Red Cross.

STUNG DEEPLY BY INQUIRY.

Heart Broken by Seeming Ingratitude for Her Humane Work.

Los Angeles, Cal., April 22.—[Special.]—A secret chapter in the life story of Clara Barton, founder of the American Red Cross was revealed here today. That her story and suffering might be known after she was deadand not before—Miss Barton confided her feeling to Prof. Charles Sumner Young in letters which were not to be shown while she was alive.

Prof. Young was formerly connected with the government education board, but is now in the oil business here. He had known Miss Barton twenty-five years. From Glen Echo, Md., Jan. 18, 1904, she wrote:

"You will never know how many times I have thought of you in this last, hard, dreadful year. I cannot tell you. I must not, and yet I must. So much of the time, under all the persecution, it has seemed I could not remain in this country, and have sought the range of the world for some place among strangers, and out of the way of people and mails, and longed for some one to point out a quiet place in some other land.

Wanted to Exile Herself.

"To think of sitting here through an 'investigation' by the country I have tried to serve, 'in the interest of harmony,' they say, when I have never spoken a discordant word in my life, meaningly, but have worked on in silence under the fire of the entire press of the United States for twelve months, and am still to be 'investigated' for 'inharmony' and 'unbusinesslike methods.'

"Can you wonder that I ask a bridle track and that some other country might look inviting to me?

"Kindly remember that these words are the wail of an aching heart and that is all.

Insulted by the Government.

"The government which I thought I loved and loyally tried to serve has shut every door in my face and stared at me insultingly through its windows. What wonder I want to leave!

"The locks have never turned, the doors are rusted in their hinges. The old warders go out and the new ones come in, sworn faithfully to the charge, with no knowledge of why they are charged to do it; ignorant of every fact, simply enemies by transmission; and yet I stay represented as of 'doubtful integrity,' 'weak,' 'decrepit,' 'imbecile,' but yet, very dangerous."

She then draws a picture of a sultan of Turkey who was made a prisoner.

"He was locked in and I locked out, but my whole country seemed my prison, and I struggled to free myself of it. Pardon me, I never thought to recall the disagreeable subject again; but, like the boy's whistle, it blew itself.'"

AID FOR CHICAGO HARBOR URGED BY REPORT OF BIXBY.

Chief of Government Engineers Recommends Federal Assistance in Carrying Out Plans of the City.

Washington, D. C., April 22.—[Special.]—The United States government will assist the city of Chicago to create a commercial harbor. Gen. Bixby, chief of engineers, transmitted to Senator Cullom today a report made by Col. William T. Rossell, president of the board of rivers and harbors, approving the plan proposed by Major Thomas H. Rees, district engineer at Chicago.

The report is careful to specify that the work on the breakwater shall not commence until the city has begun to construct the piers called for in the city plan. The reason for this recommendation is that certain obstacles are said to be in the way of the city's building the piers, which may prove fatal to the project.

Senator Cullom is arranging to have the necessary appropriation granted, beginning with $350,000.

SENATE VOTES TO APPEAL TOBACCO REORGANIZATION.

Action Breaks All Records in Congress—House Expected to Concur—Independents See Victory.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., April 22.—[Special.]—The senate today passed the Cummins bill directing the attorney general to appeal from the decree of Circuit court reorganizing the tobacco trust.

This extraordinary action was taken in spite of the opposition of President Taft and Attorney General Wickersham. The bill was passed unanimously and is expected to go promptly through the house of representatives.

As a result, the Supreme court itself will have to determine whether the reorganization of the tobacco trust made by the Circuit court is in accordance with the terms of its decision declaring the trust illegal.

Rarely before in the history of the country has the senate disapproved a court decision and never, so far as is known, has it passed a bill directing the department of justice to appeal to the highest tribunal.

The action is of political significance, because President Taft in a message to congress approved of the tobacco trust reorganization and Attorney General Wickersham refused to make an appeal in spite of demands made upon him by independent tobacco manufacturers.

So certain are the friends of the measure that it will receive the approval of the house that all speculation is centering tonight upon the probable action of the president. It is predicted he will record another veto.

Girl Dies from Scalds.

Anna Mieswa, 3 years old, 4849 South Laflin street, died yesterday of scalds suffered last Saturday when she accidentally fell into a pan of hot water.

Homely, Yet Admired and Envied; Her Secret

The convention crowd in the lobby made a path for her, cast admiring side glances, then with longing eyes followed her to the elevator. It was at the Ponchartrain in Detroit. The incident was recalled when I chanced to sit across table from the woman. What was it about her that caused all that commotion? She wasn't handsome; she was lacking in form and feature. Yet she did seem marvelously fascinating. Her complexion must be the secret. Really I've never beheld its equal. Venturing to pick up acquaintanceship, I learned the reason.

"I know I'm not built for beauty," she confided, "but I've tried to make the most of my one charm. I've learned that men abhor make-ups and artificiality. I bar cosmetics; there are just two things I ever use and they promote natural loveliness and youthful appearance.

"When my complexion begins to age, I get an ounce of mercolized wax at the drug store, apply at night like cold cream and wash it off in the morning. This gradually flakes off the outerskin; then I have a brand new complexion, magnetically beautiful, as you see.

"Wrinkles never bother me. At their inception I bathe my face in a solution made by dissolving an ounce of powdered saxolite in a half-pint of witch hazel. It works like magic."—Mona Morrow in Town Tattler.—Advt.

Little Women

Their work, their play, their dresses, their "own" rooms with ideas for "Little Men" and suggestions for mothers about them both. 1500 ideas for 15c

"Little Women" on the stage

A SYMPATHETIC story about a great play made from one of the most popular books in the world. Is there a woman who has not read "Little Women," who does not know Meg, Jo, Beth and Amy as she knew her school girl friends? Every woman, most men and all children will be tremendously interested in the play made from "Little Women" with the permission of Louisa M. Alcott's heir, the "Daisy" of "Little Men." Even the salesgirls in the shops knew the book and helped in the hunt for just the right material for Meg's dress. No modern "best seller" can hope to equal the sales of this childhood classic, and now that it has been dramatized, thousands will renew their acquaintance with the March family.

Reliable Methods of Beauty Culture

TO MAKE THE HAIR FLUFFY—The reason most women's hair falls to retain its fluffy softness after shampooing is due to the scalp not being thoroughly cleansed. Soap, eggs and ordinary shampoo mixtures will not remove all dirt. The woman who wants a perfect shampoo should try a teaspoonful of canthrox dissolved in a cup of hot water, followed by proper rinsing. This shampoo causes the hair to dry very quickly, without streaking, and leaves the hair very bright, soft and easy to arrange.

FINE BEAUTY LOTION—No modern discovery has proven such a boon to woman's good looks as a lotion made by dissolving 4 ounces of spurmax in ½ pint of witch hazel (or hot water), then adding 2 teaspoonfuls of glycerine. This is very fine for improving a shiny, oily, sallow skin. It makes one's complexion charmingly beautiful, and gives to it that much admired smooth, velvety appearance without the powdered look. As a skin whitener it is unequaled, and is superior to any face powder, because it stays on much better.

TO MAKE HAIRS VANISH—Make a paste with a little delatone & water, then spread on hairy surface. After two or three minutes rub off, wash the skin and the hairs are gone, while the skin is left smooth and firm. This is a quick, painless method, and rarely fails to bring results.—Advt.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE IN "THE TRIBUNE"

NEBRASKA WHEAT OUTLOOK POOR

Experts Find Western States Have Suffered Heavy Injury; Big Loss Feared.

MART SHOWS STRENGTH.

New Buying on Bad Crop Reports and Better Cash Demand Offset Selling.

Damage reports from Nebraska and Kansas, with bullish estimates of the total winter wheat crop stimulated enough new buying in wheat yesterday to offset the profit taking and give the market a steady tone. May was a little easier, but the big trade was in the July and September. Closing prices were ⅝c off for May, ½@⅝c up for July, and a shade higher for the September. Following the sensational reports on the crop east of the Mississippi the bad news from Nebraska was regarded as particularly significant.

B. W. Snow, the local expert, estimates the winter wheat crop at the outside at 350,000,000 bu, with possibility of further damage in Nebraska and Kansas. Reports from the northwest were not reassuring, as a large percentage of the spring wheat remains to be seeded. Previous reports have indicated a smaller acreage of wheat even under favorable conditions, in the northwest than a year ago.

Reaction Fails to Materialize.

Local traders figured that wheat should have a reaction and sold on this theory, but were forced to buy back the wheat sold out. Trade was nervous throughout the day, with quick fluctuations over a comparatively narrow range. Selling at the start was influenced by the weaker cables from Liverpool, which closed ¼@⅝d off. World's shipments were heavier than expected at 13,824,000 bu, and Paris was 1⅛@2½c off. Antwerp was 1¼c higher; Berlin, ⅞c higher; and Budapest advanced 2½c.

The visible supply statement showed a decrease of 1,800,000 bu. This, compared with a decrease a year ago of 1,675,000 bu. Local stocks decreased 95,000 bu for the week. Receipts were 11 cars, with 21 cars inspected yesterday. Receipts in the west were 424,000 bu, against 516,000 bu a year ago. Northwest receipts were 194 cars; last year, 309 cars. Clearances, 377,000 bu wheat and flour.

Big Cash Sales Reported.

The excellent cash demand was a strong feature of the situation. Local sales were 350,000 bu, mostly No. 2 red to outside mills. Minneapolis reported a good demand and there were fair sales of flour reported. Prices for special brands of spring wheat were advanced about 20c. Country offerings of wheat were light. The Canadian visible increased 1,296,000 bu for the week, and receipts at Winnipeg were 568 cars, against 98 cars a year ago.

Bartlett-Frazier, Clement-Curtis, Hulburd-Warren-Chandler, Fitch, Rankin, and Skillen were active on the buying side. Logan-Bryan and Armour led the selling. Local longs sold freely, but were apparently anxious to get back their wheat on any small reaction.

Corn Easier at the Finish.

Corn was firm for a time, but later there was considerable selling pressure, and prices eased off, closing ⅛@¼c@¾c lower for the day. Receipts were small, but there was little urgency in the cash demand. Sample market prices were steady to ½c higher, and shipping sales were 50,000 bu. Receipts were 40 cars, with 73 cars inspected yesterday. Receipts in the west were 602,000 bu, compared to 689,000 bu a year ago.

Weather conditions were unfavorable for spring work. Reports from the country indicate small supplies of merchantable corn back both on the farms and in country elevators. Cables were ¼@1d lower. World's shipments were 5,468,000 bu, against 1,841,000 bu a year ago. The visible supply decreased 1,853,000 bu, against a loss of 962,000 bu a year ago. Bartlett-Frazier were good buyers of the July. Barrell, Armour, Shearson-Hammill, and locals were sellers.

Moderate Trade in Oats.

Oats were not especially active and the tone most of the day was steady. Bartlett-Frazier led the buying. Armour and commission houses sold. Final prices were ½c off to ⅛c up. Receipts here were 137 cars with 134 cars the estimate for today. Western arrivals were 630,000 bu, against 625,000 bu a year ago. Canadian visible increased 160,000 bu. The domestic visible showed a decrease of 890,000 bu, compared to a loss last year of 952,000 bu. Cash sales were 90,000 bu at steady prices.

Provisions Close Higher.

Hog products prices suffered a sharp setback early, and the tone of the market was weak for the first hour or so. Later there was heavy buying of lard by Logan-Bryan and Clement-Curtis. This rallied prices and at the close the market was strong and higher throughout the list. The early selling was due to larger receipts than expected, 83,000 bu, against 45,000 bu estimated. Western receipts were 109,900 bu, against 94,200 bu a year ago. Liverpool quotations were 6d higher for hams and cumberland sides, and 6d off for backs. Receipts of product here were 32 cars; shipments were 105 cars.

Bye Active and Steady.

Rye met with a good inquiry at steady prices. No. 2 sold at 96@96½c; No. 3, 94@94½c; No. 4 closed at 80@88c nominal. Receipts were estimated at 4 cars.

Barley held on a firm basis, with malting $1.10 @1.38; mixing, 90c@$1.05; feed, 70@85c; screenings, 50@70c. Receipts, 20 cars.

Duluth flax closed ⅛c higher to ½c lower. Cash on track and May closed at $2.18½, and July at $2.15. Receipts, 6 cars. Minneapolis flax was ½c higher, with cash on track $2.13½@2.16½. Receipts, 56 cars.

NEWS AND GOSSIP OF BOARD OF TRADE.

B. W. Snow, just back from a trip over the winter wheat belt, says the crop loss from Ohio to Missouri, both in abandoned acreage and low condition of that remaining, is without parallel in modern times. The only uncertainty in the winter wheat situation is how much the loss will be in Kansas and Nebraska. In these states there are important districts where the winter killed acreage is heavy and other sections where the promise is excellent. It seems probable that there will be a million and a half acres abandoned in the two states and that the May 1 condition upon the remaining acreage will be below the average. The rains on Saturday will improve the outlook for the late seeding that was suffering from a dry soil crust. It is too early yet for any intelligent estimates, but the general situation does not encourage an expectation of over 350,000,000 bu winter wheat.

World's shipments of wheat last week totaled 13,842,000 bu, showing an increase of 2,752,000 bu. Corn shipments aggregated 3,453,000 bu, an increase of 1,337,000 bu. Detail shipments follow:

Mills continue to buy wheat here freely, and the holders are inclined to demand higher prices. No. 2 red sold at $1.15, and there were total sales here of 350,000 bu, most of which was No. 2 red winter. The country has stopped selling wheat, and millers are being forced to come to distributing markets for their wheat. The visible supply figures show that stocks in the east at practically all points are extremely light. The great bulk of the wheat in the visible supply is now at Chicago, Duluth, and Minneapolis. Minneapolis stocks decreased 460,000 bu for two days, and another big decrease is promised the coming week. Southwestern cash wheat markets were firm.

Canadian visible supply of wheat this week increased 1,296,000 bu; oats increased 160,000 bu; barley decreased 45,000 bu. Comparative totals follow:

At a meeting of the transportation committee of the board of trade with receivers, railroad men, and people in the trade interested in transportation problems generally yesterday afternoon a scale of charges for railroad elevation, cleaning, etc., was agreed upon. This scale will be submitted to the interstate commerce commission at Washington.

Cash corn here was steady to ½c higher and oats were unchanged. The shipping demand for both was moderate. Sales were 50,000 bu corn and 90,000 bu oats. Country offerings were reported fair in a few instances, but as a general thing country acceptances were small. Kansas City reported corn ½@¾c lower, with larger receipts.

Bids on the call for wheat to arrive were ⅜c lower to 1c higher; corn, ⅛c lower to ⅛c higher; oats, ¼@⅜c lower; rye, unchanged to 1c higher.

Estimated receipts for today: Wheat, 21 cars; corn, 73 cars; oats, 134 cars; rye, 4 cars; barley, 50 cars; hogs, 15,000 head.

POTATOES TURN UP THE HILL; PRICES RISE 3 TO 5 CENTS.

Cool Weather and Moderate Receipts Cause Advance—Cheaper Eggs Decline—Butter Steady—Poultry Weak.

Cool weather and moderate receipts, following the cleaning up of stale stock which had accumulated on track, gave the market for potatoes at Chicago a buoyant undertone and prices yesterday were advanced 3@ 5c a bu. Principal gains were made by the cheaper grades, which sold at $1.23@1.25, as contrasted with $1.18@1.20 Saturday. Best rurals sold at $1.28. Receipts were 60 cars.

Cheaper lots of eggs were in excessive supply and ½@1c lower, while high grading stock held fully steady. Butter values were unchanged. No session of the board will be held today, suspension for the day being out of respect for T. R. Purcell, who died Sunday.

Live poultry market was weak and dull, with roosters and fowls pressing on sale at a decline of 1c a pound. Iced poultry values declined in sympaty with the former.

Strawberry receipts were delayed in transit and did not reach the market until late in the afternoon. The bulk had to be carried over unsold.

Refuses to Drop Alaska Fraud Case.

Federal Judge K. M. Landis yesterday overruled a motion to quash an indictment charging Pierre G. Peach with conspiracy in regard to alleged coal land frauds in Alaska.

LOW RATE LOAN ON SITE IN LOOP

$90,000 at 4 Per Cent Secured on Property at 168-172 Randolph Street.

L. W. NOYES BUYS HOUSE.

Purchases the Residence in Dearborn Near North Park Avenue.

A loan of notable interest for the reason that the interest rate is 4 per cent, or ½ per cent below the recognized market rate, has been closed by Edgar M. Snow & Co. It is for $90,000 and runs for seven years and is secured by the premises 168-172 West Randolph street, on the north side of the street, between La Salle street and Fifth avenue.

The lot fronts 40 feet with a depth of 180 feet, and is improved with a five story and basement stone front brick building.

Record has been made of a lease by Berrys, incorporated, candy dealers, to William H. Transki and David S. Komiss of the five story and basement building at 118 South State street, on the west side of the street, between Monroe and Adams streets, for a term of five years from May 1 next, at a terms rent of $182,500, or $36,500 a year.

The building occupies a lot fronting 25 feet with a depth of 120 feet and the lessees are dealers in ladies' suits and cloaks, operating the Imperial store on State street and one in South Halsted.

Residence Property Sold.

La Verne W. Noyes has purchased from Charles Dickinson the residence property in Dearborn avenue, 205 feet south of North Park avenue boulevard, with lot 50x132 feet, west front, for $18,500, subject to an incumbrance of $15,000.

The estate of Mary Morris Walker has sold to Charles H. Kusel the property at the northeast corner of Drexel boulevard and Hyde Park boulevard, 101 feet on the former and 220 feet on the latter, for $30,000.

Mr. Kusel gave back a trust deed to the Northern Trust company as trustee for the estate of Mrs. Walker to secure a loan of $22,500, running three years at 5 per cent.

Deal on Michigan Avenue.

The property at 3206 Michigan avenue has been sold by Morton of New York City to Mrs. Carl Weil for $25,000 cash. The lot fronts 44 feet with a depth of 180 feet and is improved with a three story brick residence. It was at one time the home of Sidney Mandel. The Wells will occupy it as their residence. Madden Bros. represented both parties to the transaction.

Sol Mendelson has sold to Orville P. Curran Jr. the property at the northeast corner of Sixty-first and Morgan streets, improved with a two story store and flat building. The consideration is nominal, but the actual price is said to have been $18,000, subject to incumbrance of $7,500.

In part payment Mr. Curran conveyed 339 feet of vacant on Belmont avenue, at the southwest corner of Washtenaw avenue, valued at $17,000, subject to incumbrance of $6,100. Regelin, Jenson & Co. represented both parties to the transaction.

Gives House to Daughter.

Henry H. Helton has conveyed to his daughter, Mrs. Jacquette H. Eaton, and husband, Marquis, the residence property on Woodlawn avenue, 206 feet north of Fifty-seventh street, lot 40x178 feet, east front. The consideration in the deed is $1, the transfer being subject to an incumbrance of $7,000.

Edward C. Maher has acquired by master's deed from Robert Bartlett and others the property at the northwest corner of West Twelfth and Mozart streets, 80x125 feet, for $28,000.

The property in Sheridan road, 240 feet north of Hollywood avenue, 60x150 feet, east front, has been sold by John A. McDowell to Daniel H. Cunningham for $20,000.

Ward to Talk to Realty Men.

Spencer Ward, Democratic candidate for chief justice of the Municipal court, will be the speaker at today's weekly luncheon of the Cook county real estate board.

BUSINESS, COMMERCIAL AND FINANCIAL SECTION

UNION CARBIDE TO CUT STOCK MELON

Directors Announce Issuance of 10 Per Cent New Shares at Par to Stockholders.

SALE BRINGS $1,089,780.

Company Reported to Be Seeking Additional Properties; J. J. Townsend Renominated.

Directors of the Union Carbide company announced yesterday the issuance of 10 per cent of new stock at par to stockholders of record on May 6. The 10 per cent issue will amount to 10,897.8 shares. This makes the present outstanding capital $10,897,800. The company's stock sold off yesterday on an opening at 141⅞ to 140 on announcement of the stock issue. The rights at 140 a share figure out about $13.00 The matter, however, has been discounted by the market. Surmises of some kind of a "melon" have been made since the stock sold around 112 several months ago.

The sale of 10.897 shares will bring into the treasury $1,089,780. Inasmuch as the company has at present an estimated surplus of $6,000.000, it is evident the capital increase is intended to be used in connection with the purchase of additional properties, if such purchases have not already been made.

Earnings Near 18 Per Cent.

So far as can be learned earnings of the Carbide company have for several years approximated 18 per cent. The company is paying at present 8 per cent and this accounts for the high price of the stock. A concern that pays out less than half its earnings comes in the class of conservatively managed corporations, and with such companies there is always something to be distributed, because it is in the treasury. This again adds to the sentimental value of the shares.

The new stock is to be paid for on or before May 31, 1912.

Townsend Gets Renomination.

James J. Townsend was renominated yesterday by the nominating committee of the Chicago stock exchange as candidate for president for the coming year. Mr. Townsend consented to the nomination after rather complimentary influence had been brought to bear. The nominating committee also named again Edwin G. Foreman, president of Foreman Brothers' Banking company, to succeed himself as treasurer of the exchange.

The committee also named the following to serve as members of the governing committee of the stock exchange for three years; F. C. Aldrich, William Coffeen, F. D. Counselman, Henry D. Sturtevant, Frank W. Thomas, B. Wollenberger. John E. May, was nominated to fill out an unexpired term for one year. For the one year nominating committee the following were named: Alfred L. Baker, Windsor F. Aldrich, Orville E. Babcock, Morton D. Cahn, Ira J. Couch.

There is no possibility of an independent ticket and the foregoing will be chosen at the annual election to be held June 3.

The newly chosen governing committee will elect the secretary and chairman of the stock exchange and the vice chairman. C. T. Atkinson, the present chairman of the stock exchange will be reelected.

General Electric's Year.

The General Electric company's earnings in the year ended Dec. 31, 1911 amounted to $16,562,805, after all charges. This is equal to 13.66 per cent on the $77,535,200 stock outstanding. It compares with 16.33 per cent earned on $65,179,600 stock in 1910, 9.86 per cent in 1909, 7.37 per cent in 1908, and 13.32 per cent in 1907.

The year showed a slight decrease in gross business, but something of a decrease in the operating costs, and a considerable diminution in debenture interest charges, due to retirement of part of the issue. The number of individual sales was larger than in 1910, 888,520, comparing with 338,272. The report shows $15 200,000 in unfilled orders, against $15,500.000 the year before.

The surplus as of Dec. 31 stands at over $29,000,000. From the year's earnings there was added $4,756,402 to the old surplus, and in the summer there was a further addition of $1,240,725 following the taking over of the Fort Wayne and Sprague plants.

Comparison of Income Account.

The income account compares with 1910 as follows:

	1911.	1910.
Sales billed	$70,283,854	$71,478,357
Cost of sales	62,460,557	63,134.601

Connecting Railways Bonds Listed.

The $2,800,000 5 per cent sinking fund bonds of the Chicago City and connecting railways, which J. P. Morgan & Co. were unable to float and had taken back on the underwriters, have been listed on the New York stock exchange. Following is a list of the securities, par value, which are up as collateral for the bonds:

STOCKS.

	Par value.
Chicago City railway	$16,971,900
Calumet and South Chicago	10,000,000
Southern Street railway	2,363,000
Hammond, Whiting and East Chicago	1,000,000
Chicago and Western railway	72,000

BONDS.

Hammond, Whiting and East Chicago	$ 1,000,000
Southern Street railway	87,000
Chicago and Western railway	74,000
Total	$31,517,000

The indenture provides for sinking fund payment of $105,000 annually to begin March 1, 1915.

On the "Junk" List.

The local stock exchange appears to have gone to an unnecessary expense in issuing a separate pink colored sheet on which are reported prices of the stocks and bonds recently placed in the "unlisted department." If the chairman of the stock list committee insists upon placing Pacific Gas and Electric common and the securities of the Public Service company of northern Illinois on the junk list, why not add thereto the McCrum-Howell shares, Street's Stable Car, United Boxboard, and some other issues now on the "regular" list? If the danger signal is to be hoisted, according to the stock list committee, why discriminate?

New "Cotton Belt" President.

F. H. Britton, vice president and general manager, was yesterday elected president and general manager of the St. Louis Southwestern railway company. He succeeded Edwin Gould, who resigned as president and was appointed chairman of the board.

H. E. Farrell, freight traffic manager, was appointed vice president in charge of freight traffic. The board of directors put into effect the authorization of the new unifying mortgage and the increase in capital stock to $75,000,000.

McCrum-Howell Affairs.

B. E. Tilden of Chicago was yesterday added to the stockholders' committee of McCrum-Howell company. Mr. Tilden is understood to be one of the large shareholders.

The receivers, bankers, and stockholders' committees have now been named and the personnel is such as to suggest that if there is anything remaining of the McCrum-Howell assets they will be well conserved. The receivers and members of the banking committee have a national reputation in their respective fields.

The report of the auditors and engineers will be ready some time in the future. L. G. McCrum, who is held responsible for wrecking the company, will be eliminated from any direction in its affairs. A general manager is to be appointed with a view of eventually making him president o fthe reorganized concern.

Irving Park National Bank.

The controller of the currency yesterday granted a charter for the Irving Park National bank. The newinstitutio n will open next Thursday morning at Elston avenue and Irving Park boulevard. John Waddams has been elected president and Ralph N. Ballou vice president. B. B. Castle will be cashier. The bank will have a paid up capital of $100,000 and a paid in surplus of $10,000.

In the Outside Market.

In the unlisted securities market Northwestern Gaslight and Coke company has had a rapid advance, having sold at 190, which represents a rise of about 90 points in the last month. Assets Realisation has been in good demand, advancing from 115 to 122 bid. American Hominy common sold at 41 and the preferred at 91. The Case Threshing Machine preferred advanced from 102 to sales at 105, with a slight reaction to 104. Diamond Rubber has been firm, advancing about one point since the stock sold ex-dividend. Knickerbocker Ice preferred sold at 64¼.

National Grocer preferred has been strong, advancing to 89 bid, while the common sold off slightly. Du Pont Powder common advanced to 172 bid. Automatic Electric 6s sold off two points to 82¼. United States Motors common sold at 9⅜ and the preferred at 27¼.

Financial News Notes.

Application has been made to the New York stock exchange to list $15,614,000 5 per cent debentures of the Illinois Steel company and £708 200 sterling additional first mortgage 5 per cent bonds, due 1927, of the Bolivia Railway company.

The output of gold in Rhodesia, South Africa, for the month of March was 51,072 fine ounces, valued at £215.102.

The annual meeting of the United Boxboard company will be held in Jersey City on May 16. Proxies are asked in the names of C. C. Adsit, L. W. Bodman, and M. Plumb Jr.

Chicago Securities.

On the local stock exchange Sears-Roebuck common was the most active, advancing to 164½ from an opening at 163⅝. The buying was credited in part to insiders. On this particular point there appear to be two sides. The New York and Chicago ends have not yet got together on the market movement question.

Pacific Gas and Electric common worked fractionally lower, closing at 66⅝. American Can common was active and irregular. The best price of the day was 35½. The close was 34⅝.

IN FOREIGN STOCK MARKETS.

LONDON, April 22.—Money and discount rates were easy today. The Bank of England bought most of the $3,000,000 new gold offered in the open market.

The stock market was quiet, owing to the nearness of the settlement. Liquidation was the feature of the forenoon and it weakened tin shares and Mexican's sharply. American Marconi sold as low as 2¼, but closed above the worst. Investment stocks hardened and Paris buying improved foreign securities and Kaffirs in the afternoon.

American securities opened steady and advanced on light covering during the first hour. Then New York selling orders were executed and during the rest of the session the market gradually eased off and closed easy.
